State Teachers Open Crucial Meet Monday

Session To Air Non-Payment Of Salary Schedule

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 (UP) — Louisiana's angry teachers Monday night will hear Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar explain the administration's position on new pay raises.

Frazar is expected to plead with the state's 22,000 teachers not to strike for higher wages, even if they feel "abandoned" by the Legislature.

He will speak for Gov. Earl Long at the annual teachers' state convention in New Orleans, which opens informally Sunday night. It closes Wednesday.

Pressure from 12 South Louisiana parishes is heavy for a strike, but teachers in 20 parishes, mostly in north Louisiana, are determined that teachers will not resort to a work stoppage.

A strike resolution will go before the convention Wednesday, but Assistant Supt. C. L. Perry, head of the Caddo parish delegation, predicted the resolution will be blocked.

He said North Louisiana's "no-work stoppage" resolution will carry easily.

Negro teachers, represented by the Louisiana Education Association, will meet on the same days in Shreveport.

Teacher resentment is aimed at the Legislature which last summer approved a new pay scale plan, but failed to appropriate money for the plan. The administration supported a school bill to tax the natural gas industry, but a strong anti-tax minority killed the measure.

Foes of new taxes and administration leaders last month agreed the state has on hand enough money to give teachers $16 million for immediate pay raises. Teachers concurred, but also asked for a new revenue source of about $32 million a year which will be "dedicated, dependable and permanent."

Gov. Long said only a new tax will solve the teacher problem. He said he would "look with favor" on calling a special session if teachers could round up the nec-

Three Negroes Found Guilty Of Murdering Youth

AMITE, La., Nov. 17 (AP)—Three Negroes were found guilty late today of murder in the death of 13-year-old Berkley Hano.

Alfred Faciane, 21, and Johnny McMiller, 42, both of New Orleans were found guilty as charged, making the death penalty mandatory. Elias Cyprian, 37, Franklinton, was found guilty without capital punishment, a verdict carrying a life term. The jury deliberated 62 minutes.

The trio were charged with the murder of the boy during an attempted holdup of his father's store in the Uneedus Community March 26.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal the verdict for Faciane and McMiller.

A fourth man accused of taking part in the holdup, Milton Faciane, was shot and killed by

Communists Threaten To Use Starvation To Fight Hungary's General Strike

VIENNA, Nov. 17 (UP) — Russian troops Saturday rounded up more young Hungarians for deportation to slave labor camps.

The Soviet action spurred enraged Budapest workers to pledge continuation of their paralyzing general strike despite thinly-veiled Communist threats to starve them into submission.

Simultaneously, it was announced that the Communists regime of Soviet-sponsored Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar has agreed to let the International Red Cross control distribution of western relief for the shattered country, including $20 million in U. S. aid.

United Press Staff Correspondent Russell Jones reported from shattered Budapest that spokesmen for more than 100,000 workers there said the deportations now have become a major issue in the rebellion.

"The kidnaping of Hungarian youths and workers' leaders has made the men only more determined in their refusal to work for the Soviets and their puppet Premier Janos Kadar," one spokesman told Jones.

Another spokesman for 48,000 workers at the vast iron and steel plant on Csepel island, just south of Budapest, told Jones that "we will go on striking until all our demands are met."

In addition to an end to the deportations, their demands include the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary and the return of ousted former premier Imre Nagy to replace Kadar.

In pursuing this course the rebellious workers not only took the chance of being deported themselves but also ignored all orders and appeals from Kadar and their own strike leaders to go back to work.

Iowa Cinches Rose Bowl By Downing Ohio State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iowa's long inadequate Hawkeyes, now perhaps the best "big game" club in the nation, cinched their first Rose Bowl trip and a share of their first Big Ten title in 34 years Saturday by defeating Ohio State's bold and bruising Buckeyes 6-0.

It will seem implausible, and perhaps sheer nonsense, to those who support Southwest and Southeastern conference football as tough and tops, but the Hawkeyes accomplished a minor miracle with a 17-yard pass from Kenny Ploen to Jim Gibbons that capped a 63-yard drive with the third period kickoff.

A week before, Iowa was struggling even to salvage its self respect after losing to Michigan and wound up with a 7-0 upset of Minnesota, previously unbeaten. And yesterday, at Iowa City, the Hawkeyes put an end to Ohio State's dream of an unprecedented third consecutive undisputed Big Ten titles — brightened week after week with an all-time conference record of 17 consecutive victories. OSU averaging 308 rushing yards a game, netted just 100 yesterday.

All that remains for Iowa's purchase of tickets to Pasadena is a formal selection by Big Ten schools. And a Michigan victory over Ohio State next week will bolster that "sure thing" even more by making Iowa, ranked seventh to the Buckeye's sixth in last week's Associated Press poll, the undisputed Big Ten champion.

UN Secretary Reaches Accord With Nasser

Occupation Force May Begin Action About Wednesday

LONDON, Nov. 17 (UP)—Diplomatic sources in Cairo said Saturday night they believe United Nations chief Dag Hammarskjold has reached a 'satisfactory" agreement with Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser on the operation of the UN police force in Egypt.

The U N secretary-general wound up two days of conferences with Nasser Saturday night.

Neither Hammarskjold nor Nasser made any immediate statement after the talks ended. But foreign diplomats said the situation appeared "hopeful."

Hammarskjold will fly to New York Sunday for talks with leaders of Britain, France and Israel about the actions of the UN emergency force.

While he negotiated with Nasser Saturday, the first Communist troops—44 Yugoslav soldiers—arrived at Abu Suweir airfield to take part in the international peace mission.

A contingent of 90 Norwegians and 60 Danes also were flown in Saturday, bringing to 390 the number of UNEF soldiers in the Suez Canal zone.

Observers here said the continued build-up of the UN force in Egypt was a good indication that the UN-Egypt negotiations had not run into a fatal snag.

Egyptian sources said Hammarskjold discussed administrative details of the UNEF operation with Nasser Saturday. They said the operation necessarily raised complex problems since it was the first time in history that an international force had entered any country to carry out military operations with that country's approval.

Officers of the UN force said the troops would not start military operations until the force is complete and its plans fully mapped out.

A high military source in Egypt said it was hoped that the UN force could go into action Wednesday when its commander, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, of Canada, arrives from New York.

The Egyptian government announced in Cairo that all British and French nationals in the country have been placed under house arrest for their own protection be-

The victim, who was the father of four children, died in the Conway Memorial Hospital one hour and 25 minutes after the accident occurred at 12:50 p.m. 1.7 miles north of Monroe on highway 165.

Injured and hospitalized were John G. Edwards, 34, and his wife, Mrs. Hattie Edwards, 36, of Bastrop, in the St. Francis. Their condition last night was listed as "not serious."

The Edwards auto collided broadside into the Mariche '46 model sedan. Mrs. Edwards is suffering from severe cuts around the mouth, lacerations of the body and a possible fractured ankle. Her husband sustained cuts and bruises and a possible collar bone fracture.

Russia Asks Summit Talks On 'Open Skies' Proposal

Ike Orders Full Study Of Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — President Eisenhower ordered today a careful study of Russia's new disarmament proposals.

The aim is to determine whether they offer any fresh openings for negotiations which could end the East-West arms race and bring the threat of a hydrogen war under the control of a global disarmament program.

The State Department received from Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow the text of a declaration disclosed in the Russian capital early today. It was understood to have been accompanied by a message from Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower asking for its consideration here. Moscow reported that similar messages were sent to the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China.

Bulganin called for a new summit meeting of the Big Four powers plus India, but not including Red China. He offered to discuss Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan which he had previously rejected as being more likely to produce new dangers of conflict than to promote the disarmament agreement.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said that "as soon as the complete text is re-

Stranded Ship Toll Now At 200; Strike Cost Put At $20 Million Per Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (UP) — The $20-million-a-day dock strike tied up nearly 200 ships from Maine to Texas Saturday and federal mediators failed in new efforts to get the vessels moving again.

A mediation session that lasted only a little more than an hour broke up with the strike leader declaring, "we went backwards instead of forward." A spokesman for the shippers said he did not think there could be a settlement by Monday.

A new mediation session was scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday.

The negotiations bogged down again after government officials expressed the hope the two-day-old walkout could be settled without a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Travelers had to carry their luggage off a trans-Atlantic liner in New York and two Caribbean cruises were cancelled after passengers waited aboard ship two nights to sail.

U.S. Maritime Administration officials in Washington were "distributed" by the strike of 60,000 dock workers, which came on top of the world shipping crisis caused by the closing of the Suez Canal and threatened to spread to West Coast and Hawaiian ports.

The New York Board of Trade appealed to President Eisenhower Friday to declare a national emergency and invoke the Taft-

Anti-Communist Revolt Flares In North Indochina

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Nov. 17 (UP)—Communist soldiers joined in a popular revolt against the Reds in Red North Viet Nam, according to reports reaching here Saturday.

The reports were received by the French news agency (AFP) from its resident correspondent in Hanoi, capital of Red Viet Nam. The correspondent quoted Nhan Dan (The People), the official Communist organ in Hanoi. There were "numerous casualties, both in killed and wounded," the reports said.

The popular uprising against the Communist rule of Ho Chi Minh, Red boss of North Viet Nam, was the first in Asia since the wave of anti-Soviet restiveness among the satellites in East Europe.

According to the Nhan Dan story, the victims included not only those who rose up in rebellion but also many Communist soldiers. The North Viet Nam revolt, which the Reds claim is now under control, came on the eve of a visit to that state by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

If Convention Had Been Called:

21 Delegates 'Friendly' To Long Elected By Voters

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Gov. Earl Long gained at least 21 friendly delegates for his badly beaten constitutional convention in addition to the 20 appointees he was allowed.

Final unofficial returns in the Nov. 6 election showed he would have had about 41 delegates, far from a majority in the proposed convention of 121 delegates.

Voters decided on delegates while they balloted nearly six to one against having the 1957 convention.

Four Long leaders were among the eight known Long associates turned down when voters selected the 101 delegates. They were highway Chairman Oscar Guidry, state police Supt. John Nick Brown, Sen. A. O. Rappelet and Rep. Walter Chachere, who helped handle administration efforts in the House.

The public had 327 names from which to select 101 delegates, who ran for the convention the same way the 101 state representatives seek election.

Before the vote, politicians labeled the campaign a popularity contest.

Delegate winners who have been open Long supporters or have associated with him included:

Would Accept Plan For Zone Along Borders

Limits Would Be Restricted Mainly To Satellite States

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Soviet Union called today for a summit conference on disarmament at which it agreed to discuss limited application of President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection proposal.

The Russian proposal specified, however, that planes would be restricted to survey flights only 500 miles from the borders of participating countries. The Soviet Union extends half way around the world, nearly 8,000 miles in length and at its widest part is about 2,500 miles.

The Russians in a government statement, also called for destruction of all H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles in the next two years and an immediate ban on nuclear tests. As if to emphasize the point, a Tass dispatch broadcast by Moscow radio tonight announced the Russians had carried out a new test of a nuclear weapon "at a great altitude."

(The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has made 13 announcements of Soviet nuclear tests but Chairman Lewis Strauss said in September the number was "significantly higher."

(In Washington, the White House said the Soviet government statement would be carefully studied when the full text is received. Initial reaction was that it would hardly win unqualified U. S. approval.

(There was scant enthusiasm or excitement in Paris, where informed sources said it contained little that was new, but plenty of propaganda. The British attitude was described as one of cautious hope, tempered with suspicion of Soviet motives.)

The Soviet statement said Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection of Soviet and U. S. military installations could be considered for application to areas of Europe where both ATO and Warsaw forces are stationed—but only about 500 miles on either side of their common border.

If the Western borders of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary are considered the frontier of the Western aerial inspection would barely penetrate the borders of the Soviet Union itself.

Under the plan proposed by Eisenhower at the Geneva summit meeting in July 1955 all military installations of the United States and Russia would be thrown open to aerial inspection.

The Soviet statement of more than 4,000 words—much of it devoted to charges against the West—was forwarded by Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower, and the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China along with a letter from Prime Minister Bulganin, the Moscow radio said.

While Bulganin's latest letter was being forwarded Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party boss, unleashed a bitter attack on "imperialists and their puppets," and charged "Fascist gangs" tried to destroy socialism in Hungary.

He spoke at a reception for Wladyslaw Gomulka, the "independent" Polish Communist leader. Khrushchev's language was so harsh the ambassadors of NATO

According to a "representative" of the Boutner family, the victim, who lives on Route 1 at Pioneer, was burned in his home when the fire broke out as the result of an exploding butane gas heater.

Boutner lives alone. He was rushed to the Conway and underwent treatment there yesterday.

Russia Asks Summit Talks On 'Open Skies' Proposal

Ike Orders Full Study Of Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — President Eisenhower ordered today a careful study of Russia's new disarmament proposals.

The aim is to determine whether they offer any fresh openings for negotiations which could end the East-West arms race and bring the threat of a hydrogen war under the control of a global disarmament program.

The State Department received from Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow the text of a declaration disclosed in the Russian capital early today. It was understood to have been accompanied by a message from Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower asking for its consideration here. Moscow reported that similar messages were sent to the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China.

Bulganin called for a new summit meeting of the Big Four powers plus India, but not including Red China. He offered to discuss Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan which he had previously rejected as being more likely to produce new dangers of conflict than to promote the disarmament agreement.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said that "as soon as the complete text is re-

Over 35 Per Cent Of United Fund Quota Still Needed

Walter Kellogg, general chairman of the United Givers Fund campaign, yesterday asked the citizens of Ouachita Parish to pause to consider the real meaning of the United Fund campaign. "Behind the publicity and excitement of the campaign are many things which we may overlook," he said.

The agencies which have turned over to the United Fund the responsibility for raising the funds to carry on their valuable community services have entrusted everything to the willingness of the people to support adequately the unique services which each provides, Kellogg said. Rather than calling individually on the

MOVERS FIND HOARD IN LAMP—George DeGroat, left, and Sam Bergsted, employes of a van and storage company at Los Angeles, Calif., display $2,200 in cash and jewels valued at more than $22,000 which they discovered in a floor lamp purchased with other used furniture by their company from Mrs. Emma Maizlishe. Mrs. Maizlishe acquired the lamp when she recently bought the home and furnishings of Mrs. Emma Soverign, who died about a year ago. Now attorneys will have to help decide whether the hoard belongs to Mrs. Soverign's estate, to Mrs. Maizlishe, or to the moving company. (AP Wirephoto)

Stranded Ship Toll Now At 200; Strike Cost Put At $20 Million Per Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (UP) — The $20-million-a-day dock strike tied up nearly 200 ships from Maine to Texas Saturday and federal mediators failed in new efforts to get the vessels moving again.

A mediation session that lasted only a little more than an hour broke up with the strike leader declaring, "we went backwards instead of forward." A spokesman for the shippers said he did not think there could be a settlement by Monday.

A new mediation session was scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday.

The negotiations bogged down again after government officials expressed the hope the two-day-old walkout could be settled without a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Travelers had to carry their luggage off a trans-Atlantic liner in New York and two Caribbean cruises were cancelled after passengers waited aboard ship two nights to sail.

U.S. Maritime Administration officials in Washington were "distributed" by the strike of 60,000 dock workers, which came on top of the world shipping crisis caused by the closing of the Suez Canal and threatened to spread to West Coast and Hawaiian ports.

The New York Board of Trade appealed to President Eisenhower Friday to declare a national emergency and invoke the Taft-

Anti-Communist Revolt Flares In North Indochina

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Nov. 17 (UP)—Communist soldiers joined in a popular revolt against the Reds in Red North Viet Nam, according to reports reaching here Saturday.

The reports were received by the French news agency (AFP) from its resident correspondent in Hanoi, capital of Red Viet Nam. The correspondent quoted Nhan Dan (The People), the official Communist organ in Hanoi. There were "numerous casualties, both in killed and wounded," the reports said.

The popular uprising against the Communist rule of Ho Chi Minh, Red boss of North Viet Nam, was the first in Asia since the wave of anti-Soviet restiveness among the satellites in East Europe.

According to the Nhan Dan story, the victims included not only those who rose up in rebellion but also many Communist soldiers. The North Viet Nam revolt, which the Reds claim is now under control, came on the eve of a visit to that state by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 17 (AP)—Robert Chandler, States Rights leader, said the party voted today to continue operations and would enter candidates in state and local offices.

"In cases where incumbents do not act consistently with constitutional provisions and in the interests of the state of Louisiana, we shall enter candidates against them," he said.

If Convention Had Been Called:

21 Delegates 'Friendly' To Long Elected By Voters

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Gov. Earl Long gained at least 21 friendly delegates for his badly beaten constitutional convention in addition to the 20 appointees he was allowed.

Final unofficial returns in the Nov. 6 election showed he would have had about 41 delegates, far from a majority in the proposed convention of 121 delegates.

Voters decided on delegates while they balloted nearly six to one against having the 1957 convention.

Four Long leaders were among the eight known Long associates turned down when voters selected the 101 delegates. They were highway Chairman Oscar Guidry, state police Supt. John Nick Brown, Sen. A. O. Rappelet and Rep. Walter Chachere, who helped handle administration efforts in the House.

The public had 327 names from which to select 101 delegates, who ran for the convention the same way the 101 state representatives seek election.

Before the vote, politicians labeled the campaign a popularity contest.

Delegate winners who have been open Long supporters or have associated with him included:

Would Accept Plan For Zone Along Borders

Limits Would Be Restricted Mainly To Satellite States

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Soviet Union called today for a summit conference on disarmament at which it agreed to discuss limited application of President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection proposal.

The Russian proposal specified, however, that planes would be restricted to survey flights only 500 miles from the borders of participating countries. The Soviet Union extends half way around the world, nearly 8,000 miles in length and at its widest part is about 2,500 miles.

The Russians in a government statement, also called for destruction of all H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles in the next two years and an immediate ban on nuclear tests. As if to emphasize the point, a Tass dispatch broadcast by Moscow radio tonight announced the Russians had carried out a new test of a nuclear weapon "at a great altitude."

(The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has made 13 announcements of Soviet nuclear tests but Chairman Lewis Strauss said in September the number was "significantly higher."

(In Washington, the White House said the Soviet government statement would be carefully studied when the full text is received. Initial reaction was that it would hardly win unqualified U. S. approval.

(There was scant enthusiasm or excitement in Paris, where informed sources said it contained little that was new, but plenty of propaganda. The British attitude was described as one of cautious hope, tempered with suspicion of Soviet motives.)

The Soviet statement said Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspection of Soviet and U. S. military installations could be considered for application to areas of Europe where both ATO and Warsaw forces are stationed—but only about 500 miles on either side of their common border.

If the Western borders of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary are considered the frontier of the Western aerial inspection would barely penetrate the borders of the Soviet Union itself.

Under the plan proposed by Eisenhower at the Geneva summit meeting in July 1955 all military installations of the United States and Russia would be thrown open to aerial inspection.

The Soviet statement of more than 4,000 words—much of it devoted to charges against the West—was forwarded by Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower, and the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China along with a letter from Prime Minister Bulganin, the Moscow radio said.

While Bulganin's latest letter was being forwarded Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party boss, unleashed a bitter attack on "imperialists and their puppets," and charged "Fascist gangs" tried to destroy socialism in Hungary.

He spoke at a reception for Wladyslaw Gomulka, the "independent" Polish Communist leader. Khrushchev's language was so harsh the ambassadors of NATO

Burke Calls For Powerful Naval Striking Force

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 (AP) — Adm. Arleigh Burke, calling for more men and ships, today cited the Suez crisis as further proof of the "need for military forces that can conduct any type of operation."

Burke, chief of naval operations, told a national Navy League meeting here that "the many and varied possibilities for trouble in today's world remind us that no single force or weapon will suffice for our security."

Burke said the tension in the Middle East was "years in the making" and may take a long time to settle.

He said there are "so many critical sea areas throughout the world . . . . that the Navy is more vital to American security than ever before.

"As commitments increase, the Navy finds itself in real need of more ships, more logististic support, and more public support. It becomes a pressing necessity for the Navy to train more men, put more ships in commissions, to back up our forces at sea with greater reserve strength."

Another speaker, Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, said although he felt there would not be a nuclear war, "we must have adequate capability to deter and if necessary to fight such a war."

Thomas said the reason he thought there would not be a nuclear war is that "no one would profit" by one.

Thomas warned against "an overabundance of nuclear deterrents.

He described nuclear war preparations as "fantastically expensive" in both material and manpower.

Unless kept within bounds, he said, they will "bleed our national economy to weakness, unbalance our defenses and make ourselves impotent to respond to other much more likely kinds of aggression and hostilities."

He said he thought "the greatest likelihood of trouble in this atomic age lies not in nuclear war but in local," such as the trouble in the Middle East.

Headon Collision Kills 7 Persons In California

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—A crushing headon collision of two automobiles on an overpass killed seven men near here today. Five of the victims were Marines.

The impact catapulted one of the cars, occupied by two civilians over a 2½-foot guard rail and down a 20-foot embankment.

The accident occurred on Highway 101, seven miles south of this southern California city.

Highway patrolman Lew Hake reported the Marines' convertible crossed the roadway center line and crashed into the other car. He estimated the convertible was traveling more than 70 miles an hour and the second vehicle about 55.

The convertible, which ground to a stop on the pavement, burst into flames just after the last of the bodies was removed from it.

The Marines, all from Camp Pendleton at Oceanside, Calif., were:

Sgt. Maron J. Hughes, 22, driver, son of Mrs. Beatrice Inez Gordon, Midland, Tex.

Pfc. Billie D. Gray, 20, son of Mrs. Willie Ona Gray, San Bernardino Calif.

Cpl. Donald J. LeBlanc, 21, son of Lewis D. LeBlanc, Roseland, La.

Sgt. Joe S. Delao, 23, son of Mrs. Lucille Delao, Los Angeles.

Pfc. Jackie C. Bowlin, 19, son of Mrs. Elma Bowlin, Kerrville, Tex.

Killed in the other car were Bernie Davis, 24, a Douglas Aircraft employe of Los Angeles, who was driving, and Arthur I. Shankman, 24, Lakewood, Calif. a commercial fisherman.

Understanding On Mental Problem Most Important

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 17 (Special) —Maj. Gen. R. M. Montgomery, honorary state chairman of National Retarded Children's Week in Louisiana, said today that the greatest obstacle to the mentally retarded problem is not the limited abilities of the afflicted, but lack of understanding.

Gen. Montgomery, who is Deputy Commander of the Second Air Force with headquarters at Barksdale Air Force Base, said, "Once we understood the nature of the problem that exists within the Stategic Air Command, we took positive action to set up an aid program."

Since being transferred to Louisiana last July, Gen. Montgomery has worked closely with the Louisiana Association for Retarded Children. He has not only maintained official interest in the SAC program for retarded children, but also has quickened the pace of activity in combating the problem within the Second Air Force.

"Parents of retarded children working through the facilities of the local units, should take full advantage of the services offered by the Louisiana Evaluation Center for Exceptional Children in New Orleans," he said.

He pointed out that "understanding the problem begins with the realization that three per cent of all babies are destined to be mentally retarded in some degree. This percentage holds true in all parts of the world, regardless of race, color or geographical location."

Surveys show that an estimated 75 per cent of our mentally retarded population can find a job and become at least partially self-supported—if expert help and guidance are given early enough in childhood, he said.

"Every child is entitled to be considered eligible for the best treatment that our modern society can give it. As I see it, the individual citizen can contribute most by cooperating first with the local unit, then with the state and national association for mentally retarded children," he added.

Gen. Montgomery cited the importance of local retarded children's group, including Ouachita parish among them. The Ouachita group is a member of the United Givers Fund and is deriving its financial support from the campaign now being held in the parish.

HEZZIE SCHONFARBER

Schonfarber To Head Northeast Leadership Frat

Hezzie Schonfarber, Northeast State senior agriculture major from Lake Providence, has been elected to head Gold Key, leadership fraternity. He will fill the unexpired term of Alton Braddock, of Grayson, who is a candidate for graduation at the close of the first semester.

Decision of Gold Key to petition membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity for men, caused Braddock's decision to give up the presidency so there will be no change in the top office during the petitioning period. "For the good of the organization," he explained, "I consider this the best move."

Elected to fill the vice presidency, formerly held by Schonfarber, was John Earl Taylor, of Farmerville, Student Council president and Northeast's ROTC battalion commander of last year.

Other officers of the organization are Jimmy Smith, of Sterlington, who is historian, and Glenn Tidwell, of Downsville, secretary-treasurer. Smith also is president of the senior class, and Tidwell is past president of the Northeast chapter, Future Teachers of America.

Schonfarber appointed several committees to compile required and pertinent information to be included in the petition to Omicron Delta Kappa.

Committees and their memberships include: merit point system- Ray Hopper, chairman and Stanley Burkett; general information concerning the college - John Earl Taylor, chairman, Lloyd Crocker and Jim Berry; letters of recommendation - Jack Parker, chairman, and James McKay; membership list, their achievements and activities - Elvis (Chug) Stout, chairman, Tom Godfrey, Austin Love and Dale Meachum.

Gold Key was organized on the campus last spring, and charter members were announced at the annual Honor Day program. The membership hopes that the local fraternity, modeled on by-laws of ODK, will be installed as a chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa by the end of the spring semester of the current school year.

Supreme Court Case Order Asked Speedup In Bus

WASHINGTON Nov. 17 (AP)—The Supreme Court was asked today to speed up the effective date of its mandate ending state and local laws requiring segregation on buses.

The court handed down the order Tuesday in affirming the decision of a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Montgomery, Ala.

The special court ruled that enforced segregation of whites and Negroes on Montgomery buses violated the Federal Constitution's guarantee of due process and equal protection of law.

The high court's mandate does not become effective until notice is sent to the lower court. This normally takes 25 to 30 days.

Today's petition, filed by four attorneys representing Negroes who have been boycotting Montgomery buses, asked that the effective date be made immediately.

Legion Barbecue Monday At 8 P.M.

An American Legion membership card is the only ticket necessary to a free barbecue to be held at the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 on Monday at 8 p.m., at the post home on Forsythe avenue, according to A. O. Ware and Milton W. Ford, vice commanders of the local post in charge of membership and entertainment respectively.

Because more and more legionnaires are attending regular semi-monthly meetings, it was decided to schedule a film from national headquarters for this particular meeting. A thirty minute show will be part of the meeting. The picture, with sound, was described as educational as well as entertaining.

"This post has over 400 members signed up already," according to C. B. Braun, adjutant. "We hope to have 500 by the end of November. Our quota for the 1957 campaign is 700 and this is a very good start for this particular time of the year," Braun said.

In addition to the film and free barbecue, which will be served by Gordon Gibson, the regular committee reports will be given. Plans must be made for an up-coming Christmas party. The annual christmas gift will be made to the veterans hospitals in Shreveport and Alexandria. A report on the flag project will be made this Monday night meeting. Discussion will take place on the remodeling of the home, in preparation for the Louisiana convention of Ameriian Legion in Monroe next year.

Commander Sam Rubin, Jr. asked that all legionnaires come out and give their buddies a hand on these extensive undertakings. Rubin further remarked, "any veteran who would like to join the legion is certainly invited to this free barbecue Monday night, or can come out to any legion meeting in the future."

Federal Reserve Board May Allow Hikes In Bank Payments To U.S. Savers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)— The Federal Reserve Board is making a study to determine whether it should authorize its 6,491 member banks to raise the two and one-half per cent interest rate on savings accounts, it was learned today.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which supervises 6,800 state banks also is weighing the matter.

A source familiar with the board's operations said the problem "has assumed practical importance for the first time since the 1930's." In 1936, when the nation was climbing out of the depression, Congress gave the board discretionary authority to raise or lower the interest rate which has ranged from one to two and one-half per cent.

Millions of savings account depositors would benefit financially if the ceiling were raised. But both the reserve board and the FDIC are proceding cautiously. Many uncertain economic factors are involved.

The studies grew out of the government's "tight money policy." Individual banks, pressed for lending funds, have asked both agencies to authorize higher rates. This would increase their savings deposits and provide them with more money to lend.

The reserve board will make the initial decision—if one is made.

First it must weigh the potential effect on the economic structure—whether among other things it would draw off investment funds from insurance companies and other institutions; hurt the government securities market; what effect it would have on credit and whether it might lead to injurious competition for savings acounts among commercial banks.

Savings and loan banks and associations, which have more freedom than commercial banks, paid interest last year ranging from two and one-half to four and one-half per cent. The federal Home Loan Bank Board said this enabled 6,061 of them to increase their deposits through September to $35.7 billion. This was more than double the 1950 total.

By contrast the nation's 13,208 commercial banks on June 30 had deposits—largely savings accounts —of $49.5 billion, an increase of only $15 billion since 1947.

The court handed down the order Tuesday in affirming the decision of a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Montgomery, Ala.

The special court ruled that enforced segregation of whites and Negroes on Montgomery buses violated the Federal Constitution's guarantee of due process and equal protection of law.

The high court's mandate does not become effective until notice is sent to the lower court. This normally takes 25 to 30 days.

Today's petition, filed by four attorneys representing Negroes who have been boycotting Montgomery buses, asked that the effective date be made immediately.

Legion Barbecue Monday At 8 P.M.

An American Legion membership card is the only ticket necessary to a free barbecue to be held at the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 on Monday at 8 p.m., at the post home on Forsythe avenue, according to A. O. Ware and Milton W. Ford, vice commanders of the local post in charge of membership and entertainment respectively.

Because more and more legionnaires are attending regular semi-monthly meetings, it was decided to schedule a film from national headquarters for this particular meeting. A thirty minute show will be part of the meeting. The picture, with sound, was described as educational as well as entertaining.

"This post has over 400 members signed up already," according to C. B. Braun, adjutant. "We hope to have 500 by the end of November. Our quota for the 1957 campaign is 700 and this is a very good start for this particular time of the year," Braun said.

In addition to the film and free barbecue, which will be served by Gordon Gibson, the regular committee reports will be given. Plans must be made for an up-coming Christmas party. The annual christmas gift will be made to the veterans hospitals in Shreveport and Alexandria. A report on the flag project will be made this Monday night meeting. Discussion will take place on the remodeling of the home, in preparation for the Louisiana convention of Amerlian Legion in Monroe next year.

Commander Sam Rubin, Jr. asked that all legionnaires come out and give their buddies a hand on these extensive undertakings. Rubin further remarked, "any veteran who would like to join the legion is certainly invited to this free barbecue Monday night, or can come out to any legion meeting in the future."

Federal Reserve Board May Allow Hikes In Bank Payments To U.S. Savers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—The Federal Reserve Board is making a study to determine whether it should authorize its 6,491 member banks to raise the two and one-half per cent interest rate on savings accounts, it was learned today.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which supervises 6,800 state banks also is weighing the matter.

A source familiar with the board's operations said the problem "has assumed practical importance for the first time since the 1930's." In 1936, when the nation was climbing out of the depression, Congress gave the board discretionary authority to raise or lower the interest rate which has ranged from one to two and one-half per cent.

Millions of savings account depositors would benefit financially if the ceiling were raised. But both the reserve board and the FDIC are proceding cautiously. Many uncertain economic factors are involved.

The studies grew out of the government's "tight money policy." Individual banks, pressed for lending funds, have asked both agencies to authorize higher rates. This would increase their savings deposits and provide them with more money to lend.

The reserve board will make the initial decision—if one is made.

First it must weigh the potential effect on the economic structure—whether among other things it would draw off investment funds from insurance companies and other institutions; hurt the government securities market; what effect it would have on credit and whether it might lead to injurious competition for savings acounts among commercial banks.

Savings and loan banks and associations, which have more freedom than commercial banks, paid interest last year ranging from two and one-half to four and one-half per cent. The federal Home Loan Bank Board said this enabled 6,061 of them to increase their deposits through September to $35.7 billion. This was more than double the 1950 total.

By contrast the nation's 13,208 commercial banks on June 30 had deposits—largely savings accounts—of $49.5 billion, an increase of only $15 billion since 1947.

Middle East Crisis Holds Up Action On Oil Import Quotas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—Defense mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming has shelved the oil imports quota problem until peace is restored in the Middle East.

He had promised the domestic producers he would announce by Dec. 1 whether he would recommend import curbs to President Eisenhower. But the Middle East war and blocking of the Suez Canal have changed this.

"I can see no chance of action until peace is restored and the canal reopened," a spokesman for Flemming told the United Press. "As long as the canal is closed to oil from the Middle East — and this may be for many months—imports are no domestic problem. There just aren't any to measure against domestic production."

The decision caught U. S. producers by surprise. They had been banking on Flemming to act—war or no war—and cited a statement he made in late October. He said then that if planned imports for 1957 threatened the economic welfare of domestic producers he would certify that finding to the President."

Assuming the big importing companies refused to cut back voluntarily, this was regarded as a tacit promise of import curbs. Flemming had asked the importers and other companies entering the import field to report their 1957 import plans to him by Nov 26.

An industry spokesman said that unless Flemming can justify his position the long-standing dispute will again explode in Congress. He pointed out that "the problem will be with us again" as soon as the Mid-East crisis ends, hence Flemming should act now.

The recent Congress refused to enact import quotas but wrote into the Trade Agreements Act a mandate to the administration to restrict imports unless they were held to 1954 levels in relation to domestic production.

Flemming has held off in hopes of voluntary action by the importers. Meantime, he held hearings at which domestic producers and the importers bitterly disputed whether "cheap foreign oil" gave the importers an unfair competitive advantage in the U. S. market.

Flemming called for the import plans after the hearings but they presumably will be held in abeyance until the Suez picture clarifies.

General counsel Russel B. Brown of the Independent Petroleum Association of America and representatives of 18 other producer organizations are ready to carry the issues to the new Congress in January.

"We are now in the court of last resort as to action by the executive branch of the government," Brown recently told the IPAA's annual meeting at Dallas.

"Should the government decision on Dec. 1 further and finally demonstrate that imports will continue to be excessive... we should have the combined support of industry and government to go to Congress for clear authority as to the level of imports required."

It is expected that Flemming will issue an explanatory statement before the Dec. 1 deadline. It seems certain, however, that the dispute will land in Congress.

Suspended Drug Sentence Revoked By Orleans Judge

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17—UP—Judge William J. O'Hara revoked the suspended narcotics sentence of Lambert Copping, 20, in criminal district court and sentenced the youth to 10 years at hard labor at Angola.

Copping was first arrested in June 1955 for possession of narcotics and hypodermic paraphernalia. In July 1955 and twice in March, 1956, police records revealed he was arrested for investigation of burglaries and of narcotics.

Judge O'Hara said Copping's involvement in the March 22 burglary of Ira's pharmacy had violated the rules of the suspended sentence.

Negro Charged With Illegally Obtaining Funds

A Monroe Negro woman was arrested by Richland parish authorities on a charge of fraudulently obtaining welfare funds, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday. The woman was arrested on information supplied by the local sheriff department.

Sheriff Grant identified the woman as Florence Hendrix, 3917 Owl street.

She was being held in the parish jail in lieu of a $500 bond.

Woman Attempts To Shoot Husband At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS — UP — A woman who tried to shoot her husband in the presence of a police officer faced charges of aggravated assault here today.

She is Mrs. Louise Baessler, 42, who was separated from her husband yesterday.

Mrs. Baessler narrowly missed Patrolman Charles Seruntine when she shot at her husband in the bedroom of their home. The officer had accompanied the husband, Otis, 45, to the house to pick up his clothes.

Police said the woman came from a second bedroom, pointed a Spanish-made gun at her husband and said, "Now I got you, I am going to kill you."

Officers said Baessler hit his wife's hand and deflected the bullet when she fired the gun. The bullet entered the floor five inches from Patrolman Seruntine.

It took five minutes for the two men to wrest the loaded gun from the woman.

World Opinion Against Russia

Russian barbarians have violated every code of international decency in Hungary. The latest display of ruthlessness in Hungary is the mass kidnapings that have been committed by the Russians against freedom fighters in the blood-drenched nation.

While pointing an accusing finger at the west in the Middle East conflagration, Russia is subjecting the people of Hungary to almost unbelievable brutality. Many Hungarians are being herded up and forcibly shipped to concentration camps in Siberia.

There is no way of knowing how many Hungarian nationals have been deported into Russian slavery but all reports indicate a great number have fallen victim of the international kidnaping plot.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr. has appealed for immediate United Nations action to end the forcible deportations. "We cannot remain silent while Hungarian men, women and children are forcibly deported because they dared to express their patriotic feelings in defiance of their Soviet oppressors," Hoover said.

The demonstration in Hungary during the past several weeks is enough to provoke anti-Russian feelings throughout the world, even among the Soviet puppet countries like China and East Germany. Though the Russians may succeed in compelling the Hungarians to submit to brute might, it will at the same time create fear and hate for the Russian bear throughout the world.

Certainly Tito and Mao must now realize that an alliance with Russia can be a one-way ticket to destruction. If Russia will go to the extreme that she has to force subervience in Hungary, none of the Russian satallites can feel safe.

World opinion is almost certain to develop against Russia. Even the Satellite puppet governments have condemned the Hungarian massacre by the Soviet military machine.

The Russian demonsration in Hungary might lead to a split in the communist world. There is already evidence of a heavy trend toward the Tito brand of communism which favors independence of the communist state without allegiance to Moscow.

There could develop an alliance between the communist countries to break away from Kremlin dictation In such an event Russia could find herself surrounded by a group of uncontroalbe satelittes. And any attempt on the part of Russia to repeat the Hungarian performance might fuse real trouble between Moscow and the other communist states.

Such a situation would be welcomed by the West which has demonstrated great inability to deal with Russian violation of human rights. There is great sympathy and moral support for the cause of victims of Russia but the West has never seemed to do much except vote in the United Nations and pass resolutions which never seem to be effective.

But in spite of Western softness Russia cannot expect to gain by her flagrant, inhuman action in Hungary. Russia may hold Hungary but the blood of the people who fought a fatal fight for freedom will stay on Soviet hands forever.

Turning Point For U. N.?

The United Nations General Assembly decision to organize a "police force" to restore and keep peace in the Suez area was a historic event. If Britain's overt action against Egypt has accomplished anything worthwhile, this is it. This may have set a precedent for international action, an even-more important precedent than the action in Korea — which really was a United States affair.

It would be foolish, of course, to pin too much hope on such a police force. It could never be effective in actions against major world powers, such as against Russia in Hungary, because that would involve fighting on a scale that would quickly become World War III.

But if this matter spurs the creation of a force to police the "little wars," it may have accomplished what years of debate failed to do.

Britain's and France's moves were morally indefensible. But as a practical matter, this has put the issue up to the U. N. to do what it was orginally organized to do — keep the peace. If, in addition, it results in an arrangement by which the Suez Canal can be kept free from nationalistic control by Nasser, then a further benefit to the West and Free World will be a fact.

Finale To A Tragedy

Watching the Hungarian rebellion has been like seeing a well-known tragedy, such as one of Shakespeare's plays, in the theatre.

You know the ending will be disaster or death for the major characters in the drama. But as your sympathies become entwined in the motives and the human needs of these people, you find yourself hoping against hope that the ending will be happy. Yet the inexorable plot winds to its tragic close and your hopes are dashed.

So it has been with the unbelievably brave rebellion of the Hungarians against the Russian masters. The stories of people fighting with flags and sticks against machine guns and tanks, the accounts of the determined hunting down and killing of the hated secret police, and the jubliant cries of a people freed if even for a moment — these will live forever in the annals of freedom.

But the end always seemed inevitable to outsiders and it was this which made the Hungarian resistance seem more remarkable. The major surprise is that the Russians didn't move immediately.

Will the Russians stamp out every semblance of resistance, refusing any concessions such as have been granted in Poland? Will this discourage or only encourage the ferment in the other Russian satellite states?

Dulles' Illness

Secretary of State Dulles' bout with cancer came at a very inopportune time in world affairs. Fortunately there are other capable men in the State Department "team" to carry on.

This probably means that President Eisenhower will have to take a more active and leading part in directing U. S. foreign policy, however.

It may mean, too that Mr. Dulles will be moving out of the picture as Secretary of State. If so, then one of the chief targets of Democrats and some Republicans will be gone.

Congressional Quarterly

Governors Could Influence Senate Control In 1957

WASHINGTON — The Democrats' precarious two-vote edge in the new Senate places the nation's governors in a prime position to determine ultimate control of the Senate in 1957 and 1958.

In a few states, like Wisconsin and Texas, a special election is necessary to fill a Senate vacancy. In the other states, the governor can appoint a successor until the next general election.

During the average Congress in recent years, five Senators have died and two or three have resigned, thus giving the governors a chance to fill vacancies.

With the Senate Democrats holding a narrow 49-47 margin in the 85th Congress, one strategic Democratic vacancy could bring the count to 48-48, if a Republican were appointed to fill that vacancy. Then Vice President Nixon by breaking a tie on a vote to organize the Senate, could shift control to his Republican party.

Couple this with the fact that 11 Democratic Senators come from states that will have Republican governors in 1957. Conversely, 20 Republican Senators come from states that will have Democratic governors.

Congressional Quarterly found that never has control of either chamber of Congress been changed in mid-session, after it once was organized. In the case of Sen. Robert A. Taft's death in 1950, Senate control was retained by the Republicans despite the appointment of an Ohio Democrat, Thomas A. Burke, to fill "Mr. Republican's" seat. This gave the Democrats an edge, 48 to 47 with one Independent. The Independent was Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who announced he would vote with the Republicans on procedural matters. This could have forced a 48-48 tie which Nixon could have resolved in favor of the Republicans.

The odds point to seven or eight Senate vacancies during the two-year life of the 85th Congress. Nothing says, however, which party will suffer.

One vacancy already is in sight for 1957. Sen. Price Daniel (D) will resign by Jan. 15 to become governor of Texas. The outcome of a special election to fill his seat may have a strong bearing on which party controls the Senate.

If Texas holds a special election before January to fill Daniel's seat and a Republican is elected—a distinct possibility—the GOP would control the Senate by virtue of Nixon's tie-breaking vote.

Two other Senators-elect, Jacob K. Javits, New York Republican, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio Democrat, say they will not be present for the organization of the Senate early in January. Thus, they cancel each other out as far as the balance of power is concerned.

But no matter how the Senate is organized in January, prospect of a see-saw battle for control remains in view of the close division between Democrats and Republicans and the authority a governor of one party has to name the replacement for a Senator of the opposite party.

States that will have Republican Senators and Democratic governors in 1957 are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Next year there will be Democratic Senators and Republican governors in Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Rhode Island, with two Democratic Senators, may also have a Republican governor next year. The close gubernatorial battle between Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D) and Christopher Del Sesto (R) will be decided when absentee ballots are counted Dec. 5.

One of the Rhode Island Democrats is Theodore Francis Green, at 89 the oldest Senator in American history.

Public Forum

Mule Train

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Some few weeks ago I pointed out to our city officials in the public forum department of this newspaper how dangerous night driving was over the old bridge (in downtown Monroe) without a center line.

It is almost impossible to get up on the west end when there is any traffic and several of my neighbors have had their fenders damaged.

It's beyond my conception when a dangerous situation is called to your attention why some of you don't get moving and do something about it.

If you have no money I will pay for the paint and if you don't have a man maybe I can borrow a jackass. We can soak his tail in a gallon of paint and run him across the bridge. He will drip some kind of a line — anything will be an improvement.

I intend to keep this picture before you until the situation is corrected. I do not believe tax payers should have their property damaged through negligence of city officials.

Editor, Morning World:

We congratulate you on your editorial in today's News-Star (12 November 1956) on "The Swiss and the Problem of Neutrality."

We agree with the reason why the United States went to war in 1917 as stated by you as " — we went to war to put our creditors in a position to pay their debts to us — which they never did in the full amount."

This is one of many foolish reasons why Wilson the Moralist marched the United States off to the unnecessary war of 1917-1918.

Fire Destroys 2 Big U. S. Planes

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 17 (UP) —Two $3 million dollar B-47 Air Force bombers were destroyed by fire Saturday night at Lincoln Air Force Base when a Nebraska Air National Guard F-80 jet veered off a runway and crashed into one of the bombers.

A Strategic Air Command public information officer said it was not known immediately if there was any loss of life.

He said the National Guard plane was making "touch-and-go" landings when it suddenly veered off the runway and crashed into one of the B-47s in a refueling pit. The fire spread to another bomber quickly. Officials said, however, that firemen were able to confine the fire to the three planes.

The Day The Devil Closed Up Shop

The story is told that one day the Devil decided to go out of business. Quit. Sell out his stock and retire.

Some of the evil angels decided they would try to carry on in his place. Offered to buy him out.

So the Devil placed on public sale all of his merchandise, all of the instruments of torture with which he had plagued mankind. Greed, lust, excesses. . . .

Each of these he marked with a price and placed on sale.

One of his devices of torture, however, he prized above all the others.

This was indeed his most effective weapon, his most valuable.

It was with this tool he had dragged David into the well in the 77th Psalm.

So when the Devil put this, his most precious instrument, up for sale, he marked it with such a high price none of the evil angels could afford to buy it.

When all his shelves were otherwise empty, this one weapon the Devil still possessed as his own.

He locked it away for safekeeping. Security for his old age in case he should need to sell it later. And he retired.

As with all who are very energetic and ambitious, rest began to taste increasingly less palatable when it was served in such large quantity.

Eventually the Devil decided he would like to go back to work.

Alas, however, the tools of his trade had been sold and the money had been mostly spent.

It was then the Devil remembered this one instrument of torture which he had not sold.

One which had destroyed more men than any other, had driven whole nations off the map of the earth. . . .

This tool he still retained.

So he decided he would go back to work with this one only.

And the evil angels, hearing what he was up to, were so afraid of the competition.

As he, with but one weapon, began to accomplish more than they with all of theirs, they began to call him all manner of good names behind his back.

One by one, however, they were forced out of business by the Devil's more effective merchandise.

Finally they had no choice but to go back to work for their former employer.

This pooled all the tools of the trade again. . . .

And now from time to time, each is employed to the detriment of mankind. . . .

But the experience which I have here recounted left Satan convinced of the true value of his one favorite device. . . .

And this he still reserves for stubborn cases.

With this one he knows now, if he ever has to, he can go it alone.

With just the one instrument with which he has plagued mankind since the beginning. . . .

Just one. . . .

"Discouragement."

Timmons In Washington

The Suez Blockade

WASHINGTON, D. C. — One of the world's great difficulties today is that one small but important waterway, in this case the Suez canal, can so disrupt the international economy that two once great empires suddenly face the stark probability of a winter in which their industries will be forced to close down, thousands will be unemployed and national bankruptcy will become a threat.

That is the situation confronting Britain and France, which invaded Egypt despite the warning that the Suez link could be closed to traffic by the sinking of a few vessels to block its narrow channel, preventing oil tankers from conveying petroleum from the oil rich Arab countries to their dockside.

The canal blockade, which the U. S. government realizes could handicap the free western world in its resistance to Communist infiltration for months to come, has superseded the lofty debates in the United Nations general assembly in importance here. F or it is obvious that with the oil supply from the middle east almost shut off, the major oil companies of the United States would be called upon to make up the deficit in normal oil consumption for Britain and France.

Of western Europe's daily oil requirements of 2 million barrels a day, two thirds has come through the Suez canal. Those tanker cargoes could be routed around Africa if there were enough tankers, but oil experts figure that 300 additional vessels each of 15,000 ton capacity would be required, and those tankers do not exist. They cannot of course be supplied before the crisis reaches its peak. And if they were available, the drain upon the oil resources of the United States and Venezuela, the two principal oil producing nations in the western hemisphere, would be as great as the demands of World War II, when the Germans sunk scores of tankers conveying oil across the Atlantic.

The United States has had its own problem in the importation of middle eastern oil from Arabian countries to which it has brought a wide division within the oil industry. That split in opinion, as to whether the U. S. should conserve its own oil by importing some of our required supply from the middle east, now appears to be reconciled temporarily by the Suez blockade, unless oil companies decide to use the route around Africa, with a great increase in cost.

Britain and France, and Italy to a lesser extent, are confronted with a severe strain on their treasuries by the increased cost of bringing oil around the Cape of Good Hope. None of them has any money to spare. In fact, a continuance of the Suez blockade for six months could leave all of them virtually broke, with U. S. loans of grants their only recourse to meet their obligations.

Furthermore, if a considerable percentage of their industries must shut down because of lack of oil for fuel, their world trade, a vital necessity will suffer badly.

Oil experts have figured that even if the western hemisphere is willing to increase its production by as much as 600,000 to 800,000 barrels daily to help the nations of western Europe, Britain and France still face a severe shortage of oil — as much as 500,000 barrels daily below normal consumption — for which there is no replacement in sight.

The only solution is that the same ingenuity and skill which enabled American military and naval forces to clear the wreckage of ships sunk in World War II by the Germans in the harbors of north Africa and Europe in an unbelievably short time can be employed again in the 103 mile ditch, which the British acquired control of in 1875, because they acknowledged that it was the lifeline of their nation, even though oil then was a very minor part of the cargoes moving through the canal.

Some American specialists believe that with the right personnel, the canal can be cleared of the ships sunk by the Egyptians within two months. That, at this time, would be the greatest contribution the U. S. could make to the free world.

World Opinion Against Russia

Russian barbarians have violated every code of international decency in Hungary. The latest display of ruthlessness in Hungary is the mass kidnapings that have been committed by the Russians against freedom fighters in the blood-drenched nation.

While pointing an accusing finger at the west in the Middle East conflagration, Russia is subjecting the people of Hungary to almost unbelievable brutality. Many Hungarians are being herded up and forcibly shipped to concentration camps in Siberia.

There is no way of knowing how many Hungarian nationals have been deported into Russian slavery but all reports indicate a great number have fallen victim of the international kidnaping plot.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr. has appealed for immediate United Nations action to end the forcible deportations. "We cannot remain silent while Hungarian men, women and children are forcibly deported because they dared to express their patriotic feelings in defiance of their Soviet oppressors," Hoover said.

The demonstration in Hungary during the past several weeks is enough to provoke anti-Russian feelings throughout the world, even among the Soviet puppet countries like China and East Germany. Though the Russians may succeed in compelling the Hungarians to submit to brute might, it will at the same time create fear and hate for the Russian bear throughout the world.

Certainly Tito and Mao must now realize that an alliance with Russia can be a one-way ticket to destruction. If Russia will go to the extreme that she has to force subervience in Hungary, none of the Russian satallites can feel safe.

World opinion is almost certain to develop against Russia. Even the Satellite puppet governments have condemned the Hungarian massacre by the Soviet military machine.

The Russian demonsration in Hungary might lead to a split in the communist world. There is already evidence of a heavy trend toward the Tito brand of communism which favors independence of the communist state without allegiance to Moscow.

There could develop an alliance between the communist countries to break away from Kremlin dictation In such an event Russia could find herself surrounded by a group of uncontroalbe satelittes. And any attempt on the part of Russia to repeat the Hungarian performance might fuse real trouble between Moscow and the other communist states.

Such a situation would be welcomed by the West which has demonstrated great inability to deal with Russian violation of human rights. There is great sympathy and moral support for the cause of victims of Russia but the West has never seemed to do much except vote in the United Nations and pass resolutions which never seem to be effective.

But in spite of Western softness Russia cannot expect to gain by her flagrant, inhuman action in Hungary. Russia may hold Hungary but the blood of the people who fought a fatal fight for freedom will stay on Soviet hands forever.

Turning Point For U. N.?

The United Nations General Assembly decision to organize a "police force" to restore and keep peace in the Suez area was a historic event. If Britain's overt action against Egypt has accomplished anything worthwhile, this is it. This may have set a precedent for international action, an even-more important precedent than the action in Korea — which really was a United States affair.

It would be foolish, of course, to pin too much hope on such a police force. It could never be effective in actions against major world powers, such as against Russia in Hungary, because that would involve fighting on a scale that would quickly become World War III.

But if this matter spurs the creation of a force to police the "little wars," it may have accomplished what years of debate failed to do.

Britain's and France's moves were morally indefensible. But as a practical matter, this has put the issue up to the U. N. to do what it was orginally organized to do — keep the peace. If, in addition, it results in an arrangement by which the Suez Canal can be kept free from nationalistic control by Nasser, then a further benefit to the West and Free World will be a fact.

Finale To A Tragedy

Watching the Hungarian rebellion has been like seeing a well-known tragedy, such as one of Shakespeare's plays, in the theatre.

You know the ending will be disaster or death for the major characters in the drama. But as your sympathies become entwined in the motives and the human needs of these people, you find yourself hoping against hope that the ending will be happy. Yet the inexorable plot winds to its tragic close and your hopes are dashed.

So it has been with the unbelievably brave rebellion of the Hungarians against the Russian masters. The stories of people fighting with flags and sticks against machine guns and tanks, the accounts of the determined hunting down and killing of the hated secret police, and the jubliant cries of a people freed if even for a moment — these will live forever in the annals of freedom.

But the end always seemed inevitable to outsiders and it was this which made the Hungarian resistance seem more remarkable. The major surprise is that the Russians didn't move immediately.

Will the Russians stamp out every semblance of resistance, refusing any concessions such as have been granted in Poland? Will this discourage or only encourage the ferment in the other Russian satellite states?

Dulles' Illness

Secretary of State Dulles' bout with cancer came at a very inopportune time in world affairs. Fortunately there are other capable men in the State Department "team" to carry on.

This probably means that President Eisenhower will have to take a more active and leading part in directing U. S. foreign policy, however.

It may mean, too that Mr. Dulles will be moving out of the picture as Secretary of State. If so, then one of the chief targets of Democrats and some Republicans will be gone.

Governors Could Influence Senate Control In 1957

WASHINGTON — The Democrats' precarious two-vote edge in the new Senate places the nation's governors in a prime position to determine ultimate control of the Senate in 1957 and 1958.

In a few states, like Wisconsin and Texas, a special election is necessary to fill a Senate vacancy. In the other states, the governor can appoint a successor until the next general election.

During the average Congress in recent years, five Senators have died and two or three have resigned, thus giving the governors a chance to fill vacancies.

With the Senate Democrats holding a narrow 49-47 margin in the 85th Congress, one strategic Democratic vacancy could bring the count to 48-48, if a Republican were appointed to fill that vacancy. Then Vice President Nixon by breaking a tie on a vote to organize the Senate, could shift control to his Republican party.

Couple this with the fact that 11 Democratic Senators come from states that will have Republican governors in 1957. Conversely, 20 Republican Senators come from states that will have Democratic governors.

Congressional Quarterly found that never has control of either chamber of Congress been changed in mid-session, after it once was organized. In the case of Sen. Robert A. Taft's death in 1950, Senate control was retained by the Republicans despite the appointment of an Ohio Democrat, Thomas A. Burke, to fill "Mr. Republican's" seat. This gave the Democrats an edge, 48 to 47 with one Independent. The Independent was Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who announced he would vote with the Republicans on procedural matters. This could have forced a 48-48 tie which Nixon could have resolved in favor of the Republicans.

The odds point to seven or eight Senate vacancies during the two-year life of the 85th Congress. Nothing says, however, which party will suffer.

One vacancy already is in sight for 1957. Sen. Price Daniel (D) will resign by Jan. 15 to become governor of Texas. The outcome of a special election to fill his seat may have a strong bearing on which party controls the Senate.

If Texas holds a special election before January to fill Daniel's seat and a Republican is elected—a distinct possibility—the GOP would control the Senate by virtue of Nixon's tie-breaking vote.

Two other Senators-elect, Jacob K. Javits, New York Republican, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio Democrat, say they will not be present for the organization of the Senate early in January. Thus, they cancel each other out as far as the balance of power is concerned.

But no matter how the Senate is organized in January, prospect of a see-saw battle for control remains in view of the close division between Democrats and Republicans and the authority a governor of one party has to name the replacement for a Senator of the opposite party.

States that will have Republican Senators and Democratic governors in 1957 are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Now Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Next year there will be Democratic Senators and Republican governors in Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Rhode Island, with two Democratic Senators, may also have a Republican governor next year. The close gubernatorial battle between Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D) and Christopher Del Sesto (R) will be decided when absentee ballots are counted Dec. 5.

One of the Rhode Island Democrats is Theodore Francis Green, at 89 the oldest Senator in American history.

Fire Destroys 2 Big U. S. Planes

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 17 (UP) —Two $3 million dollar B-47 Air Force bombers were destroyed by fire Saturday night at Lincoln Air Force Base when a Nebraska Air National Guard F-80 jet veered off a runway and crashed into one of the bombers.

A Strategic Air Command public information officer said it was not known immediately if there was any loss of life.

He said the National Guard plane was making "touch-and-go" landings when it suddenly veered off the runway and crashed into one of the B-47s in a refueling pit. The fire spread to another bomber quickly. Officials said, however, that firemen were able to confine the fire to the three planes.

Kind Of Sermon

A SERMON should not be a slap ... Or scolding of the soul ... It should inspire confidence ... To help us reach our goal ... It may remind us of our faults ... And tell us to repent ... And to improve our daily life ... To every good extent ... It may encourage us to rise ... Above our sinful ways ... And to acknowledge God's good help ... With gratitude and praise ... But never should a sermon be ... That overwhelming clout ... Which simply criticizes, and ... Is just a bawling out ... A sermon can be wonderful ... With eloquence and charm ... Or it can have the wrong approach ... And do a lot of harm.

The Day The Devil Closed Up Shop

The story is told that one day the Devil decided to go out of business. Quit. Sell out his stock and retire.

Some of the evil angels decided they would try to carry on in his place. Offered to buy him out.

So the Devil placed on public sale all of his merchandise, all of the instruments of torture with which he had plagued mankind.

Greed, lust, excesses. . . .

Each of these he marked with a price and placed on sale.

One of his devices of torture, however, he prized above all the others.

This was indeed his most effective weapon, his most valuable.

It was with this tool he had dragged David into the well in the 77th Psalm.

So when the Devil put this, his most precious instrument, up for sale, he marked it with such a high price none of the evil angels could afford to buy it.

When all his shelves were otherwise empty, this one weapon the Devil still possessed as his own.

He locked it away for safekeeping. Security for his old age in case he should need to sell it later. And he retired.

As with all who are very energetic and ambitious, rest began to taste increasingly less palatable when it was served in such large quantity.

Eventually the Devil decided he would like to go back to work.

Alas, however, the tools of his trade had been sold and the money had been mostly spent.

It was then the Devil remembered this one instrument of torture which he had not sold.

One which had destroyed more men than any other, had driven whole nations off the map of the earth. . . .

This tool he still retained.

So he decided he would go back to work with this one only.

And the evil angels, hearing what he was up to, were so afraid of the competition.

As he, with but one weapon, began to accomplish more than they with all of theirs, they began to call him all manner of good names behind his back.

One by one, however, they were forced out of business by the Devil's more effective merchandise.

Finally they had no choice but to go back to work for their former employer.

This pooled all the tools of the trade again. . . .

And now from time to time, each is employed to the detriment of mankind. . . .

But the experience which I have here recounted left Satan convinced of the true value of his one favorite device. . . .

And this he still reserves for stubborn cases.

With this one he knows now, if he ever has to, he can go it alone.

With just the one instrument with which he has plagued mankind since the beginning. . . .

Just one. . . .

"Discouragement."

The Suez Blockade

WASHINGTON, D. C. — One of the world's great difficulties today is that one small but important waterway, in this case the Suez canal, can so disrupt the international economy that two once great empires suddenly face the stark probability of a winter in which their industries will be forced to close down, thousands will be unemployed and national bankruptcy will become a threat.

That is the situation confronting Britain and France, which invaded Egypt despite the warning that the Suez link could be closed to traffic by the sinking of a few vessels to block its narrow channel, preventing oil tankers from conveying petroleum from the oil rich Arab countries to their dockside.

The canal blockade, which the U. S. government realizes could handicap the free western world in its resistance to Communist infiltration for months to come, has superseded the lofty debates in the United Nations general assembly in importance here. For it is obvious that with the oil supply from the middle east almost shut off, the major oil companies of the United States would be called upon to make up the deficit in normal oil consumption for Britain and France.

Of western Europe's daily oil requirements of 2 million barrels a day, two thirds has come through the Suez canal. Those tanker cargoes could be routed around Africa if there were enough tankers, but oil experts figure that 300 additional vessels each of 15,000 ton capacity would be required, and those tankers do not exist. They cannot of course be supplied before the crisis reaches its peak. And if they were available, the drain upon the oil resources of the United States and Venezuela, the two principal oil producing nations in the western hemisphere, would be as great as the demands of World War II, when the Germans sunk scores of tankers conveying oil across the Atlantic.

The United States has had its own problem in the importation of middle eastern oil from Arabian countries to which it has brought a wide division within the oil industry. That split in opinion, as to whether the U. S. should conserve its own oil by importing some of our required supply from the middle east, now appears to be reconciled temporarily by the Suez blockade, unless oil companies decide to use the route around Africa, with a great increase in cost.

Britain and France, and Italy to a lesser extent, are confronted with a severe strain on their treasuries by the increased cost of bringing oil around the Cape of Good Hope. None of them has any money to spare. In fact, a continuance of the Suez blockade for six months could leave all of them virtually broke, with U. S. loans of grants their only recourse to meet their obligations.

Furthermore, if a considerable percentage of their industries must shut down because of lack of oil for fuel, their world trade, a vital necessity will suffer badly.

Oil experts have figured that even if the western hemisphere is willing to increase its production by as much as 600,000 to 800,000 barrels daily to help the nations of western Europe, Britain and France still face a severe shortage of oil — as much as 500,000 barrels daily below normal consumption — for which there is no relacement in sight.

The only solution is that the same ingenuity and skill which enabled American military and naval forces to clear the wreckage of ships sunk in World War II by the Germans in the harbors of north Africa and Europe in an unbelievably short time can be employed again in the 103 mile ditch, which the British acquired control of in 1875, because they acknowledged that it was the lifeline of their nation, even though oil then was a very minor part of the cargoes moving through the canal.

Some American specialists believe that with the right personnel, the canal can be cleared of the ships sunk by the Egyptians within two months. That, at this time, would be the greatest contribution the U. S. could make to the free world.

Do-Or-Die Test Slated For Tying Alabama And Miss. To Inland Waters

COLUMBUS, Miss., Nov. 17 (AP)—The do-or-die test has arrived for the old dream of tying Alabama and eastern Mississippi into the nation's great inland waterways system.

Backers say a passing grade will awaken a sleeping industrial giant in the South and create a line of factory smokestacks from Tennessee to the Gulf of Mexico.

The connection would be accomplished by making the Tombigbee River navigable through its Alabama and Mississippi reaches. At a point in northeast Mississipi, a canal would be cut across high land to connect the Tombigbee with the Tennessee River.

Through the Intercoastal Canal lacing the Gulf of Mexico and through the new connections with the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio Rivers, this would give the Tombigbee a barge connection with the rest of the South and the industrial East and North.

The test which the $234,500,000 project must pass to win federal support is four-fold. The Army engineers, armed with $160,000 in "study" money, are preparing now to get the answers. Here is what the people of the area must prove:

1. That the project is needed. 2. That it is feasible, from an engineering standpoint. 3. That it is economically justified. 4. That it has local support.

Nos. 3 and 4 closely related. The engineers may not be able to get together the mass of proof needed for economic justification unless they have a lot of help—local support throughout the area.

To win and organize that support, more than a dozen Mississippi and Alabama cities have formed the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Assn. A Tombigbee Valley Authority, created by the Mississippi Legislature and headed by Dick Booth of Aberdeen would work with the federal government. If the dream is realized, this little TVA would set an ad valorem tax in 10 valley counties to support its functions.

One of the project's strongest supporters is Gen. Lewis A. Pick, former Army engineer chief and builder of the famed Lido road or "Pick's Pike" over the Himalayas in World War II. Pick knows that beginning in 1874, the government has six times appraised the project. In 1874, 1913, 1923 and 1932, it was thumbs down.

In 1938 there was a finding that the project, then estimated to cost $66 million, was economically justified. Nothing was done, however. In 1945 the report was brought up to date. The 1946 river and harbors act "authorized" the project. By this time, the cost estimate had almost doubled, to $120 million.

Getting an authorization out of Congress and getting the hard cash, the actual appropriation, are two different things. Now the army engineers have $160,000 with which to study whether the project should be built—and the cost has risen to $234,500,000. Of that, $227 million pould come from the United States and $7,500,000 from local interests.

Caldwell Parish Teachers Oppose Going On Strike

COLUMBIA, Nov. 17 (Special) — Ira Reeves, president of the Caldwell parish teachers association, stated today that the entire membership of the group has taken a definite stand in the matter of striking for higher pay.

"The teachers in Caldwell parish believe that the present situation does not justify a strike," Reeves said.

"The relationship between parents, teachers and pupils should be on a higher plane," the president stated. "Teachers cannot lower their profession standard and disregard the welfare of their pupils. May I reinstate our stand toward rightness and necessity of a raise and urge cooperation between all local and state officials in the teaching profession, business and lay people, state officials and members of the legislature that we obtain the needed bonds to pay the salary scale."

"The teachers in Caldwell parish believe that the present situation does not justify a strike," Reeves said.

"The relationship between parents, teachers and pupils should be on a higher plane," the president stated. "Teachers cannot lower their profession standard and disregard the welfare of their pupils. May I reinstate our stand toward rightness and necessity of a raise and urge cooperation between all local and state officials in the teaching profession, business and lay people, state officials and members of the legislature that we obtain the needed bonds to pay the salary scale."

Manship Urges Resistance To Newsprint Hikes

BOCA RATON, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—A Louisiana newspaper executive today urged southern publishers to resist any move to increase the price of newsprint.

Charles P. Manship of the Baton Rouge State Times and Advocate, said the supply of the paper on which newspapers are printed is now adequate. But he urged a five-year planning program by each publisher to insure an adequate newsprint stock.

Rumors of impending price increases have been heard here, where the Southern Newspaper Publishers Assn. held its annual meeting, which ended today.

Representatives of several newsprint mills reported on expansion in their companies, but none confirmed that a price increase might be coming up.

Tech To Produce Christmas Story For Television

RUSTON, Nov. 17 (Special) — Eleven persons have been named to play in Louisiana Tech's first TV production of the fall term, "The Holy Search," a Christmas story scheduled for presentation early in December over KNOE-TV in Monroe.

The script concerns the brith of Christ, Herod's fear of the new child and his consequent efforts to destroy it, and Joseph and Mary's flight into Egypt with the child.

Biblical costumes and settings for the production are being constructed by student crews. The Tech Christmas Carolers, under the direction of A. E. Tellinghuisen, will support the narration.

Enrollment At State University Is Near Capacity

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (Special) — Unless additional facilities and personnel are provided, Louisiana State University will reach its maximum capacity within the next year or two, according to Dr. John A. Hunter, Dean of LSU's Junior Division and former Registrar.

In an article entitled "Are You Ready to Pay the Cost?" published in the December issue of the LSU Alumni News, Dr. Hunter pointed out that the enrollment on the University's Baton Rouge campus next fall will probably exceed 10,000, which LSU officials regard as near the maximum the present facilities and personnel can accomodate.

Enrollment on the main campus this semester is 9,601, and increase of 667 over last year and approximately 300 more than the previous high recorded in the 1947-48 school year. Dr. Hunter estimates that LSU's total enrollment, including the newly-authorized commuter's college branch in New Orleans, will be more than 31,960 by 1970.

"These increases pose specific problems . . ," Dean Hunter said. "As alumni . . you should be aware of these problems for they affect you, your children, and your grandchildren. Solutions to some of these problems may well rest in your hands for the orderly growth and development of your State University depends, among other things, on intelligent educational leadership with active alumni support."

Dean Hunter noted that the University is getting maximum utilization from present classroom space by operating six days per week with classes beginning at eight o'clock in the morning and running to ten o'clock at night.

"Enrollment in the College of Engineering illustrates the problem. This division has experienced extremely rapid growth, and its present facilities are taxed to the utmost. There are no facilities available for increases in this area. Similar situations exist to a lesser degree in the other areas of instruction."

The article also cited critical shortages which already exist in some areas of college teaching. "At the present level of pay," he said, "it is almost impossible for the University to compete with industry for personnel in the Science and Commerce areas. The problem will grow more acute in other teaching areas in view of the fact that teacher supply is not meeting demand.

It is not unusual for an LSU graduate in Chemistry or Engineering to go to work at a beginning salary somewhat larger than the salaries of many of the teachers who trained him."

Dean Hunter listed four things which could well happen . . if additional facilities and funds are not made available:

"1. The University would begin a program of selective admission, using entrance examinations and requiring a certain pattern of courses in high school as requirements for admission.

"2. Denial of housing for many students. A critical shortage of housing now exists. This shortage will get worse before additional facilities may be provided.

"3. Reduction of University services to the State.

"4. Reduction in quality of instruction. Unless adequate salaries are paid, our most valuable faculty members will move on to other institutions.

If the opportunity for higher education is to remain available to all," Dean Hunter concluded, the citizens of Louisiana must be willing to pay the cost of the program . . . ."

Cotton Futures Continue Drive To Higher Prices

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures prices continued their upward march this week.

The rise was held in check by profit-taking, however, and some selling resulted from reports of a slackening of tension in the Middle East.

Even so, all deliveries scored net gains for the third week in a row, many posting new life-of-contract highs. Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange showed increases ranging from 65 cents to $2.15 a bale.

Most of the week's selling was aimed at the nearer months. The distant months were buoyed by the crisis in the Middle East, the high level of export sales, and soil bank considerations.

Late Friday some selling resulted as traders pondered effects the waterfront strike might have on export business.

Bullish influences included a U.S. Bureau of Census report on cotton consumption in this country in October.

In the period from Sept. 30 through Oct. 27, U.S. mills used 733,000 bales of cotton vs. 737,000 in the comparable four-week period a year ago. Consumption on a daily rate basis averaged 36,600 bales which compared with 32,900 bales a day in September and 36,900 in October 1955.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau noted that although last month's daily rate of consumption was a trifle lower than a year ago, the increase of 11.2 per cent over the preceding month — September — compared most favorably with an average increase of only 2.4 per cent from September to October during the past five years.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the service bureau at 134,000 bales, vs. 136,000 the previous week and 39,000 in the like 1955 week. The season's total through Tuesday was estimated at 1,587,000 bales against only 442,000 bales at approximately the same time last year.

FUTURE BUILDERS

Students in home study courses frequently take courses designed to help them in their jobs according to the National Home Study Council of Washington, D. C. More than 40 per cent of those studying homebuilding at home are already working in the building trades.

Duluth, an iron ore and grain-loading port, is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

Early Christmas Shopping Urged By Postmaster

Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn today urged the citizens of this area to shop early and mail early this Christmas season to facilitate the processing of the largest Christmas mailing in the history of the Monroe post office.

To put off mailing Christmas cards and parcels until the last moment results in an extra burden being placed on the postal employes and on the postal facilities of the post office, Mr. Hathorn pointed out.

Every facility of the Monroe post office will be pressed into maximum service so that again this year, as in the past, the post office will be cleared, if possible, of all Christmas mail by Christmas.

"There are still some people who retain the mistaken idea that a gift or card arriving on Christmas eve has a special significance," Postmaster Hathorn said. It is the thought behind the gift or card, not the time of arrival which is the important consideration."

In an appeal to all the citizens of Monroe, Postmaster Hathorn praised the fine cooperation of past years when record mail loads were processed and delivered and asked that this same cooperation be again in evidence this year.

"By following the simple suggestions of mailing early, wrapping carefully and addressing plainly, the citizens of Monroe will be assured of the safe and timely arrival of their Christmas mail," Postmaster Hathorn added.

Cotton Futures Continue Drive To Higher Prices

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures prices continued their upward march this week.

The rise was held in check by profit-taking, however, and some selling resulted from reports of a slackening of tension in the Middle East.

Even so, all deliveries scored net gains for the third week in a row, many posting new life-of-contract highs. Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange showed increases ranging from 65 cents to $2.15 a bale.

Most of the week's selling was aimed at the nearer months. The distant months were buoyed by the crisis in the Middle East, the high level of export sales, and soil bank considerations.

Late Friday some selling resulted as traders pondered effects the waterfront strike might have on export business.

Bullish influences included a U.S. Bureau of Census report on cotton consumption in this country in October.

In the period from Sept. 30 through Oct. 27, U.S. mills used 733,000 bales of cotton vs. 737,000 in the comparable four-week period a year ago. Consumption on a daily rate basis averaged 36,600 bales which compared with 32,900 bales a day in September and 36,900 in October 1955.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau noted that although last month's daily rate of consumption was a trifle lower than a year ago, the increase of 11.2 per cent over the preceding month — September — compared most favorably with an average increase of only 2.4 per cent from September to October during the past five years.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the service bureau at 134,000 bales, vs. 136,000 the previous week and 39,000 in the like 1955 week. The season's total through Tuesday was estimated at 1,587,000 bales against only 442,000 bales at approximately the same time last year.

FUTURE BUILDERS

Students in home study courses frequently take courses designed to help them in their jobs according to the National Home Study Council of Washington, D. C. More than 40 per cent of those studying homebuilding at home are already working in the building trades.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP) — Americans can contribute through their churches, the red Cross or any one of several authorized private agencies to relieve the suffering of Hungary's freedom fighters.

Your contribution may be cash, clothing, food or blankets to be sent into Hungary by international Red Cross mercy convoys, or to be used in Austria by the relief agencies caring for the thousands of refugees who have poured across the Hungarian border.

Another way you can help is to act as a sponsor for one of the 5,000 Hungarian refugees who will be brought to the United States. That means giving assurances to the State Department, through one of eight recognized relief agencies, that you will see to it that the refugee is provided with living quarters and a job.

Here is a list of some of the principal relief organizations, an what they are accepting from the public.

Crime Ring Smashed

Young Daughter Of Racket King Jailed In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 17 (UP) —Barbara S. Fechser, 22, daughter of convicted Texas numbers racket king Benny Binion, has been arrested in what police described Saturday as a major crime ring.

Mrs. Fechser, a divorcee, and John Paul Haines, 19, were jailed Friday night as fugitives. They were arrested on a warrant from Barstown, Calif., charging them with conspiracy to commit robbery and burglary.

Police described Mrs. Fechser as the brains of a crime ring which was broken Sunday with the arrest of two other men, Clifford E. Caprenter, 22, and Jack Keathley, 21, both employes of a Boulder City, Nev., newspaper. Officers said the two men robbed and shot Gail Pike, 26, in Baker, Calif., and were arrested here when they got off a bus.

Mrs. Fechser, mother of two boys, was released on bond and police said she would fight extradition. However, Haines, who admitted the existence of the crime ring to police, said he would not fight extradition.

Police said the group intended to burglarize the homes of prominent persons here. Their method of operation was to rent a car under an assumed name and transfer the loot and other incriminating evidence immediately after stealing it.

The woman's father gained social prominnce here until he was convicted of tax evasion in Dallas, Tex., three years ago. He pleaded guilty to the numbers racket operation and is serving a five - year prison term.

Dallas police had tried to link Binion with the auto bombing death of Harry (The Cat) Noble in 1951 and with other gangland activities in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Mrs. Fechser was divorced from Key Jolly Fechser on July 24.

A Tribute - - To Our Ministers

Each Sunday and ofttimes throughout the week, the minster of your church lifts his head in prayer and envisions the heaven of your faith. He is a patient man. He is an understanding man. He's there, your loyal friend, in sickness, sorrow. He officiates at weddings and visits the homes of his parishioners. Yet with all his biblical knowledge and his interest in his sermons, he is a man. A fine man. And he should be treated as a friend and companion, not merely as a cleric. Your minister and his church deserve all the support you can give them. Attend services regularly and be generous with your contributions.

Crime Ring Smashed

Young Daughter Of Racket King Jailed In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 17 (UP) —Barbara S. Fechser, 22, daughter of convicted Texas numbers racket king Benny Binion, has been arrested in what police described Saturday as a major crime ring.

Mrs. Fechser, a divorcee, and John Paul Haines, 19, were jailed Friday night as fugitives. They were arrested on a warrant from Barstown, Calif., charging them with conspiracy to commit robbery and burglary.

Police described Mrs. Fechser as the brains of a crime ring which was broken Sunday with the arrest of two other men, Clifford E. Caprenter, 22, and Jack Keathley, 21, both employes of a Boulder City, Nev., newspaper. Officers said the two men robbed and shot Gail Pike, 26, in Baker, Calif., and were arrested here when they got off a bus.

Mrs. Fechser, mother of two boys, was released on bond and police said she would fight extradition. However, Haines, who admitted the existence of the crime ring to police, said he would not fight extradition.

Police said the group intended to burglarize the homes of prominent persons here. Their method of operation was to rent a car under an assumed name and transfer the loot and other incriminating evidence immediately after stealing it.

The woman's father gained social prominnce here until he was convicted of tax evasion in Dallas, Tex., three years ago. He pleaded guilty to the numbers racket operation and is serving a five - year prison term.

Dallas police had tried to link Binion with the auto bombing death of Harry (The Cat) Noble in 1951 and with other gangland activities in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Mrs. Fechser was divorced from Key Jolly Fechser on July 24.

Weekly Stocks

War Uncertainty Causes Further Stock Declines

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—The stock market declined again this week, uncertain over the Middle East. The Associated Press average was down $1 to $177.90.

The market was higher Monday and Tuesday then slid off the other three days.

Business news had little bearing on stock prices as the world at times seemed dangerously on the razor edge of a big war.

Some domestic news was very good. A record output of goods and services was set in the third quarter despite the steel strike. Business prospects for the first half of 1957 were reported encouraging on almost all fronts. Steel production for October was a record.

Aircrafts, steels and coppers rose in the first two days. At midweek, the market began a nervous decline as peace was threatened.

Lukens Steel was a sensation, rising 34½ this week to 148, a far cry from its year's low of 42 in January. Bethlehem Steel advanced 6½ and Colorado Fuel 2⅛.

Other gains included Amerada a big domestic oil producer, up 11¼; Boeing up 1¼; Lockeed up ½, and Curtiss - Wright up 1⅝, Kaiser Aluminum lost 4⅞.

The first most active stocks were U.S. Steel, up 1⅛ at 71⅛, General Motors off 1¼ at 44⅞, General Dynamics up ¾ at 51⅞, Glenn Martin, up ¼ at 41½ and Royal Dutch off ⅞ at 99½.

The corporate bond market continued its downward path this week, with all segments except industrials hitting new lows for the year. U.S. government obligations, after a one-week jump, resumed their decline.

Work To Start On New Series Of Taft-Hartley Labor Law Amendments

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — President Eisenhower's administration moved today to prepare a new set of Taft-Hartley labor law amendments for the next session of Congress.

Carrying out a promise made during the recent political campaign, Secretary of Labor Mitchell announced that a special labor management committee representing the construction industry will meet Monday.

He said the group, with three members from organized labor and three representing management, will advise him on the Taft-Hartley law changes desired by the industry.

It was considered likely that the construction industry advisory group will be unable to agree on Taft-Hartley law changes and that, in any event, amendments sent to Congress will face a rocky road there.

Members of the construction group representing labor were Presidents Maurice Hutcheson of the carpenters union and Richard J. Gray of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Dept., both of whom supported President Eisenhower in the recent campaign; and President Peter Schoemann of the plumbers union.

Named by Mitchell to represent the industry were C. H. Haxby, president of the National Construction Assn. Paul Geary, executive vice president of the National Electrical Contractors Assn., and Edward T. Kelly, labor relations adviser to the Associated General Contractors.

Mitchell had promised such a Taft-Hartley advisory group for the construction industry. No plans have been made or promised for advisory setups for other industries or for management and labor as a whole.

Whatever amendments Eisenhower may decide to recommend to Congress in January for the construction industry could be proposed as a separate bill, or as part of a general "overhaul" of the entire labor law, as pledged in the Republican party platform.

Eisenhower's proposals are expected to be patterned rather closely after those he sent to Congress in 1954, ultimately shelved by the Senate.

These 1954 proposals included several designed to meet construction unions' complaints. One would have permitted prehire contracts, that is it would have allowed an employer and a union to sign a labor agreement before a project was started or anyone was hired. Another called for a seven-day instead of the present 30-day waiting period requirement before workers can be compelled to become union members on jobs, and a third would have modified boycott bans.

There is one thing the labor unions, including the construction industry unions, want most of all. That is removal from the law of the proviso which permits states, by enacting "right to work" laws, to forbid union shop—compulsory union membership.

From all past indications, Eisenhower is not likely to recomend or is Congress likely to pass anything to change this leeway given the states. At present 17 Southern and Western states have suchright-to-work laws.

U. S. Seeks Quick Buildup Of Oil Tanker Fleet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — With an eye on the Middle East, the government is seeking a quick build-up of the nation's active oil tanker fleet.

A "great demand" already has developed for tankers to move oil for both domestic and export uses, the Maritime Administration reports.

More tankers are needed regardless of whether this country goes to the rescue of Western Europe with oil to offset that area's losses from Middle East fields. Many East Coast refineries have been depending on crude oil imports. Now they are looking toward domestic supplies, the bulk of which would come via tanker from Texas and Louisiana.

A larger fleet also would be needed to increase shipments to friendly European nations in event this nation decides to help make up part of the oil now lost to them from the Middle East.

One maritime official said the agency is taking every step to get as many tankers built as possible by private interests.

He said there have been talks with the Office of Defense Mobilization on plans for a possible tanker building program by the government. No final decisions have been reached. But the program is being prepared for the time when it may be needed.

There are now 381 privately owned tankers under the U.S. flag.

Under contracts required by the Maritime Administration, all new tankers would be built under conditions which would permit their use by the government in event of an emergency and prohibit their resale without approval by the U.S. government.

Under present plans, 54 older and smaller tankers may be transferred to the registry of friendly foreign nations as the new and larger tankers are built.

The government has ordered the reactivation of 18 World War II tankers from the reserve fleet. These are smaller tankers than the new ones will be.

Of the 18, six can be legally sold to private industry and bids have been asked on them. Five of the other 12 will be turned over to the Navy, under present plans. No decision has been made on the method of operation of the other seven although they, too, may go for Navy use.

Firestone Strike Accord Reported

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 17 (AP)—A tentative agreement has been reached which would end the strike between Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and United Rubber Workers, the vice president of the Memphis local said today.

Negotiators who have been meeting in Canton, Ohio, were not immediately available to comment on the report.

The strike, which started Oct. 9, has idled 21,000 workers at eight Firestone plants.

Thomas M. Taylor, vice president of local 186 here, said the agreement was reached yesterday and another session was being held today to work out the wording on certain clauses of the contract.

Taylor, who declined to reveal any details of the settlement, called a meeting of the Memphis local for tomorrow to vote on the reported agreement. He said wages were not an issue in the strike.

Mother Of Eight Shoots Cousin To Death In Arkansas

OCEOLA, Ark. Nov. 17 (AP)—A young woman was shot to death here today and police charged her cousin, a mother of eighe children, with first degree murder.

Chief of Police Jake Threlkill said the victim was Hazel Simmons, about 19. He said Mrs. Eula Gann, 33, was held on the murder charge.

Threlkill gave this version of the shooting:

Gann forced his wife to leave their home yesterday. Mrs. Gann borrowed a .22 caliber rifle this morning and returned. The Simmons girl opened the front door and Mrs. Gann fired at her. The girl died shortly afterwards of chest wounds.

Threlkill said all eight children, Gann and Gann's mother witnessed the shooting.

Gann, a truck driver, was held for questioning, Threlkill said.

One Gas, 3 Oil Wells Completed In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi oilmen said today three new oil wells and one new gas well were completed in known fields during the past week.

Nine new permits to drill were issued and five wells were abandoned as dry holes.

Jett Drilling Co. and Robert Oil Co. completed their Drake No. 1 oil well in the Oakwood field of Jefferson County. The well was reported pumping 130 barrels of 41 gravity oil per day from a Wilcox sand at 5,526-28 feet.

In the Eucutta oil field in Wayne County, C. F. Martin completed its Reynolds No. 2 well and reported it was pumping 38 barrels of 21 gravity oil per day from a sand in the Eutaw zone at 5,040-50 feet.

At Pistol Ridge in Forest County, Sun Oil Co. completed its Board of Supervisors No. B-2 gas condensate well and reported it was flowing 1,775,000 cubic feet of gas and about eight barrels of condensate per day. Completion was made in a Wilcox sand at 4,669-73 feet.

In Adams County about two miles south of the New Era field, Eagle Drilling Co. and Germany and Gulmon have completed their Pierce Butler No. B-1 and reported it flowing at 124 barrels per day of 44 gravity oil from a Wilcox sand at 6,452-54 feet.

In Simpson County Central Oil Co. was reported drilling below 9,700 feet in its wildcat Jennings No. 1. The venture was reported to have logged oil shows and salt water on a drill stem test at 9,410 feet. Operators reported recovering 837 feet of drilling mud cut with salt water.

Contract depth for the wildcat was 12,800 feet as a search well for Rodessa sand production.

In Warren County, California Co. was reported below 10,900 feet in its wildcat Anderson-Tuly No. 1. The venture has logged no shows.

In Yazoo County, Carter Oil Co. reported at 12,000 feet in its wildcat Fouche No. 1 with no shows reported.

In Hinds County's Bolton field, Weston Drilling Co. was below 11,100 feet in its Gaddis Farms No. 4 and Magnolia Petroleum Co. was at 7,800 feet in its J. L. Cockrum No. 3.

Southwest of Seminary in Covington County, Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. was still attempting to free a stuck drill pipe in its Wildcat Miller-Aultman No. 1.

The pipe stuck when operators prepared to begin coring operations.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young was testing its Thian No. 1 from perforations at 10,830-40 feet.

2,559 Oil Rigs Active In U. S.

The weekly report of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors lists a total of 2,559 rigs active throughout the country during the past week.

Texas leads the list with 1,018 an increase of 17 rigs and Illinois had a decrease of 15, the largest drop in the nation.

Louisiana ranked second with a total of 456, an increase of three over last week. Of these, 69 were in north Louisiana and the remaining 387 were located in the southern part of the state.

Most Grains Dip In Week's Trading

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — Most grains turned weak on the Board of Trade this week although here and there small gains were recorded.

The market moved up and down in line with the character of the news relating to the Middle East. At the end of the week the dock strike at Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports caused selling.

Wheat closed 1½ lower to 1¼ higher, corn 2⅛-3¾ lower, oats ⅝-2¾ lower, rye 2 to 2¾ lower, soybeans 1 cent lower to 1¾ higher and lard 17 to 22 points a hundred pounds higher.

Oil Production Efficincy In U. S. Said Improving

HOUSTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Improved techniques have permitted the oil industry to boost the efficiency rate by which proved reserves are being produced without damage to underground reservoirs.

Domestic oil output could be increased two million barrels a day without reservoir damage. Seven years ago U.S. production was practically at maximum efficient rates.

The excess production capacity has been built despite sharp increases in demand.

The near maximum rate of efficiency in daily production in 1948 was less than six million barrels. Actual production now is exceeding seven million barrels a day and industry and government sources have estimated the figure could be boosted above nine million in the event of an emergency.

Dr. Richard Gonzalez, a director and treasurer of Humble Oil said the industry today has a larger proportion of new wells and since 1948 has developed proved reserves more intensively. He said the Rocky Mountain area now has more adequate transportation facilities.

Gonzalez also told the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago maximum efficient rates for individual fields have been improved by pressure maintenance and water flooding projects, water drive operations, and improved techniques for stimulating production.

Sustainable crude oil productive capacity, he said, cannot be determined in relation to the estimated national reserves of crude oil.

Gonzalez listed Texas as an oil area in which there has been more intensive development of proved reserves.

He said Texas, which accounts for about half of the known U.S. oil, now has 1.6 more producing wells for each million barrels of proved reserves than in 1948. Eight years ago there were 9.1 producing wells for each million barrels of reserves. At the end of 1955 the average was 10.7.

Pro-Marriage Group Formed To Strengthen Law

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Citizens Conference for Stronger Marriage Laws organized today and elected William Winter state tax collector, chairman.

State Rep. John Kennedy of Marshall County, who has sponsored the movement since the 1956 Legislature, said the group wants two changes in the present laws:

1. Compulsory three-day waiting period.

2. Permit parents or guardians to sue circuit clerks who issue marriage licenses without proof of age.

Kennedy said state law already requires a five-day waiting period, but it is not rigidly enforced.

"The only thing that prevents the application of these laws," he told some 100 delegates to the organizational meeting, "is the circuit clerk. We don't have a waiting period now because there is no law that requires the circuit clerks to obey the present law."

Kennedy fought in vain during the 1956 Legislature to put an end to Mississippi's 'quickie marriages." He wanted a blood test in addition to the other requirements. The bill passed the House after a long fight and died in the Senate without action.

Other new officers in the conference are:

D. H. Echols of Jackson, director of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, vice chairman; Mrs. S. C. Meisburg of Jackson, secretary; Mrs. D. B. Pridgen of Jackson, recording secretary; and Mrs. A. C. Griffin Jr. of Jackson, legislative chairman of the Mississippi Women's Cabinet, treasurer.

Week In Finance

Businessmen, Consumers Face Tightening Credit

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Businessmen and consumers faced up this week to the prospect of a tighter squeeze on credit.

All signs pointed to a fierce scramble for the dwindling supply of available investment dollars in the year ahead.

Competing for scarce credit were big and little business firms, federal, state and local governments, home buyers and easy payment plan consumers.

Indicative of the seemingly inexhaustible capital requirements of the nation's fast-growing economy was the massive 1957 expansion program announced by Frederick R. Kappel, president of the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Next year, he said, ATT&T's sprawling Bell System will spend a record 2½ billion dollars on new facilities—300 millons more than in 1956.

"One way or another next year we're going to be raising a lot of more money," said Kappel, "in fact, as we figure it, the Bell System will continue to be needing new capital from investors at an average rate of more than 125 million dollars a month."

Another straw in the wind was the announcement that the huge Sears, Roebuck & Co., retail chain was forming a new subsidiary Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp., to finance its growing volume of credit sales. Chief aim of the new subsidiary would be to provide new capital in addition to that obtained by Sears from several hundred banks. The company said present arrangements for financing easy payment sales through banks would be continued.

Also in the credit market in a big way were the nation's home builders, long pinched by a scarcity of mortgage funds. This week, official notice of their plight was taken by the government's top Housing boss, federal housing administrator Albert Cole.

"We have now reached a point where we must not risk a continued drop-off in the availability of home financing," said Cole. "It is time to go to bat for a sufficient flow of our savings into the home mortgage market to sustain a level of more than a million units of housing producion. It is time to go to bat for the people who need and want better homes, and can pay for them if they get the financing."

Where would the money come from? The Federal Reserve Board could artificially increase the nation's credit supply by raising the lending authority of the nation's banks. This would bring about an immediate increase in the supply of so-called "check book money." That's how it used to be done in recent years. This week, however, financial leaders seemed agreed on one significant point: The days of easy money, through inflation of the nation's credit supply, were over.

That left only one other source: The savings of the American people. And there were indications that these savings might soon be on the rise. A nationally prominent mortage banker predicted that mortgage money will be more plentiful next year, not because of an inflated credit supply but because of a greater flow of savings into banks, insurance companies and other lending institutions.

Gulf Oil Reserves Calling Promesing

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—A Texas oil man said today oil reserves off the Louisiana and Texas shores appeared to be the most promising area for the discovery of giant new oil fields needed to supply expected demand by 1965.

Ira H. Cram of the Continental Oil Co. Houston, said that barring economic and political upheavals, the industry should be prepared for a 1965 domestic demand for petroleum liquids and natural gas 50 per cent greater than exists today.

He predicted the industry, in time, will dig for oil in deeper waters. If it ever becomes feasible to drill in 600 feet of water—at the edge of the continental shelf—"the hunting grounds off Louisiana and Texas will be expanded to almost 50,000 square miles—an area slightly larger than the state of Louisiana," he said.

U. S. Seeks Quick Buildup Of Oil Tanker Fleet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — With an eye on the Middle East, the government is seeking a quick build-up of the nation's active oil tanker fleet.

A "great demand" already has developed for tankers to move oil for both domestic and export uses, the Maritime Administration reports.

More tankers are needed regardless of whether this country goes to the rescue of Western Europe with oil to offset that area's losses from Middle East fields. Many East Coast refineries have been depending on crude oil imports. Now they are looking toward domestic supplies, the bulk of which would come via tanker from Texas and Louisiana.

A larger fleet also would be needed to increase shipments to friendly European nations in event this nation decides to help make up part of the oil now lost to them from the Middle East.

One maritime official said the agency is taking every step to get as many tankers built as possible by private interests.

He said there have been talks with the Office of Defense Mobilization on plans for a possible tanker building program by the government. No final decisions have been reached. But the program is being prepared for the time when it may be needed.

There are now 381 privately owned tankers under the U.S. flag.

Under contracts required by the Maritime Administration, all new tankers would be built under conditions which would permit their use by the government in event of an emergency and prohibit their resale without approval by the U.S. government.

Under present plans, 54 older and smaller tankers may be transferred to the registry of friendly foreign nations as the new and larger tankers are built.

The government has ordered the reactivation of 18 World War II tankers from the reserve fleet. These are smaller tankers than the new ones will be.

Of the 18, six can be legally sold to private industry and bids have been asked on them. Five of the other 12 will be turned over to the Navy, under present plans. No decision has been made on the method of operation of the other seven although they, too, may go for Navy use.

Firestone Strike Accord Reported

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 17 (AP)—A tentative agreement has been reached which would end the strike between Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and United Rubber Workers, the vice president of the Memphis local said today.

Negotiators who have been meeting in Canton, Ohio, were not immediately available to comment on the report.

The strike, which started Oct. 9, has idled 21,000 workers at eight Firestone plants.

Thomas M. Taylor, vice president of local 186 here, said the agreement was reached yesterday and another session was being held today to work out the wording on certain clauses of the contract.

Taylor, who declined to reveal any details of the settlement, called a meeting of the Memphis local for tomorrow to vote on the reported agreement. He said wages were not an issue in the strike.

One Gas, 3 Oil Wells Completed In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi oilmen said today three new oil wells and one new gas well were completed in known fields during the past week.

Nine new permits to drill were issued and five wells were abandoned as dry holes.

Jett Drilling Co. and Robert Oil Co. completed their Drake No. 1 oil well in the Oakwood field of Jefferson County. The well was reported pumping 130 barrels of 41 gravity oil per day from a Wilcox sand at 5,526-28 feet.

In the Eucutta oil field in Wayne County, C. F. Martin completed its Reynolds No. 2 well and reported it was pumping 38 barrels of 21 gravity oil per day from a sand in the Eutaw zone at 5,040-50 feet.

At Pistol Ridge in Forest County, Sun Oil Co. completed its Board of Supervisors No. B-2 gas condensate well and reported it was flowing 1,775,000 cubic feet of gas and about eight barrels of condensate per day. Completion was made in a Wilcox sand at 4,669-73 feet.

In Adams County about two miles south of the New Era field, Eagle Drilling Co. and Germany and Gulmon have completed their Pierce Butler No. B-1 and reported it flowing at 124 barrels per day of 44 gravity oil from a Wilcox sand at 6,452-54 feet.

In Simpson County Central Oil Co. was reported drilling below 9,700 feet in its wildcat Jennings No. 1. The venture was reported to have logged oil shows and salt water on a drill stem test at 9,410 feet. Operators reported recovering 837 feet of drilling mud cut with salt water.

Contract depth for the wildcat was 12,800 feet as a search well for Rodessa sand production.

In Warren County, California Co. was reported below 10,900 feet in its wildcat Anderson-Tuly No. 1. The venture has logged no shows.

In Yazoo County, Carter Oil Co. reported at 12,000 feet in its wildcat Fouche No. 1 with no shows reported.

In Hinds County's Bolton field, Weston Drilling Co. was below 11,100 feet in its Gaddis Farms No. 4 and Magnolia Petroleum Co. was at 7,800 feet in its J. L. Cockrum No. 3.

Southwest of Seminary in Covington County, Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. was still attempting to free a stuck drill pipe in its Wildcat Miller-Aultman No. 1.

The pipe stuck when operators prepared to begin coring operations.

In Hancock County, Marshall R. Young was testing its Thian No. 1 from perforations at 10,830-40 feet.

2,559 Oil Rigs Active In U. S.

The weekly report of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors lists a total of 2,559 rigs active throughout the country during the past week.

Texas leads the list with 1,018 an increase of 17 rigs and Illinois had a decrease of 15, the largest drop in the nation.

Louisiana ranked second with a total of 456, an increase of three over last week. Of these, 69 were in north Louisiana and the remaining 387 were located in the southern part of the state.

Most Grains Dip In Week's Trading

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — Most grains turned weak on the Board of Trade this week although here and there small gains were recorded.

The market moved up and down in line with the character of the news relating to the Middle East. At the end of the week the dock strike at Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports caused selling.

Wheat closed 1½ lower to 1¼ higher, corn 2⅛-3¾ lower, oats ⅝-2¾ lower, rye 2 to 2¾ lower, soybeans 1 cent lower to 1¾ higher and lard 17 to 22 points a hundred pounds higher.

Mother Of Eight Shoots Cousin To Death In Arkansas

OCEOLA, Ark. Nov. 17 (AP)—A young woman was shot to death here today and police charged her cousin, a mother of eighe children, with first degree murder.

Chief of Police Jake Threlkill said the victim was Hazel Simmons, about 19. He said Mrs. Eula Gann, 33, was held on the murder charge.

Threlkill gave this version of the shooting:

Gann forced his wife to leave their home yesterday. Mrs. Gann borrowed a .22 caliber rifle this morning and returned. The Simmons girl opened the front door and Mrs. Gann fired at her. The girl died shortly afterwards of chest woands.

Threlkill said all eight children, Gann and Gann's mother witnessed the shooting.

Gann, a truck driver, was held for questioning, Threlkill said.

Oil Production Efficincy In U. S. Said Improving

HOUSTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Improved techniques have permitted the oil industry to boost the efficiency rate by which proved reserves are being produced without damage to underground reservoirs.

Domestic oil output could be increased two million barrels a day without reservoir damage. Seven years ago U.S. production was practically at maximum efficient rates.

The excess production capacity has been built despite sharp increases in demand.

The near maximum rate of efficiency in daily production in 1948 was less than six million barrels. Actual production now is exceeding seven million barrels a day and industry and government sources have estimated the figure could be boosted above nine millio. in the event of an emergency.

Dr. Richard Gonzalez, a director and treasurer of Humble Oil said the industry today has a larger proportion of new wells and since 1948 has developed proved reserves more intensively. He said the Rocky Mountain area now has more adequate transportation facilities.

Gonzalez also told the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago maximum efficient rates for individual fields have been improved by pressure maintenance and water flooding projects, water drive operations, and improved techniques for stimulating production.

Sustainable crude oil productive capacity, he said, cannot be determined in relation to the estimated national reserves of crude oil.

Gonzalez listed Texas as an oil area in which there has been more intensive development of proved reserves.

He said Texas, which accounts for about half of the known U.S. oil, now has 1.6 more producing wells for each million barrels of proved reserves than in 1948. Eight years ago there were 9.1 producing wells for each million barrels of reserves. At the end of 1955 the average was 10.7.

Pro-Marriage Group Formed To Strengthen Law

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Citizens Conference for Stronger Marriage Laws organized today and elected William Winter state tax collector, chairman.

State Rep. John Kennedy of Marshall County, who has sponsored the movement since the 1956 Legislature, said the group wants two changes in the present laws:

1. Compulsory three-day waiting period.

2. Permit parents or guardians to sue circuit clerks who issue marriage licenses without proof of age.

Kennedy said state law already requires a five-day waiting period, but it is not rigidly enforced.

"The only thing that prevents the application of these laws," he told some 100 delegates to the organizational meeting, "is the circuit clerk. We don't have a waiting period now because there is no law that requires the circuit clerks to obey the present law."

Kennedy fought in vain during the 1956 Legislature to put an end to Mississippi's 'quickie marriages." He wanted a blood test in addition to the other requirements. The bill passed the House after a long fight and died in the Senate without action.

Other new officers in the conference are:

D. H. Echols of Jackson,director of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, vice chairman; Mrs. S. C. Meisburg of Jackson, secretary; Mrs. D. B. Pridgen of Jackson, recording secretary; and Mrs. A. C. Griffin Jr. of Jackson, legislative chairman of the Mississippi Women's Cabinet, treasurer.

Week In Finance

Businessmen, Consumers Face Tightening Credit

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Businessmen and consumers faced up this week to the prospect of a tighter squeeze on credit.

All signs pointed to a fierce scramble for the dwindling supply of available investment dollars in the year ahead.

Competing for scarce credit were big and little business firms, federal, state and local governments, home buyers and easy payment plan consumers.

Indicative of the seemingly inexhaustible capital requirements of the nation's fast-growing economy was the massive 1957 expansion program announced by Frederick R. Kappel, president of the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Next year, he said, ATT&T's sprawling Bell System will spend a record 2½ billion dollars on new facilities—300 millons more than in 1956.

"One way or another next year we're going to be raising a lot of more money," said Kappel. "In fact, as we figure it, the Bell System will continue to be needing new capital from investors at an average rate of more than 125 million dollars a month."

Another straw in the wind was the announcement that the huge Sears, Roebuck & Co., retail chain was forming a new subsidiary Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp., to finance its growing volume of credit sales. Chief aim of the new subsidiary would be to provide new capital in addition to that obtained by Sears from several hundred banks. The company said present arrangements for financing easy payment sales through banks would be continued.

Also in the credit market in a big way were the nation's home builders, long pinched by a scarcity of mortgage funds. This week, official notice of their plight was taken by the government's top Housing boss, federal housing administrator, Albert Cole.

"We have now reached a point where we must not risk a continued drop off in the availability of home financing," said Cole. "It is time to go to bat for a sufficient flow of our savings into the home mortgage market to sustain a level of more than a million units of housing producion. It is time to go to bat for the people who need and want better homes, and can pay for them if they get the financing."

Where would the money come from? The Federal Reserve Board could artificially increase the nation's credit supply by raising the lending authority of the nation's banks. This would bring about an immediate increase in the supply of so-called "check book money." That's how it used to be done in recent years. This week, however, financial leaders seemed agreed on one significant point: The days of easy money, through inflation of the nation's credit supply, were over.

That left only one other source: The savings of the American people. And there were indications that these savings might soon be on the rise. A nationally prominent mortage banker predicted that mortgage money will be more plentiful next year, not because of an inflated credit supply but because of a greater flow of savings into banks, insurance companies and other lending institutions.

Gulf Oil Reserves Calling Promesing

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—A Texas oil man said today oil reserves off the Louisiana and Texas shores appeared to be the most promising area for the discovery of giant new oil fields needed to supply expected demand by 1965.

Ira H. Cram of the Continental Oil Co. Houston, said that barring economic and political upheavals, the industry should be prepared for a 1965 domestic demand for petroleum liquids and natural gas 50 per cent greater than exists today.

He predicted the industry, in time, will dig for oil in deeper waters. If it ever becomes feasible to drill in 600 feet of water—at the edge of the continental shelf—"the hunting grounds off Louisiana and Texas will be expanded to almost 50,000 square miles—an area slightly larger than the state of Louisiana," he said.

Gymnastic Show Slated Tuesday At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 17 (Special) — Northwestern State College's colorful and entertaining gymnastics team, directed by John Piscopo, will present its annual "Home Show" in the NSC Fine Arts auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

As in previous years, the extravaganza — entitled "Physical Panorama" and with new acts added — is expected to draw a packed house for the one-night stand. Both students and townspeople, in addition to dozens of interested persons from outside Natchitoches, have indicated they will attend this years show.

Piscopo pointed out here this week the gymnasts, many among whom are championship performers, have just completed a tour of the state, putting on shows at Ringgold, Boyce, DeRidder, Bossier City, Vivian, Arcadia and more recently at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, where they were well received.

Because of these special road shows, Piscopo added, the performances at home this fall have become "razor sharp," and some outstanding acts are in store for the audience Tuesday night.

Extremely popular in Europe, especially Sweden, gymnastics have just recently come into its own in the United States, both as a spectator sport and for individual development, the show's director added.

Among the featured numbers are a free calisthenics drill and trampoline acts, the first of which will feature Jon Waldo of Dallas, Tex., and Fred (Sonny) Martinez of Baton Rouge, the team captain and recognized by many judges as the outstanding gymnast in the Deep South.

Perhaps the most outstanding of all the stunts will be the creation of various ideas in abstract form by the "Men in Bronze" by a selected group of individuals. Entitle "Cooperation," "Strength," the "Machine Age," "Sports," and "Aspiration," the scenes created by these gymnasts are breathtaking in scope.

Among the new numbers to be added this year are the side horse, featuring Alan Lundgren of Chicago, Ill., and the intricate balance duo, with Bill Pearson of Ringgold, and Martinez.

Music for the annual event will be furnished by special recordings by sound technician Paul Kevser of NSC, with Phil Wilcox, Northwestern student from Rochester, N. Y., listed as master of ceremonies.

PHYSICAL PANORAMA—The popular "Men In Bronze" act will be a highlight of Northwestern State College's annual Home Show exhibition of Coach John Piscopo's gymnastic team in the Fine Arts Auditorium Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The above scene is entitled "Cooperation."

Carolyn Ross Is West Carroll 'Voice' Winner

OAK GROVE, Nov. 17 (Special) —Miss Carolyn Ross, senior student at Pioneer High School was announced as the 1956 West Carroll Parish winner of the Voice of Democracy contest Monday night at a public meeting of the Oak Grove Junior Chamber of Commerce in the school cafeteria here.

Also presented to the audience were Miss Ethelyn Finch, Kilbourne school winner; Miss Chomella Rose Prine, Forest school winner; and Miss Shielda Chambless, Oak Grove school winner.

Miss Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Ross of Pioneer, was presented a portable radio and a certificate as parish winner. School winners received certificates attesting to their accomplishment.

At the meeting, tape recordings of the talks made by the four students on the topic "I Speak for Democracy" were played. Judging of the parish contest was held Friday afternoon from the tapes played at the meeting.

Judges of the contest were Judge J. Vernon Sims, H. M. Thomas, superintendent of schools, and Tom H. Brackett, associate editor of the West Carroll Gazette. Identity of the speakers was unknown to the judges, John Kester, contest chairman, pointed out.

T. D. Waters, Jr., president of the Jaycees, was master of ceremonies for the Monday night presentation and expressed the appreciation of the Jaycees for the splendid cooperation of school officials and personnel, "without which we would have been unable to stage this contest."

Miss Ross' recorded talk will be entered in state-wide Jaycee Voice of Democracy contest and if it is selected as the state winner, will then be entered in the national contest. Each year four co-equal national winners are selected and receive trips to Washington, D. C., and college scholarships as their awards.

Two Sentenced In Fish-Killing

Two of four men, captured above St. Francisville on the Mississippi river, were each sentenced to serve 60 days in jail by Judge W. W. Overton at St. Francisville, when they pleaded guilty to charges of electrocuting fish in the river. The two are Percy Edward DeLatte of Watson, and Marvin D. Allen of Kentwood.

They were apprehended by game agents Captain Leonard C. New assisted by Captain Charles Venturella, Captain Alfred Couvillion, Joseph Rosenthal, and Vince Purpera, Jr., along with Alton Wesley and Glenn Underwood. Wesley also pleaded guilty but his sentencing was deferred until January 2, 1957. Underwood pleaded not guilty and his sentencing was deferred until January 2, 1957. Underwood pleaded not guilty and his trial has been set by Judge Overton for Nevomber 23, 1956.

The capture of this quartet was made possible when Captain New took advantage of all the facilities offered by the law enforcement division of the Wild Life and Fisheries commission and pressed into service short-wave radio, an airplane, four automobiles and one speed-boat with Captain New directing the activities by means of the radio in his own car. More than 600 pounds of catfish, that had been taken by the fish shockers that day, were confiscated.

JAMES M. KING

86-Year Resident Of Franklin Is Healthy At 102

By OTIS HASSELL
World Correspondent

WINNSBORO, Nov. 17 (Special) —James M. King, a retired farmer and retail merchant, celebrated his 102nd birthday Thursday with an informal family dinner at his home on route two, 10 miles southwest of Winnsboro.

Many relatives, friends and neighbors, bringing good wishes, cards and gifts, visited with "Uncle Jim" during the day.

King has been very active and in excellent health and spirits all his life. His only physical handicap is failing eyesight. At 102 he eats three good meals a day of any thing he wants, sleeps good and listens to the radio a lot, especially the baseball games and news. His favorite newscasters are Paul Harvey and Pauline Fredrick. He stays up all day every day, not even taking time out for a nap. During his long, active life he has worked hard, kept regular hours, and has never used tobacco in any form, he said.

He was born in Independence county, Ark., in 1854 and was 11 years old when the Civil War ended. He has lived in Franklin parish since 1870, and in the same house for the past 69 years. He retired a few years ago after a long career as a farmer and merchant. Before his retirement he served as a member of the Franklin parish school board for 28 years.

One of the first cotton gins in Franklin parish was operated by Mr. King. It was a portable machine which he moved from farm to farm as it was needed.

King is a member of Winnsboro Lodge No. 246, F. & A. M., and the Boeuf Prairie Methodist Church at Fort Necessity. With his brothers, John and Mack, he constructed the first Methodist Church building in Winnsboro.

His wife, the former Clara Brinsfield, passed away in 1928 during their 50th year of marriage. Six of their 10 children survive: G. E. King, who lives with his father; Mrs. A. E. Hynum and Mrs. W. H. Price, Winnsboro, route 2; J. F. King, Winnsboro; Mrs. L. M. Cook, of Arkansas, and Dr. Brinsfield King, of Baton Rouge; 16 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Absentee Voting For Sales Tax Gets Underway

Absentee voting for the proposed one-cent city sales tax for Monroe opened at 8 a.m. Saturday and will continue through next Saturday, R. Dean Farr, Ouachita parish clerk of court, said Saturday morning. Voting is being held in the basement of the clerk of court office.

Two persons had cast ballots during the first few hours of the absentee voting.

Closing Saturday noon was absentee voting for the West Monroe sewerage bond issue, which will be submitted to the people Tuesday. Only three persons cast absentee voting for this particular issue. The West Monroe council is asking property owners to approve two issues designed to improve and expand the present sewerage system. One of the bond issues, involving $193,000, is for use in the newer areas of West Monroe. Another issue, calling for $775,000, will be used on a citywide basis.

Gymnastic Show Slated Tuesday At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 17 (Special) — Northwestern State College's colorful and entertaining gymnastics team, directed by John Piscopo, will present its annual "Home Show" in the NSC Fine Arts auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

As in previous years, the extravaganza — entitled "Physical Panorama" and with new acts added — is expected to draw a packed house for the one-night stand. Both students and townspeople, in addition to dozens of interested persons from outside Natchitoches, have indicated they will attend this years show.

Piscopo pointed out here this week the gymnasts, many among whom are championship performers, have just completed a tour of the state, putting on shows at Ringgold, Bovce, DeRidder, Bossier City, Vivian, Arcadia and more recently at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, where they were well received.

Because of these special road shows, Piscopo added, the performances at home this fall have become "razor sharp," and some outstanding acts are in store for the audience Tuesday night.

Extremely popular in Europe, especially Sweden, gymnastics have just recently come into its own in the United States, both as a spectator sport and for individual development, the show's director added.

Among the featured numbers are a free calisthenics drill and trampoline acts, the first of which will feature Jon Waldo of Dallas, Tex., and Fred (Sonny) Martinez of Baton Rouge, the team captain and recognized by many judges as the outstanding gymnast in the Deep South.

Perhaps the most outstanding of all the stunts will be the creation of various ideas in abstract form by the "Men in Bronze" by a selected group of individuals. Entitle "Cooperation," "Strength," the "Machine Age," "Sports," and "Aspiration," the scenes created by these gymnasts are breathtaking in scope.

Among the new numbers to be added this year are the side horse, featuring Alan Lundgren of Chicago, Ill., and the intricate balance duo, with Bill Pearson of Ringgold, and Martinez.

Music for the annual event will be furnished by special recordings by sound technician Paul Keyser of NSC, with Phil Wilcox, Northwestern student from Rochester, N. Y., listed as master of ceremonies.

PHYSICAL PANORAMA—The popular "Men In Bronze" act will be a highlight of Northwestern State College's annual Home Show exhibition of Coach John Piscopo's gymnastic team in the Fine Arts Auditorium Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The above scene is entitled "Cooperation."

Miss Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Ross of Pioneer, was presented a portable radio and a certificate as parish winner. School winners received certificates attesting to their accomplishment.

Miss Ross' recorded talk will be entered in state-wide Jaycee Voice of Democracy contest and if it is selected as the state winner, will then be entered in the national contest. Each year four co-equal national winners are selected and receive trips to Washington, D. C., and college scholarships as their awards.

Two Sentenced In Fish-Killing

Two of four men, captured above St. Francisville on the Mississippi river, were each sentenced to serve 60 days in jail by Judge W. W. Overton at St. Francisville, when they pleaded guilty to charges of electrocuting fish in the river. The two are Percy Edward DeLatte of Watson, and Marvin D. Allen of Kentwood.

They were apprehended by game agents Captain Leonard C. New assisted by Captain Charles Venturella, Captain Alfred Couvillion, Joseph Rosenthal, and Vince Purpera, Jr., along with Alton Wesley and Glenn Underwood. Wesley also pleaded guilty but his sentencing was deferred until January 2, 1957. Underwood pleaded not guilty and his sentencing was deferred until January 2, 1957. Underwood pleaded not guilty and his trial has been set by Judge Overton for Nevomber 23, 1956.

The capture of this quartet was made possible when Captain New took advantage of all the facilities offered by the law enforcement division of the Wild Life and Fisheries commission and pressed into service short-wave radio, an airplane, four automobiles and one speed-boat with Captain New directing the activities by means of the radio in his own car. More than 600 pounds of catfish, that had been taken by the fish shockers that day, were confiscated.

JAMES M. KING

86-Year Resident Of Franklin Is Healthy At 102

By OTIS HASSELL
World Correspondent

WINNSBORO, Nov. 17 (Special) —James M. King, a retired farmer and retail merchant, celebrated his 102nd birthday Thursday with an informal family dinner at his home on route two, 10 miles southwest of Winnsboro.

Many relatives, friends and neighbors, bringing good wishes, cards and gifts, visited with "Uncle Jim" during the day.

King has been very active and in excellent health and spirits all his life. His only physical handicap is failing eyesight. At 102 he eats three good meals a day of any thing he wants, sleeps good and listens to the radio a lot, especially the baseball games and news. His favorite newscasters are Paul Harvey and Pauline Fredrick. He stays up all day every day, not even taking time out for a nap. During his long, active life he has worked hard, kept regular hours, and has never used tobacco in any form, he said.

He was born in Independence county, Ark., in 1854 and was 11 years old when the Civil War ended. He has lived in Franklin parish since 1870, and in the same house for the past 69 years. He retired a few years ago after a long career as a farmer and merchant. Before his retirement he served as a member of the Franklin parish school board for 28 years.

One of the first cotton gins in Franklin parish was operated by Mr. King. It was a portable machine which he moved from farm to farm as it was needed.

King is a member of Winnsboro Lodge No. 246, F. & A. M., and the Boeuf Prairie Methodist Church at Fort Necessity. With his brothers, John and Mack, he constructed the first Methodist Church building in Winnsboro.

His wife, the former Clara Brinsfield, passed away in 1928 during their 50th year of marriage. Six of their 10 children survive: G. E. King, who lives with his father; Mrs. A. E. Hynum and Mrs. W. H. Price, Winnsboro, route 2; J. F. King, Winnsboro; Mrs. L. M. Cook, of Arkansas, and Dr. Brinsfield King, of Baton Rouge; 16 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Absentee Voting For Sales Tax Gets Underway

Absentee voting for the proposed one-cent city sales tax for Monroe opened at 8 a.m. Saturday and will continue through next Saturday, R. Dean Farr, Ouachita parish clerk of court, said Saturday morning. Voting is being held in the basement of the clerk of court office.

Two persons had cast ballots during the first few hours of the absentee voting.

Closing Saturday noon was absentee voting for the West Monroe sewerage bond issue, which will be submitted to the people Tuesday. Only three persons cast absentee voting for this particular issue. The West Monroe council is asking property owners to approve two issues designed to improve and expand the present sewerage system. One of the bond issues, involving $193,000, is for use in the newer areas of West Monroe. Another issue, calling for $775,000, will be used on a citywide basis.

Louisiana's Population Estimated At 3 Million

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (Special)—Louisiana's population has increased an estimated 321,000 persons in the six years since the 1950 census was completed, the bureau of the census said yesterday.

The pelican state's population on July 1, 1956 the latest date for which figures are available, was estimated at 3,004,000 as compared with 2,683,516 in the official 1950 census. This represents a 12 per cent population increase.

The census bureau report also shows the state's population increased an estimated 70,000 in the 12-month period since July 1, 1955, when the figure stood at 2,934,000 persons.

Despite the increase, however, five other southeastern states have larger estimated populations than Louisiana, according to the report. They are North Carolina with 4,423,000; Virginia, 3,651,000; Georgia, 3,712,000; Florida, 3,770,000 and Tennessee, 3,466,000.

Florida has grown more than any other southeastern state with a total population increase of 998,000 or 36 per cent since 1950.

The census bureau estimates the natonal population has increased 10.9 per cent from 150,679,361 to 167,191,000 in the six-year period.

Western states continue to forge ahead of other sections in growth with a total increase of 22.4 per cent. Nevada, although still a sparsely populated state with only 247,000 persons, has grown 54.6 per cent from 160,000 to 247,000. California's population increased 2,846,000 or 26.9 per cent.

In arriving at the new estimates, the census bureau said it took actual figures from the 1950 census, added to it estimates of birth during the six years, subtracted estimated deaths, added or subtracted estimated civilian migration, subtracted an estimate of the net movement of civilians into the armed forces, and added an estimate of the number of persons in the armed forces stationed in the area.

Man Identified As Indian Dies In Okla. Jail

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP) — A man identified as an Oklahoma Indian died in city jail Friday night three hours after his arrest on drunk charges.

He was Herman Barnaby of Ponca City. Barnaby was arrested by Constable Perry Aday about 7 p.m. Friday night and locked up. When Aday went to transfer Barnaby to the Ellis county jail at 10 p.m., Barnaby was dead.

Justice of the Peace Harold Patton withheld an inquest verdict pending an autopsy. Officers said they believe Barnaby died of natural causes.

Officers said Barnaby was hitchhiking with a Negro, Jimmy Lee Johnson of Waurika, Okla., who let the Ponca City man out of his car at Midlothian.

Johnson was arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol at 7:33 p. m. last night, four miles south of Waxahachie. He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated Saturday in 40th District Court and was fined $50 and sentenced to three days in jail.

Officers said a 17-year-old Negro boy with Johnson was not charged.

Piano Professor To Pay Tribute To Freedom Fight

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 —UP— A Hungarian-born New Orleanian will pay tribute to the Hungarian freedom fight with a special recital in New York Dec. 9.

Nadas said he was held in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II and that the Russians freed him. Then, he said, Soviets promised to return him to Hungary but instead tried to send him to a Russian camp. He said he escaped into the American zone of occupied Germany.

An estimated 7,400,000 Californians are covered by some form of health or hospital insurance, says the Health Insurance Council.

Miss. Rate Hearing

Phone Rebuttal Witnesses Dispute Other Testimony

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 17 (AP) — Three rebuttal witnesses for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. today testified that rate theories advanced by a state witness would curtail expansion and maintenance of service in Mississippi.

Southern Bell is seeking Public Service Commission approval of its recently levied 2½ million-dollar statewide rate increase.

Those testifying today were William H. Mounger of Jackson, assistant vice president of Equitable Securities Corp.; J. R. Leavell of Ocean Springs, retired president of Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago; and W. C. Gilman of New York, a private engineer and investments counselor.

All three disagreed with testimony by Arnold Hirsch, a Washington, D. C., rate consultant, that Southern Bell uses an improper ratio between debt and capitalization for the profit of the company.

Mounger said if the Hirsch theory were practiced, it would cause a sell off in the telephone company's stock.

Hirsch testified that Southern Bell is forced to sell all its common stock to its parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and is not permitted to issue long-term bonds at lower interest rates.

Mounger described Hirsch's theory as "radical and adverse to the utility company its stockholders and the public" and said if used "would destroy the confidence of outside capital infields far removed from the utility area."

Leavell said Hirsch's theory on debt ratio is "entirely too low for equity in the telephone business."

Gilman echoed Leavell's remarks.

GOP Leaders Told U.S. Senate Control Undecided

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)— Republican senators were told Saturday that control of the Senate in the new Congress "was not definitely decided" by the elections last week.

This statement was contained in an election review prepared by the staff of the Senate GOP Policy committee. It noted that the Democrats had retained their 49-47 majority in the Senate but said "the local situation" in Ohio, New York and Texas "could affect the outcome."

After some initial uncertainty, Senate Democratic leaders have been making plans on the assumption that they will retain control of the Senate and organize it on Jan. 3.

The GOP memorandum first cited Ohio, where Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the Democratic senator-elect, has announced he will not take his seat until after his term as governor expires Jan. 14.

Points to Javits-Daniel

Furthermore, there is no certainty with which party he would vote on the organization issue," the memo said.

It also pointed out that Jacob K. Javits, GOP senator-elect from New York, plans to stay in his job as state attorney general until after Jan. 9 and that Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) will become governor of his state Jan. 15.

If Daniel vacated his seat earlier, the memorandum said, it is conceivable" that Gov. Allan Shivers might name a temporary appointee who would vote with the GOP to organize the Senate.

Daniel and Shivers have been engaged in a dispute over when the senator should resign. Daniel submitted his resignation in September, effective Jan. 15 or whenever his replacement is chosen in a special session. Shivers, who supported the reelection of President Eisenhower, has demanded that Daniel resign immediately.

The Texas senator issued another statement Saturday asserting that a Texas law permits Shivers to call a special election on 20 days notice before the Senate seat is actually vacant. Shivers' position is based on a different statute, requiring 60 days notice and assuming a vacancy exists before the election can be called.

Daniel criticizd Shivers for failing to seek an opinion from the state attorney general. He urged all Texas lawyers to read the statute which he has cited.

The people are entitled to know the law from someone other than a governor whose 47-day delay and present demands could result only in denying the people a vote before Jan. 3 and his appointment of a senator on that date," Daniel said.

SO YOU WILL

KNOW THE FACTS

Here is the TRUTH about the Proposed 1% Sales Tax

to work toward the balancing of the Budget of the City of Monroe!

PLEASE READ AND CHECK THESE FACTS—THEN YOU WILL

Vote "Yes" for the Sales Tax!

For a number of years the City of Monroe has operated at a deficit. Funds have been juggled from one account to another . . . money has been borrowed without means of repaying . . . there are almost $1 million dollars in accounts payable to local firms . . . and the State Legislature has passed laws which places the management of the local municipaliy owned utilities under an independent commission which means that until the utilities are put into a good state of repair none of their funds may be used in financing the costs of the city. The present City Administration is facing an impossible situation.

THIS TAX IS FOR FIVE YEARS ONLY!

It Will Automatically Cease at the End of 5 Years—Only Another Vote Could Extend it!

THE FUNDS—IF VOTED—ARE ALREADY DEDICATED

In Accordance with Law—An Ordinance already Passed Permits These Funds to Be Used ONLY Toward the expenses of the

Police - Fire - and Street Departments

Annual Cost of these Depts. $1,171,066.00

Anticipated Sales Tax Revenue $600,000.00

The entire anticipated revenue from the 1% Sales Tax proposal is already allocated by ordinance to these three departments . . . it will cover approximately half of the expenses of these three departments. With this money it will still take a full five years to get our City back on a sound financial footing where it can maintain all present services and meet its obligations as they arise or are made.

What Is the Alternate to the Tax?

The City Council could request the Monroe Utilities Commission to make a tremendous increase in the utility rates but it is the opinion of the council that such an increase would be prohibitive and would be only a last resort with the present administration. It seems to the City Administration and its citizen advisory committees the Sales Tax is the only answer if you would continue to receive the services you presently receive. No other workable plan that would raise the necessary revenue has been found or advanced by anyone. Logical reasoning shows that either money must be found for operating the city or enough services must be curtailed or eliminated so that operating costs will not exceed the present available income. The question is squarely up to the voters.

THE CITY ADMINISTRATION WILL HAVE NO CHOICE BUT TO DO THE FOLLOWING—

1. Reduce the present number of City Firemen and all possible expenses.
2. Reduce the present number of Police Officers with other economies.
3. Reduce the present number of Street Department employees and curtail services.
4. Discontinue all park and recreational services and present expenditures.
5. Curtail Sanitation Service and require householder to place garbage on curb on designated days.
6. Close the City Zoo which will mean an anual savings of $10,000.
7. Increase the present sewerage service fees and connection charges.
8. Discontinue removal of trash with the exception of garbage.
9. Discontinue the use of Safety Officers at the City Schools.
10. Reduce every other possible service to bring costs down to revenue.

The Above Economies Will Result in the Lay-Off of Approximately 200 Employees—Citizens of Monroe

NO OTHER FINANCES ARE AVAILABLE

The Monroe Utilities Commission through its Chairman C. C. Boardman has advised the City Administration, and all the Citizens through the press, that it will take four to five years for them to make needed and necessary improvements and build up a reserve thereby making it impossible for them to make any of the utility revenues available to the City for that period of time. After the needed improvements have been made to the Utility systems revenues from the sale of water and electricity will be available to the city council for operation of the various departments.

Justice of the Peace Harold Patton withheld an inquest verdict pending an autopsy. Officers said they believe Barnaby died of natural causes.

Officers said Barnaby was hitchhiking with a Negro, Jimmy Lee Johnson of Waurika, Okla., who let the Ponca City man out of his car at Midlothian.

Johnson was arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol at 7:33 p. m. last night, four miles south of Waxahachie. He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated Saturday in 40th District Court and was fined $50 and sentenced to three days in jail.

Officers said a 17-year-old Negro boy with Johnson was not charged.

Piano Professor To Pay Tribute To Freedom Fight

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 —UP— A Hungarian-born New Orleanian will pay tribute to the Hungarian freedom fight with a special recital in New York Dec. 9.

Istvan Nadas, 34, a professor of piano at Loyola and Xavier universities, dedicated a portion of a Sunday recital to Hungarian patriots and as a result of this Carnegie Hall dedication, was invited to perform at Columbia University.

Nadas said he was held in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II and that the Russians freed him. Then, he said, Soviets promised to return him to Hungary but instead tried to send him to a Russian camp. He said he escaped into the American zone of occupied Germany.

An estimated 7,400,000 Californians are covered by some form of health or hospital insurance, says the Health Insurance Council.

Miss. Rate Hearing

Phone Rebuttal Witnesses Dispute Other Testimony

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 17 (AP) — Three rebuttal witnesses for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. today testified that rate theories advanced by a state witness would curtail expansion and maintenance of service in Mississippi.

Southern Bell is seeking Public Service Commission approval of its recently levied 2½ million-dollar statewide rate increase.

Those testifying today were William H. Mounger of Jackson, assistant vice president of Equitable Securities Corp.; J. R. Leavell of Ocean Springs, retired president of Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago; and W. C. Gilman of New York, a private engineer and investments counselor.

All three disagreed with testimony by Arnold Hirsch, a Washington, D. C., rate consultant, that Southern Bell uses an improper ratio between debt and capitalization for the profit of the company.

Mounger said if the Hirsch theory were practiced, it would cause a sell off in the telephone company's stock.

Hirsch testified that Southern Bell is forced to sell all its common stock to its parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and is not permitted to issue long-term bonds at lower interest rates.

Mounger described Hirsch's theory as "radical and adverse to the utility company its stockholders and the public" and said if used "would destroy the confidence of outside capital infields far removed from the utility area."

Leavell said Hirsch's theory on debt ratio is "entirely too low for equity in the telephone business."

Gilman echoed Leavell's remarks.

GOP Leaders Told U.S. Senate Control Undecided

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—Republican senators were told Saturday that control of the Senate in the new Congress "was not definitely decided" by the elections last week.

This statement was contained in an election review prepared by the staff of the Senate GOP Policy committee. It noted that the Democrats had retained their 49-47 majority in the Senate but said "the local situation" in Ohio, New York and Texas "could affect the outcome."

After some initial uncertainty, Senate Democratic leaders have been making plans on the assumption that they will retain control of the Senate and organize it on Jan. 3.

The GOP memorandum first cited Ohio, where Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the Democratic senator-elect, has announced he will not take his seat until after his term as governor expires Jan. 14.

Points to Javits-Daniel

Furthermore, there is no certainty with which party he would vote on the organization issue," the memo said.

It also pointed out that Jacob K. Javits, GOP senator-elect from New York, plans to stay in his job as state attorney general until after Jan. 9 and that Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) will become governor of his state Jan. 15.

If Daniel vacated his seat earlier, the memorandum said, it is conceivable" that Gov. Allan Shivers might name a temporary appointee who would vote with the GOP to organize the Senate.

Daniel and Shivers have been engaged in a dispute over when the senator should resign. Daniel submitted his resignation in September, effective Jan. 15 or whenever his replacement is chosen in a special session. Shivers, who supported the reelection of President Eisenhower, has demanded that Daniel resign immediately.

The Texas senator issued another statement Saturday asserting that a Texas law permits Shivers to call a special election on 20 days notice before the Senate seat is actually vacant. Shivers' position is based on a different statute, requiring 60 days notice and assuming a vacancy exists before the election can be called.

Daniel criticizd Shivers for failing to seek an opinion from the state attorney general. He urged all Texas lawyers to read the statute which he has cited.

The people are entitled to know the law from someone other than a governor whose 47-day delay and present demands could result only in denying the people a vote before Jan. 3 and his appointment of a senator on that date," Daniel said.

SO YOU WILL KNOW THE FACTS

Here is the TRUTH about the Proposed 1% Sales Tax
to work toward the balancing of the Budget of the City of Monroe!
PLEASE READ AND CHECK THESE FACTS—THEN YOU WILL Vote "Yes" for the Sales Tax!

For a number of years the City of Monroe has operated at a deficit. Funds have been juggled from one account to another . . . money has been borrowed without means of repaying . . . there are almost $1 million dollars in accounts payable to local firms . . . and the State Legislature has passed laws which places the management of the local municipally owned utilities under an independent commission which means that until the utilities are put into a good state of repair none of their funds may be used in financing the costs of the city. The present City Administration is facing an impossible situation.

THIS TAX IS FOR FIVE YEARS ONLY!

It Will Automatically Cease at the End of 5 Years—Only Another Vote Could Extend it!

THE FUNDS—IF VOTED—ARE ALREADY DEDICATED

In Accordance with Law—An Ordinance already Passed Permits These Funds to Be Used ONLY Toward the expenses of the

Police - Fire - and Street Departments

Annual Cost of these Depts. $1,171,066.00

Anticipated Sales Tax Revenue $600,000.00

The entire anticipated revenue from the 1% Sales Tax proposal is already allocated by ordinance to these three departments . . . it will cover approximately half of the expenses of these three departments. With this money it will still take a full five years to get our City back on a sound financial footing where it can maintain all present services and meet its obligations as they arise or are made.

What Is the Alternate to the Tax?

The City Council could request the Monroe Utilities Commission to make a tremendous increase in the utility rates but it is the opinion of the council that such an increase would be prohibitive and would be only a last resort with the present administration. It seems to the City Administration and its citizen advisory committees the Sales Tax is the only answer if you would continue to receive the services you presently receive. No other workable plan that would raise the necessary revenue has been found or advanced by anyone. Logical reasoning shows that either money must be found for operating the city or enough services must be curtailed or eliminated so that operating costs will not exceed the present available income. The question is squarely up to the voters.

THE CITY ADMINISTRATION WILL HAVE NO CHOICE BUT TO DO THE FOLLOWING—

1. Reduce the present number of City Firemen and all possible expenses.
2. Reduce the present number of Police Officers with other economies.
3. Reduce the present number of Street Department employees and curtail services.
4. Discontinue all park and recreational services and present expenditures.
5. Curtail Sanitation Service and require householder to place garbage on curb on designated days.
6. Close the City Zoo which will mean an anual savings of $10,000.
7. Increase the present sewerage service fees and connection charges.
8. Discontinue removal of trash with the exception of garbage.
9. Discontinue the use of Safety Officers at the City Schools.
10. Reduce every other possible service to bring costs down to revenue.

NO OTHER FINANCES ARE AVAILABLE

The Monroe Utilities Commission through its Chairman C. C. Boardman has advised the City Administration, and all the Citizens through the press, that it will take four to five years for them to make needed and necessary improvements and build up a reserve thereby making it impossible for them to make any of the utility revenues available to the City for that period of time. After the needed improvements have been made to the Utility systems revenues from the sale of water and electricity will be available to the city council for operation of the various departments.

Inspired Northeast Upsets Louisiana Tech, 7 To 0

E. Reynolds Pass To Laird Payoff; Tech Loses Title

An inspired Northeast Louisiana State football machine, playing ball as no Redskin team has done in many years, upset Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs, 7 to 0, here last night at Brown Field before an estimated crowd of 5,500 with the payoff play being a pass from Everett Reynolds to end Billy Joe Laird at little past the midway point in the final quarter.

The defeat knocked the Techmen out of the Gulf States Conference championship and handed the diadem over to the Southeastern Lions who defeated Northwestern yesterday at Hammond, 20-15. Tech had earlier beaten Southeastern but had been tied by Northwestern. Northeast lost to both Southeastern and Northwestern and had no chance at the title last night, but Coach Devone Payne's Tribesmen played like champions to spoil the visitors.

Although the names and numbers were the same, the team that won for Northeast last night wasn't "the same" that lost to Northwestern. The Tribe was making tackles last night that it was missing against the demons.

The defeat actually takes nothing away from a battling Tech machine. It was just a case of the Bulldogs catching the Indians "hot" and playing like this was the game they had waited for all season.

The first quarter turned into a punting duel between Northeast's Aubrey Wade and Tech's A. L. Williams when vicious tackling turned the battle into a defensive scramble until late in the period when the Redskins developed a threat after Wade downed a Tech punt on the Bulldog 41.

Tony Hartsell and Wade sparked a drive for a first on the Tech 29, a pass, Wade to Hartsell, making the first. Mack Powell drove for six, but Wade lost one and Zeke Zametto three as the quarter ended.

Tech took over on downs on their 25 to start the second period, but was penalized to the 11, fumbled, and Northeast recovered on the Bulldog nine for the Redskins' first big chance. Wade and Zametto alternated for four whacks at the line and were stopped half a yard short of a touchdown, and Tech kicked out. Just before the half ended, the rivals tried aerials without success, swapping interceptions as time ran out.

Tech got its first offensive threat moving in the third quarter, getting possession on the Bulldog 33 and driving for four successive first downs in a drive to the Indian 19, but a 15-yard penalty stalled the Tech drive and the Bulldogs tried to pick up lost ground through the air, A. L. Williams hitting Sid Anderson six a six-yard gain before Wade stopped him. Then Anderson and Wade, coming up in a heated scramble, were expelled from the game. The Tribe took over on downs at this point and kicked out to the Bulldog 20, and a 15-yard penalty put the Techmen back on their five.

Tech punted out to their 49, another penalty quickly gave the Tribe a first on the Bulldog 33, and Everett Reynolds passed to Hartsell for a first on 14. A running play lost three as the final period came up.

Jimmy Childress, Redskin center from Ruston, was sent back to try for a field goal on fourth down at the 12, but the boot failed.

Tech charged out, driving to the Indian 44 before Childress stopped the march with a pass interception. Punts were swapped with Northeast getting the second of the exchange on its 42. Zametto passed to Hartsell for a first on Tech's 24. Robert McGough ran for four, and then Reynolds uncorked his touchdown pass to Laird at about the ten, and Laird sprinted over. Zametto kicked the point.

Tech tried desperately with passes to pull the game out of the fire in the waning minutes, but couldn't put it over.

Southeastern Win Edges Demons Out Of GSC Race, 15-20

HAMMOND, La., Nov. 17 (AP)—Southeastern Louisiana College today eliminated Northwestern State from the Gulf States Conference championship race and kept itself in dramatic contention by beating Northwestern 20-15.

Louisiana Tech, if it defeats Northeast State tonight, will take the championship. But if it loses, the new champion is SLC. A tie would give both Tech and SLC a share of the title.

SLC's Bill Hawkins, whose blocked punt almost gave Northwestern a winning margin, scored twice in the second half to give his team the victory.

Hawkins started the SLC scoring when he passed 15 yards to end Glen Dossett for a touchdown in the first quarter. Northwestern tied it up on a 59-yard pass play from quarterback Red McNew to end Bill Booth.

Tackle Charley Johnson blocked and pounced on Hawkins' punt in the third quarter to give Northwestern another two points. A 52-yard Northwestern drive followed with fullback Charley Tolar running 17 yards around right end for the touchdown. Harry Fontenot kicked the extra point.

SLC followed with two scoring drives. The touchdowns came on one-yard and three-yard plunges, both by Hawkins. Ken Bailey kicked two extra points.

NSC scoring — touchdowns: Booth (59, pass-run from NcNew); Tolar (17, run). Safety: Johnson. Conversion: Fontenot.

LaSalle Floors Mississippi Team In 41-13 Batle

WASHINGTON, Miss., Nov. 17—(Special)—LaSalle quarterback Everett Brook scored four touchdowns here Saturday night to lead his Louisiana team to a 41-13 triumph over Washington Pirates.

The visitors scored in every quarter with Lynn Gaines and Brook doing the chores in the first stanza. Gaines went through on a six-yard dash and Broks scored from seven yards out. Boles followed Brook's tally with his first of five conversions for the night.

Don Long and Brooks were the LaSalle scorers in the second quarter. Then the amazing Brooks added another six-pointer in the third and fourth.

Porkers Shatter Stalled Ponies On 27-13 Count

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17 (UP)—Arkansas found a hidden lode of scatback talent Saturday and shook four different ball-carriers loose for long gains to beat Southern Methodist 27-13 before a crowd of 34 000.

Still rattled by the 33-7 walloping they took from Texas A&M last week, the Mustangs were unable to get an effective attack under way. The Ponies scored early in the second quarter, after an Arkansas penalty placed the ball on the Razorbacks' one-yard line with a Mustang first down to boot.

SMU's final score was chalked up by the Mustangs' second string with less than a minute left in the game.

Arkansas ran from its usual pigeon-toed T formation but alternated into a single wing for the first time this year.

Arkansas scored twice in the second quarter and twice again in the third. All four touchdowns originated from pass interceptions.

Quarterback Don Christian went 30 yards for the first Arkansas score. Halfback Ronnie Underwood scored on a 43-yard run, Donnie Stone tallied on another 43-yard run and James Monroe scored from four yards out after setting up the touchdown with a 26-yard sneak up the middle.

Razorback guard Stuart Perry's tripping of SMU halfback Lon Slaughter, who was downfield for a pass, set up the second-quarter Mustang score. The pass interference penalty gave the Methodists a first down on the one-yard line and fullback Ray Masters capped the 17-play, 69-yard drive with a one-yard buck. Tommy Gentry converted.

Arkansas came back after one of Christian's quick kicks put the Mustangs in a hole on their 16. (Christian's other kick was a 69-yard pung that stopped on the SMU one-yard marker, the longest kick in the Southwest Conference this year).

Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas' crack tailback, intercepted another Arnold pass later deep in his owin with it. On the next play, Underwood took a pitchout and went 43 yards for the touchdown.

Christian scored again in the third quarter on a 36-yard run. Then Monroe made the final Arkansas score on a four-yard sneak.

SMU moved 68 yards in 11 plays for its second score. Billy Dunn smashed over center from the one-yard line.

Score by periods:

Oregon State Ekes Past Fighting Vandals, 14-10

MOSCOW, Idaho, Nov. 17 (AP) — Oregon State nipped astounding Idaho, 14-10 in the last three minutes to cinch the Rose Bowl bid today after the Vandals narrowly missed scoring one of the biggest Pacific Coast Conference football upsets of all time.

Trailing 10-7 with barely two minutes to play, the Beavers struck for 60 yards on a pass from Paul Lowe to Earnel Durden and then put over the winning touchdown from the five on fourth down on a run by Lowe.

Jerry Kramer's 35-yard field oal from an angle midway in the fourth quarter put Idaho ahead and it appeared that it would be enough.

But the Beavers, with their Rose Bowl bid possibly slipping away, recovered their shaken poise. Durden got first down on his own 27 to set things up for the winning play.

Thus, Oregon State will likely meet Iowa at Pasadena on New Year's Day in the first Rose Bowl rematch in history.

Iowa, 6-0 winner over Ohio State today, licked the Beavers last month at Iowa City 14-13.

It was easily Idaho's best game of the season. Oregon State closes out against Oregon Thursday but even a loss there would give OSC the Rose Bowl bid.

Maroons Blast LSU, 32-13

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Sophomore Billy Stacy put on a dazzling one-man show tonight, romping for three touchdowns and setting up two more as Mississippi State bounced Louisiana State 32-13.

The fleet 178-pound quarterback raced a punt back 45 yards for one score, ran 12 yards and eight yards for two more touchdowns, passed 22 yards for a fourth, and cleverly quarterbacked a 42-yard drive for the other State score.

Stacy, the Southeastern Conference's leading ground gainer, carried 19 times for 105 yards and completed four of 13 passes for 71 yards.

The victory gave Mississippi State a 2-4 record in SEC play and 4-5 overall mark. LSU now has a 0-5 SEC mark and a 1-7 for the season.

Both LSU scores came in the fourth quarter after Mississippi State piled up a 26-0 lead.

LSU drove 53 yards in 11 plays for its first touchdown with fullback Jimmy Taylor diving over from the one, then kicking the extra point.

The final LSU tally came on a 53-yard pass from quarterback M. C. Reynolds to end John Wood.

Some 25,000 chilled fans saw the game, last home contest for LSU this season.

Stacy rolled two kicks dead on the LSU 7 in the first quarter to set the stage for the 5-play 36-yard drive for the Mississippi State score.

LSU's J. W. Brodnax raced 94 yards with a Mississippi State punt early in the second quarter, walking a tightrope down the sidelines, but the play was called back for a clipping penalty and LSU was penalized to its one-yard line.

When the Tigers kicked out Stacy carried the ball back for a touchdown.

Center Jimmy Dodd set up the third Mississippi State score with a 23-yard runback of a pass interception. With Stacy faking deftly, Mississippi State drove 42 yards in six plays. Fullback Frank Sabbatini ran 18 yards, eight and finally four for the score.

The first time Mississippi State got the ball in the third period, Stacy directed a 74-yard drive in 10 plays. He raced around left end from the eight for the touchdown.

After the two LSU tallies, Mississippi State put in its first team briefly and Stacy tossed 22 yards to end Levane Hollingshead for the fifth score.

In addition to throwing one touchdown pass, Reynolds also was the top LSU runner, gaining 65 yards in 7 plays for a 9.3 average.

LSU gained 234 yards compared to 235 for Mississippi State and outgained Mississippi State 99 to 78 in passing, but one fumble and four pass interceptions kept the LSU offense sputtering around midfield most of the night.

Inspired Northeast Upsets Louisiana Tech, 7 To 0

E. Reynolds Pass To Laird Payoff; Tech Loses Title

An inspired Northeast Louisiana State football machine, playing ball as no Redskin team has done in many years, upset Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs, 7 to 0, here last night at Brown Field before an estimated crowd of 5,500 with the payoff play being a pass from Everett Reynolds to end Billy Joe Laird at little past the midway point in the final quarter.

The defeat knocked the Techmen out of the Gulf States Conference championship and handed the diadem over to the Southeastern Lions who defeated Northwestern yesterday at Hammond, 20-15. Tech had earlier beaten Southeastern but had been tied by Northwestern. Northeast lost to both Southeastern and Northwestern and had no chance at the title last night, but Coach Devone Payne's Tribesmen played like champions to spoil the visitors.

STATISTICS	Tech	ALT N'east
First downs	10	5
Rushing yardage	138	80
Passing yardage	49	101
Passes completed	4	4
Passes attempted	13	10
Passes intercepted by	1	3
Punts	7	6
Punts average	34	33
Fumbles lost	2	2
Yards penalized	80	40

Although the names and numbers were the same, the team that won for Northeast last night wasn't "the same" that lost to Northwestern. The Tribe was making tackles last night that it was missing against the demons.

The defeat actually takes nothing away from a battling Tech machine. It was just a case of the Bulldogs catching the Indians "hot" and playing like this was the game they had waited for all season.

The first quarter turned into a punting duel between Northeast's Aubrey Wade and Tech's A. L. Williams when vicious tackling turned the battle into a defensive scramble until late in the period when the Redskins developed a threat after Wade downed a Tech punt on the Bulldog 41.

Tony Hartsell and Wade sparked a drive for a first on the Tech 20, a pass, Wade to Hartsell, making the first. Mack Powell drove for six, but Wade lost one and Zeke Zametto three as the quarter ended.

Tech took over on downs on their 25 to start the second period, but was penalized to the 11, fumbled, and Northeast recovered on the Bulldog nine for the Redskins' first big chance. Wade and Zametto alternated for four whacks at the line and were stopped half a yard short of a touchdown, and Tech kicked out. Just before the half ended, the rivals tried aerials without success, swapping interceptions as time ran out.

Tech got its first offensive threat moving in the third quarter, getting possession on the Bulldog 33 and driving for four successive first downs in a drive to the Indian 19, but a 15-yard penalty stalled the Tech drive and the Bulldogs tried to pick up lost ground through the air, A. L. Williams hitting Sid Anderson six a six-yard gain before Wade stopped him. Then Anderson and Wade, coming up in a heated scramble, were expelled from the game. The Tribe took over on downs at this point and kicked out to the Bulldog 20, and a 15-yard penalty put the Techmen back on their five.

Tech punted out to their 49, another penalty quickly gave the Tribe a first on the Bulldog 33, and Everett Reynolds passed to Hartsell for a first on 14. A running play lost three as the final period came up.

Jimmy Childress, Redskin center from Ruston, was sent back to try for a field goal on fourth down at the 12, but the boot failed.

Tech charged out, driving to the Indian 44 before Childress stopped the march with a pass interception. Punts were swapped with Northeast getting the second of the exchange on its 42. Zametto passed to Hartsell for a first on Tech's 24. Robert McGough ran for four, and then Reynolds uncorked his touchdown pass to Laird at about the ten, and Laird sprinted over. Zametto kicked the point.

Tech tried desperately with passes to pull the game out of the fire in the waning minutes, but couldn't put it over.

Southeastern Win Edges Demons Out Of GSC Race, 15-20

HAMMOND, La., Nov. 17 (AP)—Southeastern Louisiana College today eliminated Northwestern State from the Gulf States Conference championship race and kept itself in dramatic contention by beating Northwestern 20-15.

Louisiana Tech, if it defeats Northeast State tonight, will take the championship. But if it loses, the new champion is SLC. A tie would give both Tech and SLC a share of the title.

SLC's Bill Hawkins, whose blocked punt almost gave Northwestern a winning margin, scored twice in the second half to give his team the victory.

Hawkins started the SLC scoring when he passed 15 yards to end Glen Dossett for a touchdown in the first quarter. Northwestern tied it up on a 59-yard pass play from quarterback Red McNew to end Bill Booth.

Tackle Charley Johnson blocked and pounced on Hawkins' punt in the third quarter to give Northwestern another two points. A 52-yard Northwestern drive followed with fullback Charley Tolar running 17 yards around right end for the touchdown. Harry Fontenot kicked the extra point.

SLC followed with two scoring drives. The touchdowns came on one-yard and three-yard plunges, both by Hawkins. Ken Bailey kicked two extra points.

NSC	0	6	9	0	—15
SLC	6	0	7	7	—20

NSC scoring — touchdowns: Booth (59, pass-run from NcNew); Tolar (17, run). Safety: Johnson. Conversion: Fontenot.

LaSalle Floors Mississippi Team In 41-13 Batle

WASHINGTON, Miss., Nov. 17—(Special)— LaSalle quarterback Everett Brook scored four touchdowns here Saturday night to lead his Louisiana team to a 41-13 triumph over Washington Pirates.

The visitors scored in every quarter with Lynn Gaines and Brook doing the chores in the first stanza. Gaines went through on a six-yard dash and Broks scored from seven yards out. Boles followed Brook's tally with his first of five conversions for the night.

Don Long and Brooks were the LaSalle scorers in the second quarter. Then the amazing Brooks added another six-pointer in the third and fourth.

Gibsland Bumps Down Simsboro To Win Cage Meet

SIMSBORO, La., Nov. 17 (Special) Gibsland swept past Simsboro, 60-46, here tonight to take the first place trophy in the annual Simsboro Invitational Basketball tournament. In the consolation finals Neville of Monroe downed Choudrant, 64-55, to lace third.

Hines was the leading scorer for victorious Gibsland with 22 points while Max Lewis led Simsboro with his 16 tallies. Mosley blazed the path for Neville, dropping through a total of 15. Lowe of Choudrant, who was also high scorer for the entire tourney with 153 points, paced his mates with 25 in the consolation final round.

Gibsland turned Jonesboro, 57-45, in the semifinals while Simsboro's organization was beating Minden, 49-48.

Neville spilled Quitman, 68-38, and Arcadia, 53-45, to qualify for their last battle. Choudrant clipped Springhill, 63-62, earlier in the day.

The following players were named to the All-Tournament team: Pixley, Jonesboro; Groves, Neville; Pullig, Gibsland; Lowe, Choudrant; and Max Lewis, Simsboro.

Pimlico, opened on Oct. 27, 1870, is America's second oldest active horse racing track.

Porkers Shatter Stalled Ponies On 27-13 Count

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17 (UP)—Arkansas found a hidden lode of scatback talent Saturday and shook four different ball-carriers loose for long gains to beat Southern Methodist 27-13 before a crowd of 34 000.

Still rattled by the 33-7 walloping they took from Texas A&M last week, the Mustangs were unable to get an effective attack under way. The Ponies scored early in the second quarter, after an Arkansas penalty placed the ball on the Razorbacks' one-yard line with a Mustang first down to boot.

SMU's final score was chalked up by the Mustangs' second string with less than a minute left in the game.

Arkansas ran from its usual pigeon-toed T formation but alternated into a single wing for the first time this year.

Arkansas scored twice in the second quarter and twice again in the third. All four touchdowns originated from pass interceptions.

Quarterback Don Christian went 30 yards for the first Arkansas score. Halfback Ronnie Underwood scored on a 43-yard run, Donnie Stone tallied on another 43-yard run and James Monroe scored from four yards out after setting up the touchdown with a 26-yard sneak up the middle.

Razorback guard Stuart Perry's tripping of SMU halfback Lon Slaughter, who was downfield for a pass, set up the second-quarter Mustang score. The pass interference penalty gave the Methodists a first down on the one-yard line and fullback Ray Masters capped the 17-play, 69-yard drive with a one-yard buck. Tommy Gentry converted.

Arkansas came back after one of Christian's quick kicks put the Mustangs in a hole on their 16. (Christian's other kick was a 69-yard pung that stopped on the SMU one-yard marker, the longest kick in the Southwest Conference this year).

Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas' crack tailback, intercepted another Arnold pass later deep in his owin with it. On the next play, Underwood took a pitchout and went 43 yards for the touchdown.

Christian scored again in the third quarter on a 36-yard run. Then Monroe made the final Arkansas score on a four-yard sneak.

SMU moved 68 yards in 11 plays for its second score. Billy Dunn smashed over center from the one-yard line.

Score by periods:

Arkansas	0	14	13	0	—27
SMU	0	7	0	6	—13

Oregon State Ekes Past Fighting Vandals, 14-10

MOSCOW, Idaho, Nov. 17 (AP) — Oregon State nipped astounding Idaho, 14-10 in the last three minutes to cinch the Rose Bowl bid today after the Vandals narrowly missed scoring one of the biggest Pacific Coast Conference football upsets of all time.

Trailing 10-7 with barely two minutes to play, the Beavers struck for 60 yards on a pass from Paul Lowe to Earnel Durden and then put over the winning touchdown from the five on fourth down on a run by Lowe.

Jerry Kramer's 35-yard field goal from an angle midway in the fourth quarter put Idaho ahead and it appeared that it would be enough.

But the Beavers, with their Rose Bowl bid possibly slipping away, recovered their shaken poise. Durden got first down on his own 27 to set things up for the winning play.

Thus, Oregon State will likely meet Iowa at Pasadena on New Year's Day in the first Rose Bowl rematch in history.

Iowa, 6-0 winner over Ohio State today, licked the Beavers last month at Iowa City 14-13.

It was easily Idaho's best game of the season. Oregon State closes out against Oregon Thursday but even a loss there would give OSC the Rose Bowl bid.

Maroons Blast LSU, 32-13

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Sophomore Billy Stacy put on a dazzling one-man show tonight, romping for three touchdowns and setting up two more as Mississippi State bounced Louisiana State 32-13.

The fleet 178-pound quarterback raced a punt back 45 yards for one score, ran 12 yards and eight yards for two more touchdowns, passed 22 yards for a fourth, and cleverly quarterbacked a 42-yard drive for the other State score.

Stacy, the Southeastern Conference's leading ground gainer, carried 19 times for 105 yards and completed four of 13 passes for 71 yards.

The victory gave Mississippi State a 2-4 record in SEC play and 4-5 overall mark. LSU now has a 0-5 SEC mark and a 1-7 for the season.

Both LSU scores came in the fourth quarter after Mississippi State piled up a 26-0 lead.

LSU drove 53 yards in 11 plays for its first touchdown with fullback Jimmy Taylor diving over from the one, then kicking the extra point.

The final LSU tally came on a 53-yard pass from quarterback M. C. Reynolds to end John Wood.

Some 25,000 chilled fans saw the game, last home contest for LSU this season.

Stacy rolled two kicks dead on the LSU 7 in the first quarter to set the stage for the 5-play 36-yard drive for the Mississippi State score.

LSU's J. W. Brodnax raced 94 yards with a Mississippi State punt early in the second quarter, walking a tightrope down the sidelines, but the play was called back for a clipping penalty and LSU was penalized to its one-yard line. When the Tigers kicked out Stacy carried the ball back for a touchdown.

Center Jimmy Dodd set up the third Mississippi State score with a 23-yard runback of a pass interception. With Stacy faking deftly, Mississippi State drove 42 yards in six plays. Fullback Frank Sabbatini ran 18 yards, eight and finally four for the score.

The first time Mississippi State got the ball in the third period, Stacy directed a 74-yard drive in 10 plays. He raced around left end from the eight for the touchdown.

After the two LSU tallies, Mississippi State put in its first team briefly and Stacy tossed 22 yards to end Levane Hollingshead for the fifth score.

In addition to throwing one touchdown pass, Reynolds also was the top LSU runner, gaining 65 yards in 7 plays for a 9.3 average.

LSU gained 234 yards compared to 235 for Mississippi State and outgained Mississippi State 99 to 78 in passing, but one fumble and four pass interceptions kept the LSU offense sputtering around midfield most of the night.

Newton To Mason Pitchout And Pass Earn 13-6 Triumph

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17 (AP) — Little Gene Newton quarterbacked a flashy bunch of Tulane ball-carriers to an upset 13-6 victory over Vanderbilt today in a Southeastern Conference game played in ideal football weather.

The 160-pound junior from Shreveport, La., pitched out to halfback Claude Mason from the one for the initial Tulane touchdown in the second quarter and set up the second marker with a screen pass to Mason in the third period.

Vanderbilt brought first blood in the second period when sophomore quarterback Boyce Smith skirted left end from the Tulane six for the score. The touchdown was set up when Smith recovered Ronnie Quillian's fumble on the Greenie 22.

Today's victory continued a Tulane jinx which has kept Vanderbilt from defeating the Greenies here since 1927.

The Greenies presented a brilliant array of speedy backs, including Newton, Wilcox, Mason, Quillian and Jimmy McCoy.

Halfback Phil King carried the brunt of the Vanderbilt offense.

Sophomore Danny McCall brought the partisan home crowd to its feet with a sparkling 49-yard punt return early in the third period, putting the ball on Tulane's 30. But a pass interception halted the threat.

A hard-rushing Green Wave line kept the Commodores in their own territory during most of the second half.

Mason's run on the third period screen pass was one of the prettiest of the game. The play netted 31 yards to the Vandy 28. A pass betted 19 and then Quillian took over to eat up most of the remaining yardage, scoring from the two. Emmett Zelenka converted.

Vanderbilt's senior quarterback Don Orr, out with injuries for more than a month, appeared briefly but was unable to rally his mates for a vitcory.

WATERPROOF, La., Nov. 17 — Newellton High's Bears defeated the Waterproof Tigers, 32-0, here last night in a district 3-B battle. Newellton held a 25-0 lead at halftime.

The loss ended the Waterproof season with the Tiger record reading four wins, a tie and five losses.

Leonard Hedrick charged over from the four for Newellton's opening first quarter touchdown, and E. J. Harper contributed another on a 20-yard end run in the same period. Billy Barfield booted the first of his two conversions behind Harper's TD.

Milford McVay and Sam Duchesne added second period TDs, McVay on a 45-yard dash and Duchesne on a plunge from the two.

The last half was scoreless until the final play of the game when Harper fired a 25-yard touchdown pass to Sonny Vines, and Barfield converted.

Steddum, Terror Appear On Wrestling Card Again

NELSON ROYAL

It's going to be a big night for wrestlers "Wild Bill" Steddum and the Golden Terror this Tuesday when they meet for their fifth straight week at Kallio's Arena. During that period neither strong boy has been able to win a clean-cut decision. And most of their clashes have ended in disqualification for both. Such was the case last week when a bloodless fistic brawl forced referee Loy Scarborough to halt the match with "no contest."

Promoter Gus Kallio, taking note of the unsportsmanlike conduct of both grapplers, stated that he would hold the money purses until both boys would agree to observe the rules of the Louisiana State Athletic Commission in a match before Christmas. Kallio said that if the duel was not staged before Christmas he would turn the money over to the Good Fellows drive.

With the double dip of legal tender at stake Steddum quickly agreed to the rematch but Terror hesitated stating that he didn't care to appear on the Monroe mat again if his money was going to be held. Later in the week, however, the masked villian decided that he would return this Tuesday if two referees would officiate. Kallio agreed and the match was on.

The rivalry will occupy the semi-final slot and be over a three fall route with two pins needed to win. There will also be a 90-minute time limit.

But the big attraction doesn't end there.

Holding down the main event post will be a tag match with the Black Knight and Johan Von Brauner versus George Curtis and Nelson Royal, a newcomer to the local family of canvass slappers.

The 5'-9" Royal is rated by wrestling experts as the top mat find in the past decade. His long string of impressive wins indicate that Kallio's customers are very likely to see one of the best all-around masters ever to appear here.

The program will kick off at 8:15 o'clock with the main event having the same arrangements as the semi-final.

Kirk Wilson Leads Uclans In 13-0 Defeat Of Kansas

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (UP)— Sophomore halfback Kirk Wilson became the "Mr. Everything" of the UCLA Bruins Saturday as he led the Bruins to a 13 to 0 victory over underdog Kansas before 21,913 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

Wilson, for the fourth consecutive week the nation's leading punter, scored the two touchdowns and set a new Pacific Coast Conference punting record with booming kicks that time and again got the Bruins out of tight spots. His passing kept the Kansas defense loosened-up.

It was a stubborn Kansas eleven that kept the Bruins scoreless the first half and showed signs of a running attack that might upset the dopesters who had pegged the Bruins a two-touchdown favorite.

But UCLA grabbed two breaks in the third and fourth period and converted both into touchdowns. In the third period, Kansas halfback Homer Floyd's fumble was grabbed by Bruin end Dick Wallen on the Kansas 13. Wilson went over from the one six plays later and Don Duncan converted to give the Bruins a 7 to 0 lead.

In the fading minutes of the final period, linebacker Dave Peterson scooped up another bobble by Kansas halfback John Francisco on the Kansas 24. On the fourth play, Wilson swept around left end for the touchdown. His conversion attempt was wide and that was the game.

Wilson punted four times for 232 yards and an average of 58 yards per kick—a new PCC single game record. One of his punts went 71 yards in the air from the Bruin 5 to take the Bruins out of danger.

Score by periods:

UCLA	0	0	7	6	—13

UCLA scoring: Touchdowns Wilson, 2, (1, plunge; 12, run). Conversion, Duncan.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (UP) —Alabama will play Houston and Virginia Tech will meet Kentucky in the opening round of the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament. The two first night winners will meet in the final game the next night for the championship, while the two losers will play a consolation game.

Texas Aggies Spill Rice, 21-7, To Cinch Loop Tie

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—The Texas Aggies clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship Saturday as they struck for three first-half touchdowns to defeat Rice 21-7 before a crowd of 36,000 in Kyle Field.

The nationally third-ranked Cadets, sparked by a fleet of hard-running backs headed by halfbacks Lloyd Taylor and John Crow and fullback Jack Pardee, assured themselves of at least a tie for the championship that has eluded them since 1941.

The victory also was an especially sweet one for the Aggies as it was the first time since 1944 that A&M has beaten Rice in College Station.

However, the undefeated Aggies have been barred by the NCAA from competing in the Cotton Bowl.

A&M built up a 21-0 halftime lead, but were stymied by a Rice defense which rose up in the second half to thwart the Cadets.

Rice scored its lone touchdown midway in the third period when quarterback King Hill plunged over from the 1 to climax a 57-yard march. Jerry Hall converted.

The Owls threatened again in the fourth period, but the final gun sounded as quarterback Frank Ryan completed a 30-yard pass to King Hill at the Aggie 5.

Pardee plunged over from the 4 to score early in the opening period, capping a 63-yard drive which took 11 plays.

The hard-driving, 198-pound Pardee scored again early in the second quarter, jumping over center for the final yard.

Center Lloyd Hale set the stage for A&M's third touchdown when he recovered a fumble by Rice halfback Ken Williams on the Rice 35. Taylor circled his left end and sprinted 22 yards for the score.

Rice threatened late in the second quarter, but a pass interception by Aggie end Eugene Stallings, a defensive star, halted the drive at A&M's 10.

Taylor converted after each Aggie touchdown.

Score by periods:

Texas A&M	7	14	0	0	—21
Rice	0	0	7	0	— 7

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdown — Pardee (4, plunge; 1, plunge) Taylor (22, run). Conversions — Taylor 3.

Davidson Score In Last Minute Defeats Vidalia

ST. JOSEPH, La., Nov. 17 — The Warriors of Davidson High scored in the last 30 seconds to turn back battling Vidalia's Vikings here yesterday, 13-6. The defeat was the ninth in ten games for Vidalia and closed the Vikings season. It was a year climaxed by a series of closely contested but heartbreaking defeats.

Vidalia drew first blood after fullback Sonny Franklin sailed 30 yards for a TD. On the last play of the first half St. Joseph went across for a TD, but the conversion was no good. The teams battled through the third and most of the final quarter without denting the end zone, but as time ran out St. Joseph drove to the V.H.S. three where fullback Dale Hoover bucked across the winning touchdown.

Iowa Grounds Ohio State To Brighten Bowl Hopes

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Nov. 17 (AP)—Iowa's Hawks soared right into football heaven today with a 6-0 victory over Ohio State for at least a share of the Big Ten championship and a Rose Bowl appearance.

Not since 1922 has an Iowa team shared the title and never has Iowa shown in a bowl game.

The tremendous victory, which sent a crowd of 57,732 slightly mad at the finish, gave Iowa a 5-1 Big Ten record. The Hawks would get an undisputed championship if Michigan defeats Ohio State next Saturday.

Ohio State came into the contest with a 4-0 season mark and a record-breaking string of 17 conference victories. But the defending conference champions, shooting for an unprecedented third straight undisputed title were licked by an Iowa squad that refused to lose.

The only score of the bruising battle was a 17-yard pass in the third period from Kenny Ploen to Jim Gibbons just inside the end zone. The touchdown climaxed an Iowa spurt from its 37 after the kickoff.

Iowa got a big lift on a pass interference ruling against halfback Don Clark that landed Iowa on the Ohio State 20. The Hawks made the most of it two plays later on Ploen's arrow-straight throw to Gibbons, the big end.

Iowa was unbeatable after that touchdown. The Iowa defense confined the normally hard-punching Ohio backs, who had rolled up an average of 308 yards a game, to only three first downs in the last half after getting six in the first half.

The Buckeyes had only 100 yards by rushing at the finish.

Iowa	0	0	6	0—6

Iowa scoring — touchdowns: Gibbons (17, pass from Ploen).

Tennessee Breaks Tie In 3rd Period To Grab 27-7 Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17 (AP)—With fullback Carl Smith giving Tennessee's bowl-bound express its momentum, the top-ranked Vols rolled past Mississippi, 27-7, today to remain unbeaten and untied.

A partisan throng of 42,000 saw the Vols yield a touchdown to the fired-up Rebels on the opening kickoff and strike back viciously for their eighth straight victory of the season.

Smith, 190-pound sophomore from Washington Courthouse, Ohio, scored three times for Tennessee as the Vols ripped apart Mississippi's defenses for 383 yards rushing and passing.

Mississippi had gone into the game with the best defense, statistically, of any college football team in the country. In previous contests, the Rebels had yielded only 163.6 yards a game.

Stung by falling behind for the first time this season, Tennessee got its single wing powerhouse rolling in the second period with Smith plunging from the one for the Vols first TD. Sammy Burklow made good the first of two conversions.

The Vols added two more in the third period on a 52-yard runback of an intercepted pass by fullback Tommy Bronson and a 31-yard run by Smith.

Smith put the frosting on the cake with a 12-yard touchdown gallop late in the fourth quarter.

Okies Massacre Missouri, 67-14, For New Record

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners, obviously enraged because they were relegaged to the No. 2 spot in the Associated Press football rankings vented their fury on a good Missouri eleven today with 10 touchdowns for a 67-14 victory.

The triumph gave Oklahoma its 38th straight victory — a modern record — and its ninth straight Big Seven Conference title under Coach Bud Wilkinson.

Oklahoma dropped from first to second in the national ratings by Tennessee this week, is now undefeated in 48 conference tilts.

The Sooners scored handily both on the ground and in the air, with all - America Tommy McDonald tallying twice including one TD on a 57-yard romp.

Another pair was made by his halfback mate Clendon Thomas.

Missouri showed spotty class, mostly with Tiger quarterback Jimmy Hunter running his bootleg play, but alert Oklahoma cut off scoring drives by intercepting Hunter's passes on the Sooner three in the second and third periods.

Both Missouri touchdowns came in the final quarter as Wilkinson was using his entire squad of 55.

Fourth string quarterback Ken Clemensen passed for both Tiger touchdowns, pitching the first two yards to Fred Henger over the goal and the second to George Boucher for seven yards as time ran out in the game.

While the deadly touchdown twins of McDonald and Thomas each made two tallies, the other six were distributed among Carl Dodd, Jakie Sandifer, Dale Sherrod, Don Stiller, David Baker, and John Pellow.

TCU Drops Texas, 46-0; Cotton Bowl Appears Nearer

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 17 UP—James Swink galloped 72 yards for the first of four touchdowns on Texas Christian's first play of the game Saturday as he led TCU to a crushing 46-0 defeat of Texas and a long stride toward the Cotton Bowl.

The talented Rusk, Tex., rambler ambled to a new Southwest Conference rushing record with that play, then caught touchdown passes of 25 and 32 yards from quarterback Charles Curtis and plunged one foot for his fourth in a spectacular final home appearance of a brilliant career.

Minnesota Takes 14-13 Game From Spartans In 4th

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 17 (UP)—Minnesota, refusing to quit, upset Michigan State 14-13 before 62,478 frenzied fans Saturday in a futile bid for the Rose Bowl.

The loss knocked Michigan State out of a chance for the Big Ten championship. Iowa's 6-0 win over Ohio State clinched the Rose Bowl bid for the Hawkeyes. The Gophers, sparked by substitute quarterback Dick Larson, went 70 yards in five plays to snatch the game from the Spartans in the final period.

The winning drive started when Larson took a Michigan State kickoff on his own 10 and returned to the 30. In three straight carries Larson went to the Spartan 34. A pass from Dick MacNamara to Dave Lindblom and a 27-yard twisting run by fullback Bob Blakley tied the score. Dick Borstad booted his second extra point for the winning margin.

The Gophers scored first in the 28 seconds of the first half when Bobby Cox landed a 12-yard touchdown pass into the hands of Lindblom in the end zone.

State came back in the third period and marched 78 yards in 12 plays, with Pat Wilson going over from the three. A perfect kick by Mike Panitch tied the score.

Koch Confers With New Industry Prospects In N.Y.

New York officials of two chemical industries have expressed interest in possible expansion in this area if the Ouachita river channel is deepened.

According to Walter Koch, executive vice-president of the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation, the chemical firms have requested they be kept informed concerning future developments in efforts to deepen the river channel from 6½ to 9 feet.

Koch, who had returned to Monroe from New York yesterday, said he had conferred with executives of more than 50 of the nation's major industries while in New York concerning potential expansion in the Monroe area. He also talked with various factory-locating agencies.

Most of the industry representatives, Koch said, seemed "fully confident of continued expansion of new products and plants to accommodate the tremendous demands of an increased population."

Many of these industries have expansion plans as far ahead as 1960, he added.

Koch said he found that "optimism on increased business expansion is tempered with caution and some uncertainty regarding the current international conditions."

Industry leaders he said, seemed "well aware" that a major world conflict would destroy many of their current expansion plans, affecting introduction of new products for the domestic market and the geographic location of future plants.

"Most of the industry leaders seem to be well informed regarding events in Louisiana affecting business and industry," he said. Koch added that he had been asked numerous questions concerning efforts being made to assure a good business climate in Louisiana.

A full report of the New York trip will be made at the MAIDCO board of directors meeting in December.

Arson Charge Is Faced Here By Ruston Man

Willie Heard, 24, of Ruston, was in the Ouachita parish jail Saturday charged with arson, Garland May, deputy fire marshal, reported.

Heard allegedly burned his 1947 Ford coupe Tuesday night in the LaFourche swamp off Highway 80 east of Monroe after removing three tires and wheels, car tools and the battery, May stated. All the items with the exception of the battery have been recovered, he added.

Heard's car allegedly was towed to the spot where the arson took place by another vehicle; the interior was saturated with gasoline and then set afire, May described. A passing motorist noticed the flames and notified the state troopers.

When the troopers arrived, they called in the deputy fire marshal who later arrested Heard. May said that Heard still owed approximately $100 on the vehicle when he allegedly burned it in an attempt to defraud an insurance company.

An investigation is still being conducted in the case, May added.

Iowa Cinches

gan's Pasadena hopes died despite a 49-26 snap against Indiana.

Oregon State, the Pacific Coast Conference team Iowa will meet New Year's Day, had an unexpected tough time with Idaho, battling from behind to win 14-10 on a fourth-down, 5-yard scoring run by Paul Lowe. Stanford bowed out of the bowl picture with a 34-13 defeat by Washington.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team, found itself behind for the first time this season, but rolled to a 27-7 victory over Mississippi that eliminated the defending Rebs from the SEC title picture. The Volunteers, with fullback Carl Smith scoring three TDs, packed the title and a bid to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl deeper in their bag.

Oklahoma won its 38th in a row by walloping Missouri 67-14 in a bid to reclaim the lead for the national championship from Tennessee. The Missouri defeat also cinched an Orange Bowl trip for Colorado as the Bifg Seven runner-up to Oklahoma, barred from a repeat trip. Colorado, its conference season finished, smacked Utah 21-7.

Duke made a late bid to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl with a 26-0 job on Wake Forest after Clemson, the ACC leader, had suffered its first but a humiliating defeat 21-0 at Miami Friday night. The Dukes are four-time losers — but the defeats were by highly regarded Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh after a 7-0 upset by South Carolina.

In other bowl business, Georgia Tech battered 'Bama 27-0 in a shot for a sixth consecutive bowl appearance, presumably either the Sugar or Cotton. Texas Christian made a claim to the Cotton Bowl host spot with a 46-0 romp over Texas, while Texas A&M, banned from the bowl by the NCAA eliminated Rice 21-7, and clinched at least a share of its first Southwest title since 1941.

Southern Methodist also was junked from a shot at the Cotton Bowl as the Southwest runnerup by a 21-7 defeat at Arkansas.

Syracuse sent up a flare that could be seen by bowl selectors from coast to coast, crushing Colgate 61-7 with Jim Brown scoring a fabulous six touchdowns and adding seven conversions for 43 points.

Notre Dame ended its unprecedented five-game losing streak, beating North Carolina 21-14 as Paul Hornung scored all of the Irish points — plunging for the clinching TD in the final 76 seconds.

And Yale, with almost unbelieveable ease, stomped Princeton from the unbeaten, untied ranks by a whomping 42-20 score to tie the Tigers for the Ivy League lead.

Unbeaten and untied Wyoming, champions of the Skyline Conference, just nipped Brigham Young 7-6.

Communist- controlled Budapest Radio broadcast a new appeals to workers Saturday afternoon to return to their jobs Monday — 48 hours after the original deadline of 7 a. m. Saturday.

The radio broadcast promised that workers returning to their jobs would get hot meals and free deliveries of food supplies "so far as these are available."

The offer followed closely an earlier announcement by Premier Janos Kadar's regime that all food supplies must be moved in government-operated trucks and distributed through Communist - controlled warehouses or turned over to the Red army.

Hitherto, peasants had given food without payment to striking factory workers.

The two moves indicated clearly that the Russians and the Kadar government had decided to use hunger as their newest weapon to break the strike.

State Supt. of Education Shelby Jackson and the United School Committee are asking for new legislative study committees to examine the pay situation. They also asked teachers not to strike "or you will lose public support."

Average teachers' pay is $3,875 and the new scale, if implemented, would grant raises of from $600 to $2,000 a year, depending on experience and education.

White teachers will elect a new president of the Louisiana Teachers' Association at 9 a.m. Tuesday to succeed President William Pitcher, Covington.

Nominees already include Mrs. Ione Aden Hill, Monroe, present LTA vice-president; Mrs. Yvonne S. Massicot, New Orleans teacher; and state Rep. Sidney Sylvester, St. Landry.

All are pledged to find permanent sources of revenue for teachers' pay raises.

Paper Mill Worker Caught In Machine

William Purvis, 24-year-old paper mill employee, yesterday was caught in a paper machine at the Olin Mathieson plant and suffered severe lacerations of the right arm.

Purvis, 307 Washington, West Monroe, was working around the machine when his arm got caught between a large roll and a small roll of paper, both being propelled by the machine.

Pulling him into the machine, the machine was stopped by fellow workers and Purvis was released. He was rushed to the St. Francis by a Mulhearn ambulance and hospitalized there.

It's nothing great, but it does enable an interested soul to render a pittance of aid and it makes her day brighter for the little service rendered.

Yesterday she opened up her inmost soul and gave vent to something that is worrying her. She asked this visitor if he knew of a room that she could rent at little price?

Pressed for some details she said: "Why I've been here four months and I should leave for it takes some money here and it's getting scarce with me now!"

"Yes," she said, "I do have a nephew way out in California but that is all. I can't expect help all the time, now I must try to do for myself!"

Confronted by such a condition, she still smiles, and still persists in the offering, the only gift available, a cup of cold water.

Did you know:

In the early days of the nation postage for a one-sheet letter cost up to 25 cents?

The present 3-cent rate for letters is the same as it was in 1851?

Congrss in 1797 provided that all letters and packages to George Washington could be mailed free to him for the remainder of his lifetime.

And on April 3, 1800 the franking privilege was given to Martha Wsahington — she being the first Presidential widow to get the privilege. This started a legislative custom that has extended to this day.

In 1813, to encourage vaccination Congress provided then for free mailing of vaccines.

The danger and drama of building the nation's airmail service was highlighted in 1931 when Congress authorized an Airmail Flyer's Medal of Honor.

These — and hundreds of other interesting and useful facts—are contained in a new publication issued by the Post Office Department, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

The comprehensive 138 page booklet containing many tables and covering postage rates from the nation's early days until today is entitled "United States Domestic Postage Rates 1789-1956." It is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C. at 45 cents a copy.

Reverting to the postoffice we are informed that two more long time employes are about to enter carefree lives. Uncle Sam is retiring them after faithful services rendered.

These who will retire on November 30 are as follows: Samuel P. Quigley, downtown Monroe letter carrier, and Olin W. Wolf, who carries the mail out through the country in Ouachita parish.

They are to have a little informal but heartfelt sendoff with the best of good wishes in Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn's office on the last day of the current month.

One line in the Soviet government statement said the Russians wanted to "establish strict international controls" to insure that disarmament proposals are carried out.

A major obstacle to East-West agreement on disarmament has been the question of controls to see that no side violates a disarmament pact. The West has insisted that borders be opened up so that international inspectors could go to any place they choose.

The Soviet statment did not spell out what it meant by "strict" controls. But the statement mentioned the stationing of inspection forces at airports, ports and military bases. In the past the West has not regarded this as going far enough.

ceived, it will be carefully studied." At the time he spoke, in late morning, the text was being received at the State Department.

Eisenhower discussed the subject with Secretary of State Dulles when he visited Dulles at Walter Reed Hospital. The President's special assistant on disarmament matters, Harold Stassen, called a meeting of state, defense and other U. S. government experts later in the day to begin work on the lengthy document.

The officials sought to determine whether it held new hope of breaking the long deadlock in disarmament negotiations between East and West and producing agreement on some concrete steps for reversing the trend in armament buildup.

It was considered certain that at an early stage of the study the United States would consult with Britain and France and eventually with all its NATO allies on the meaning of the Russian offer.

Initially officials here were inclined to regard the declaration as being in part a new Soviet maneuver to divert attention from Russia's troubles—the unrest in the satellite countries of Eastern Europe and particularly the ruthless use of Soviet military power to crush the revolution against Communist rule in Hungary.

Tim Middleton, 54, Injured In Wreck

Tim Middleton, 54-year-old Monroe man, was hospitalized early last night when he ran a stop sign and collided with another automobile, according to the City Police.

Hospitalized in the St. Francis, Middleton has lacerations of the upper and lower eyelid of the left eye. He was reported doing all right last night.

Marzett sustained lacerations of the scalp. The woman companion was brusied and the girl received lacerations of the face and right hip.

Fla. Man Hurt In Headon Crash Near Columbia

A two-car head-on collision about two miles east of Columbia on state highway 16 last night put one man in the Conway Memorial Hospital here and a 19-year-old Baskin youth in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Injured was 24-year-old Fred Griffin, of Panama City, Fla., who sustained lacerations of the face and a fracture of the upper left leg. Conway physicians last night said he was in pain, but doing well.

William J. Carter, Jr., Rt. 1, Baskin, was arrested by the State Police when his '54 auto, traveling toward Winnsboro, rammed into a car driven by Herschel B. Pair, 19, 705 Moore St., Monroe, the Police said.

Carter sustained cuts and bruises and received treatment at Columbia. Pair escaped uninjured. Both cars were completely demolished, according to the State Police.

people of the parish in separate drives, they have willingly combined their requests into one campaign for the benefit of the giver.

When the necessary budgets of all services are lumped together, Kellogg added, it makes an impressive figure. It may be of such a size as to frighten some. To others it may appear that their small gift would be meaningless.

There is a real need for gifts from every firm and employee group in the parish, regardless of size, if we are to fulfill our obligations to provide these services. Never before have the gifts of the small proprietor, from the employee who can give only two, three, or five dollars been more important, Kellogg said.

The gifts from the man who can afford to give sizeable amounts are almost all in. Yet we have only about 60 per cent of our quota, Kellogg added. The rest will have to come from many, many smaller gifts. Perhaps each smal gift seems unimportant by itself, he pointed out, but the total of many hundreds of such gifts is considerable. It is imperative, then, that each person accepts responsibility to the best of his ability, and makes his contribution to the drive.

All of us benefit either directly or indirectly from the services of these community organizations, Kellogg said, Likewise, everyone should have the opportunity to give. Unfortunately, a few concerns have not given their employees the chance to do their share toward keeping our community physically and morally strong, Kellogg added, and yet their gifts are urgently needed. These gifts from all employees as householders and citizens are desperately needed to reach the goal which is necessary to provide the youth services, the health services, and the emergency help which may be required by any of us.

The goal is still $67,000 short. The special gifts division has turned in 83 per cent of its quota, and the large firms division has over 60 per cent of its goal. The professional division has almost 75 per cent of its quota.

The contributions and pledges in the small business group, however, is falling short. Obviously, Kellogg stated, many firms in this group either have not been contacted yet by the solicitor or have not realized the importance of their support to the Fund. 'We hope that in the next few days of the campaign all firms will consider the advantages of having one campaign in place of twelve," Kellogg stated.We hope they recognize the importance of their pledges regardless of the size. We hope they encourage their employees to discharge their fair share of the community's responsibility."

'Everybody benefits when everybody gives. And only when everybody gives," Kellogg continued, 'will our efforts be successful."

Mariche was traveling toward Monroe when he approached the truck that had either stopped or was in the process of doing so. The Edwards auto moved onto the scene going toward Bastrop.

The Oak Grove driver wheeled around the truck to prevent ramming it and pulled broadside into the path of the oncoming Edwards '56 sedan. The truck was not hit.

An ambulance rushed the dying man to the Conway, where physicians said yesterday afternoon he died of severe chest injuries, a fractured pelvis, abdominal injuries and a fractured skull.

The Bastrop couple was carried to the St. Francis. They were reported last night to be doing well.

No charges have been filed pending further investigation, the state police said.

The body was removed from the Conway to Gay's Funeral Home in Oak Grove. Funeral services were incomplete last night, but are expected to be held possibly Monday morning.

is considered to be a big time organization.

Proclaimed the outstanding symphony of the South, the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra, under Hilsberg, has introduced a new and exciting spirit among major music ensembles. No longer does the organization limit its virtuoso performances to the Crescent City. Each year it tours a half-dozen southern states, and this year made its debut in the Southwest, playing several concerts in Texas and Arkansas cities.

The orchestra has the distinction of being the first organization of its kind in this country to be chosen by the U. S. Department of State to make a concert tour of Latin America. The tour was made in April of this year.

In the state-wide broadcasts of its Youth Concerts the symphony's music now is brought directly to more than 600,000 school children throughout Louisiana and to an estimated adult audience of well over a million.

Critics of the New Orleans Symphony have agreed that under Hilsberg's direction the music—whether Bach or Bartok - "takes on a new and richer meaning."

The strike hit every major port from Portland, Me., to Brownsville, Tex. Friday. Two Florida ports were shut early Saturday. It marked the first time every Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico had been closed by a strike and brought charges from southern shippers that union officials in New York were interfering with bargaining on a local level.

The ILA, ousted from the old AFL several years ago on charges of being run by racketeers, recently won a collective bargaining election against a new AFL-CIO dock workers union. The key issue in the strike, called at 12:01 a.m. Friday, was a union demand for a blanket contract covering all ports on the East Coast and the Gulf of Mexico.

Contracts heretofore have been negotiated on a local and regional basis.

The strike idled at least 50 ships in New York, the nation's largest port, and 40 in New Orleans, the second largest. In Philadelphia, 25 ships, including some carrying Army cargo, were tied up in the Delaware river. Every dock facility in Houston, Tex., was filled to capacity with 23 ships. In Galveston, Tex., three ships were stranded at wharves and three were waiting to enter the port. Three ships were idle at Beaumont, Tex.

Koch Confers With New Industry Prospects In N.Y.

New York officials of two chemical industries have expressed interest in possible expansion in this area if the Ouachita river channel is deepened.

According to Walter Koch, executive vice-president of the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation, the chemical firms have requested they be kept informed concerning future developments in efforts to deepen the river channel from 6½ to 9 feet.

Koch, who had returned to Monroe from New York yesterday, said he had conferred with executives of more than 50 of the nation's major industries while in New York concerning potential expansion in the Monroe area. He also talked with various factory-locating agencies.

Most of the industry representatives, Koch said, seemed "fully confident of continued expansion of new products and plants to accommodate the tremendous demands of an increased population."

Many of these industries have expansion plans as far ahead as 1960, he added.

Koch said he found that "optimism on increased business expansion is tempered with caution and some uncertainty regarding the current international conditions."

Industry leaders he said, seemed "well aware" that a major world conflict would destroy many of their current expansion plans, affecting introduction of new products for the domestic market and the geographic location of future plants.

"Most of the industry leaders seem to be well informed regarding events in Louisiana affecting business and industry," he said. Koch added that he had been asked numerous questions concerning efforts being made to assure a good business climate in Louisiana.

A full report of the New York trip will be made at the MAIDCO board of directors meeting in December.

Arson Charge Is Faced Here By Ruston Man

Willie Heard, 24, of Ruston, was in the Ouachita parish jail Saturday charged with arson, Garland May, deputy fire marshal, reported.

Heard allegedly burned his 1947 Ford coupe Tuesday night in the LaFourche swamp off Highway 80 east of Monroe after removing three tires and wheels, car tools and the battery, May stated. All the items with the exception of the battery have been recovered, he added.

Heard's car allegedly was towed to the spot where the arson took place by another vehicle; the interior was saturated with gasoline and then set afire, May described. A passing motorist noticed the flames and notified the state troopers.

When the troopers arrived, they called in the deputy fire marshal who later arrested Heard. May said that Heard still owed approximately $100 on the vehicle when he allegedly burned it in an attempt to defraud an insurance company.

An investigation is still being conducted in the case, May added.

Oregon State, the Pacific Coast Conference team Iowa will meet New Year's Day, had an unexpected tough time with Idaho, battling from behind to win 14-10 on a fourth-down, 5-yard scoring run by Paul Lowe. Stanford bowed out of the bowl picture with a 34-13 defeat by Washington.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team, found itself behind for the first time this season, but rolled to a 27-7 victory over Mississippi that eliminated the defending Rebs from the SEC title picture. The Volunteers, with fullback Carl Smith scoring three TDs, packed the title and a bid to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl deeper in their bag.

Oklahoma won its 38th in a row by walloping Missouri 67-14 in a bid to reclaim the lead for the national championship from Tennessee. The Missouri defeat also cinched an Orange Bowl trip for Colorado as the Bifg Seven runner-up to Oklahoma, barred from a repeat trip. Colorado, its conference season finished, smacked Utah 21-7.

Duke made a late bid to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl with a 26-0 job on Wake Forest after Clemson, the ACC leader, had suffered its first but a humiliating defeat 21-0 at Miami Friday night. Communist- controlled Budapest Radio broadcast a new appeals to workers Saturday afternoon to return to their jobs Monday — 48 hours after the original deadline of 7 a. m. Saturday.

The radio broadcast promised that workers returning to their jobs would get hot meals and free deliveries of food supplies "so far as these are available."

The offer followed closely an earlier announcement by Premier Janos Kadar's regime that all food supplies must be moved in government-operated trucks and distributed through Communist - controlled warehouses or turned over to the Red army.

Hitherto, peasants had given food without payment to striking factory workers.

The two moves indicated clearly that the Russians and the Kadar government had decided to use hunger as their newest weapon to break the strike.

essary two-thirds votes needed to pass taxes. They failed to find the votes so Long has refused to call a special session to appropriate the $18 million.

If education leaders are resentful of Long's decision not to call a session, they do not discuss it publicly.

State Supt. of Education Shelby Jackson and the United School Committee are asking for new legislative study committees to examine the pay situation. They also asked teachers not to strike "or you will lose public support."

Average teachers' pay is $3,875 and the new scale, if implemented, would grant raises of from $600 to $2,000 a year, depending on experience and education.

White teachers will elect a new president of the Louisiana Teachers' Association at 9 a.m. Tuesday to succeed President William Pitcher, Covington.

Nominees already include Mrs. Ione Aden Hill, Monroe, present LTA vice-president; Mrs. Yvonne S. Massicot, New Orleans teacher; and state Rep. Sidney Sylvester, St. Landry.

All are pledged to find permanent sources of revenue for teachers' pay raises.

British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden told the House of Commons that the Anglo-French Suez occupation was proper, "however drastic and unpopular."

Paper Mill Worker Caught In Machine

William Purvis, 24-year-old paper mill employee, yesterday was caught in a paper machine at the Olin Mathieson plant and suffered severe lacerations of the right arm.

Purvis, 307 Washington, West Monroe, was working around the machine when his arm got caught between a large roll and a small roll of paper, both being propelled by the machine.

Pulling him into the machine, the machine was stopped by fellow workers and Purvis was released. He was rushed to the St. Francis by a Mulhearn ambulance and hospitalized there.

is living, and where there are other women unable to even sit up in their beds. These are the special care of the woman with a crutch. She gets cups, fills with cold water (all she can readily find available) and proceeds from bed to bed to give the occupants a drink.

It's nothing great, but it does enable an interested soul to render a pittance of aid and it makes her day brighter for the little service rendered.

Yesterday she opened up her inmost soul and gave vent to something that is worrying her. She asked this visitor if he knew of a room that she could rent at little price?

Pressed for some details she said: "Why I've been here four months and I should leave for it takes some money here and it's getting scarce with me now!"

"Yes," she said, "I do have a nephew way out in California but that is all. I can't expect help all the time, now I must try to do for myself!"

Confronted by such a condition, she still smiles, and still persists in the offering, the only gift available, a cup of cold water.

Did you know:

In the early days of the nation postage for a one-sheet letter cost up to 25 cents?

The present 3-cent rate for letters is the same as it was in 1851?

Congrss in 1797 provided that all letters and packages to George Washington could be mailed free to him for the remainder of his lifetime.

And on April 3, 1800 the franking privilege was given to Martha Wsahington — she being the first Presidential widow to get the privilege. This started a legislative custom that has extended to this day.

In 1813, to encourage vaccination Congress provided then for free mailing of vaccines.

The danger and drama of building the nation's airmail service was highlighted in 1931 when Congress authorized an Airmail Flyer's Medal of Honor.

These — and hundreds of other interesting and useful facts—are contained in a new publication issued by the Post Office Department, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

The comprehensive 138 page booklet containing many tables and covering postage rates from the nation's early days until today is entitled "United States Domestic Postage Rates 1789-1956." It is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C. at 45 cents a copy.

Reverting to the postoffice we are informed that two more long time employes are about to enter carefree lives. Uncle Sam is retiring them after faithful services rendered.

These who will retire on November 30 are as follows: Samuel P. Quigley, downtown Monroe letter carrier, and Olin W. Wolf, who carries the mail out through the country in Ouachita parish.

They are to have a little informal but heartfelt sendoff with the best of good wishes in Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn's office on the last day of the current month.

One line in the Soviet government statement said the Russians wanted to "establish strict international controls" to insure that disarmament proposals are carried out.

A major obstacle to East-West agreement on disarmament has been the question of controls to see that no side violates a disarmament pact. The West has insisted that borders be opened up so that international inspectors could go to any place they choose.

The Soviet statment did not spell out what it meant by "strict" controls. But the statement mentioned the stationing of inspection forces at airports, ports and military bases. In the past the West has not regarded this as going far enough.

ceived, it will be carefully studied." At the time he spoke, in late morning, the text was being received at the State Department.

Eisenhower discussed the subject with Secretary of State Dulles when he visited Dulles at Walter Reed Hospital. The President's special assistant on disarmament matters, Harold Stassen, called a meeting of state, defense and other U. S. government experts later in the day to begin work on the lengthy document.

The officials sought to determine whether it held new hope of breaking the long deadlock in disarmament negotiations between East and West and producing agreement on some concrete steps for reversing the trend in armament buildup.

It was considered certain that at an early stage of the study the United States would consult with Britain and France and eventually with all its NATO allies on the meaning of the Russian offer.

Initially officials here were inclined to regard the declaration as being in part a new Soviet maneuver to divert attention from Russia's troubles—the unrest in the satellite countries of Eastern Europe and particularly the ruthless use of Soviet military power to crush the revolution against Communist rule in Hungary.

Tim Middleton, 54, Injured In Wreck

Tim Middleton, 54-year-old Monroe man, was hospitalized early last night when he ran a stop sign and collided with another automobile, according to the City Police.

Hospitalized in the St. Francis, Middleton has lacerations of the upper and lower eyelid of the left eye. He was reported doing all right last night.

Three negroes, who were in the second auto, received treatment at the St. Francis, also, but were released. They were Bud Marzett, 54, 510 McEmmery, Mary Robinson, 46, 717 Mark street, and nine-year-old Evelyn Hughes, 717 Marx.

The investigating City Police said Middleton was traveling west on Oak Street (wrong direction one-way street) when he ran a stop sign and collided with the auto being driven south on Hart Street by Marzet.

Marzett sustained lacerations of the scalp. The woman companion was brusied and the girl received lacerations of the face and right hip.

No charges have been filed pending further investigation, according to the police.

Fla. Man Hurt In Headon Crash Near Columbia

A two-car head-on collision about two miles east of Columbia on state highway 16 last night put one man in the Conway Memorial Hospital here and a 19-year-old Baskin youth in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Injured was 24-year-old Fred Griffin, of Panama City, Fla., who sustained lacerations of the face and a fracture of the upper left leg. Conway physicians last night said he was in pain, but doing well.

William J. Carter, Jr., Rt. 1, Baskin, was arrested by the State Police when his '54 auto, traveling toward Winnsboro, rammed into a car driven by Herschel B. Pair, 19, 705 Moore St., Monroe, the Police said.

Carter sustained cuts and bruises and received treatment at Columbia. Pair escaped uninjured. Both cars were completely demolished, according to the State Police.

people of the parish in separate drives, they have willingly combined their requests into one campaign for the benefit of the giver.

When the necessary budgets of all services are lumped together, Kellogg added, it makes an impressive figure. It may be of such a size as to frighten some. To others it may appear that their small gift would be meaningless.

There is a real need for gifts from every firm and employee group in the parish, regardless of size, if we are to fulfill our obligations to provide these services. Never before have the gifts of the small proprietor, from the employee who can give only two, three, or five dollars been more important, Kellogg said.

The gifts from the man who can afford to give sizeable amounts are almost all in. Yet we have only about 60 per cent of our quota, Kellogg added. The rest will have to come from many, many smaller gifts. Perhaps each smal gift seems unimportant by itself, he pointed out, but the total of many hundreds of such gifts is considerable. It is imperative, then, that each person accepts responsibility to the best of his ability, and makes his contribution to the drive.

All of us benefit either directly or indirectly from the services of these community organizations, Kellogg said, Likewise, everyone should have the opportunity to give. Unfortunately, a few concerns have not given their employees the chance to do their share toward keeping our community physically and morally strong, Kellogg added, and yet their gifts are urgently needed. These gifts from all employees as householders and citizens are desperately needed to reach the goal which is necessary to provide the youth services, the health services, and the emergency help which may be required by any of us.

The goal is still $67,000 short. The special gifts division has turned in 83 per cent of its quota, and the large firms division has over 60 per cent of its goal. The professional division has almost 75 per cent of its quota.

The contributions and pledges in the small business group, however, is falling short. Obviously, Kellogg stated, many firms in this group either have not been contacted yet by the solicitor or have not realized the importance of their support to the Fund. 'We hope that in the next few days of the campaign all firms will consider the advantages of having one campaign in place of twelve," Kellogg stated.We hope they recognize the importance of their pledges regardless of the size. We hope they encourage their employees to discharge their fair share of the community's responsibility."

'Everybody benefits when everybody gives. And only when everybody gives," Kellogg continued, 'will our efforts be successful."

volved directly in the accident, left the scene before they arrived and is being sought for investigation.

Mariche was traveling toward Monroe when he approached the truck that had either stopped or was in the process of doing so. The Edwards auto moved onto the scene going toward Bastrop.

The Oak Grove driver wheeled around the truck to prevent ramming it and pulled broadside into the path of the oncoming Edwards '56 sedan. The truck was not hit.

An ambulance rushed the dying man to the Conway, where physicians said yesterday afternoon he died of severe chest injuries, a fractured pelvis, abdominal injuries and a fractured skull.

The Bastrop couple was carried to the St. Francis. They were reported last night to be doing well.

No charges have been filed pending further investigation, the state police said.

The body was removed from the Conway to Gay's Funeral Home in Oak Grove. Funeral services were incomplete last night, but are expected to be held possibly Monday morning.

PARIS, Nov. 17 (UP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman was reported in "satisfactory" condition Saturday from an emergency appendicitis operation she underwent Thursday at the American hospital in suburban Neuilly.

A hospital spokesman said, however, that no date has been set for discharge of the 41-year-old, Swedish-born star.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—J. B. Adoue Jr., 72, a colorful, scrappy former mayor of Dallas, died Saturday following a heart attack.

Adoue, president of the National Bank of Commerce, gained fame for his continual feuds with the city council and his championing of the cause of the so-called "city man."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—President Eisenhower, who has been given lots of livestock for his farm, will get some Monday for his table.

Sen. W. J. Cleveland, Crowley, Long's Senate president pro tem.

Reps. Samuel Cashio, Iberville Parish, and Thomas Jewell, Pointe Coupee, administration House floor leaders.

Sens. Sylvan Friedman, Natchitoches, and Henry D. Larcade Jr., Opelousas, although Larcade opposed the convention. Many candidates for the convention ran on a platform of opposition.

Reps. Alvin Dyson of Cameron Parish, Vail Delony of East Carroll, Pat McGittgan and Anthony Vesich Jr. of Orleans, Lester Vetter of Red River, Shelby Alford of St. Helena, E. J. Grizzaffi of St. Mary and Nick Cefalu of Tangipahoa.

Others among the 21 winners considered friendly toward Long were James A. Comiskey, chairman of the Old Regulars in New Orleans; Assessor Trenton James of Rapides, former Rep. Horace Dugas of St. Charles, Nathan Cormie of Lake Charles, a friend of Asst. Atty. Gen. Edward Carmouche; C. C. Bell Jr. of West Monroe, Marcus A. Broussard Jr. of Abbeville and former Rep. M. V. Hargrove of Allen Parish.

Leading anti-Longs who won included Elmer Conner of Jennings, former Gov. Robert Kennon's running mate, and R. Norman Bauer of Franklin, former House speaker under Sam Jones and Jimmie Davis administrations.

The election count showed other well known winners were Chester J. Coco, Marksville, who was candidate for attorney general on the 1952 gubernatorial ticket of U.S. Rep. Hale Boggs; Rep. Risley C. Triche of Assumption Parish; Rep. Ford Stinson of Bossier; William F. M. Meadors of Homer, a segregation leader in the home area of Sen. W. M. Rainach, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation; Carlos Spaht, Gov. Long's unsuccessful candidate for governor four years ago, a convention foe; Sargent Pitcher Jr., winner with Spaht in Baton Rouge over a large field and another segregation leader.

Jules G. Mollere, bitter political foe of Sheriff William Coci in Jefferson Parish; former U. S. Rep. James Domengeaux of Lafayette; former Sen. Clyde Caillouet and former Rep. Dick Guidry of Lafourche Parish, Sen. Speedy O. Long of Jena, former Rep. Joseph Casey of Orleans, who was one of Mayor deLesseps Morrison's top floor leaders; Thomas W. Leigh, Monroe, Louisiana State University board member; former Rep. Cecil Blair of Alexandria, a Kennon supporter who led the field of 15 in Rapides Parish; Sheriff N. P. Trist of St. Bernard Parish, Judge Lessley P. Gardiner of Opelousas and Rep. T. T. Fields of Union Parish.

Republican leaders pushed into the win column too. Winners included Thomas E. Stagg Jr., Shreveport, who was considered at one time the top GOP contender for governor last January, and Harold Judell of New Orleans, deputy Republican national committeeman of Louisiana.

Rep. Vesich, victor in New Orleans Ward Five with 2,848 votes, beat former Rep. Albert Koorie, who managed 667 ballots as runnerup in a field of three.

In New Orleans Ward 12, Rep. J. Marshall Brown, who frequently denounced Long on the House floor, was fourth in a five-way contest.

Atty. A. P. Tureaud Sr. of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People missed election to one of the two delegate posts open in Ward Seven of New Orleans. He finished third in the field of 13.

All these election triumphs, however, were wasted on a convention that will not materialize.

is considered to be a big time organization.

Proclaimed the outstanding symphony of the South, the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra, under Hilsberg, has introduced a new and exciting spirit among major music ensembles. No longer does the organization limit its virtuoso performances to the Crescent City. Each year it tours a half-dozen southern states, and this year made its debut in the Southwest, playing several concerts in Texas and Arkansas cities.

The orchestra has the distinction of being the first organization of its kind in this country to be chosen by the U. S. Department of State to make a concert tour of Latin America. The tour was made in April of this year.

In the state-wide broadcasts of its Youth Concerts the symphony's music now is brought directly to more than 600,000 school children throughout Louisiana and to an estimated adult audience of well over a million.

Critics of the New Orleans Symphony have agreed that under Hilsberg's direction the music—whether Bach or Bartok - "takes on a new and richer meaning."

Stranded Ships

Hartley law. A Labor Department source said Saturday the shutdown is "being watched closely" but that mediators will be given a full opportunity to settle the dispute before court action is sought.

The strike hit every major port from Portland, Me., to Brownsville, Tex. Friday. Two Florida ports were shut early Saturday. It marked the first time every Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico had been closed by a strike and brought charges from southern shippers that union officials in New York were interfering with bargaining on a local level.

The ILA, ousted from the old AFL several years ago on charges of being run by racketeers, recently won a collective bargaining election against a new AFL-CIO dock workers union. The key issue in the strike, called at 12:01 a.m. Friday, was a union demand for a blanket contract covering all ports on the East Coast and the Gulf of Mexico.

Contracts heretofore have been negotiated on a local and regional basis.

The strike idled at least 50 ships in New York, the nation's largest port, and 40 in New Orleans, the second largest. In Philadelphia, 25 ships, including some carrying Army cargo, were tied up in the Delaware river. Every dock facility in Houston, Tex., was filled to capacity with 23 ships. In Galveston, Tex., three ships were stranded at wharves and three were waiting to enter the port. Three ships were idle at Beaumont, Tex.

DOOLIN, TAKE A LETTER IN REPLY TO THIS! FIRST INDORSEMENT, AND SO ON.

PARAGRAPH ONE...ON AN EVENING FOLLOWING THE RECENT ELECTION TWO OFF DUTY AIRMEN ATTACHED TO THIS BASE ENTERED A LOCAL PUBLIC TAVERN SEEKING REST AND RECREATION

2. In the discussion of the recent election, reference was made to the support given local candidates by Air Force personnel at Big Thunder AFS.

3. The Airmen pointed out good-naturedly that no Big Thunder AFB personnel had been eligible to vote at local polls, but had cast ballots by lawful absentee arrangement.

4. Expressions of amazement led to further discussion. While one Airman pursued the subject, the other telephoned for additional interested Air Force people to come and take part in the exchange of ideas.

5. A general round-robin discussion followed.

6. In the course of this stimulating seminar, some fixtures of the public house were disarranged.

7. It was suggested that the results of the assembly had been so exhilarating to Air Force personnel present that a modest sum be volunteered for the depreciation to the premises.

8. Members of the local constabulary who chanced to drop in following the incidents here described were heard to comment that such a spirited and open forum should have been held in this particular arena long ago; since the proprietor and his regular patrons had certainly been requesting it.

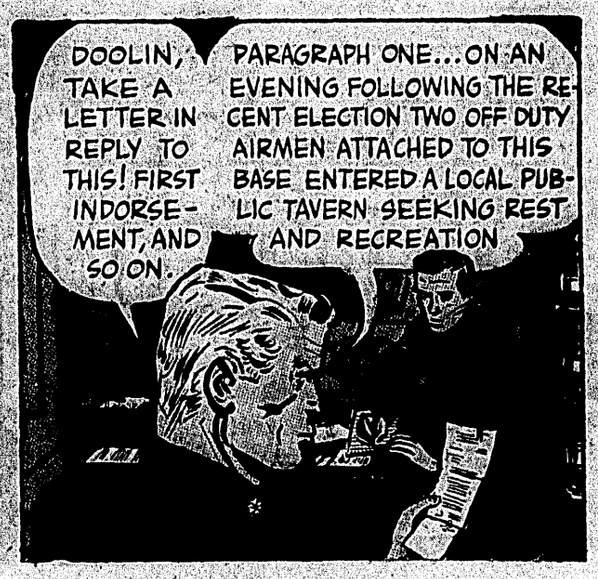
1. Photostat from Big Thunder ARROW



2. In the discussion of the recent election, reference was made to the support given local candidates by Air Force personnel at Big Thunder AFB.

3. The Airmen pointed out good-naturedly that no Big Thunder AFB personnel had been eligible to vote at local polls, but had cast ballots by lawful absentee arrangement.

4. Expressions of amazement led to further discussion. While one Airman pursued the subject, the other telephoned for additional interested Air Force people to come and take part in the exchange of ideas.

5. A general round-robin discussion followed.

6. In the course of this stimulating seminar, some fixtures of the public house were disarranged.

7. It was suggested that the results of the assembly had been so exhilarating to Air Force personnel present that a modest sum be volunteered for the depreciation to the premises.

8. Members of the local constabulary who chanced to drop in following the incidents here described were heard to comment that such a spirited and open forum should have been held in this particular arena long ago; since the proprietor and his regular patrons had certainly been requesting it.

...described were ...proprietor and his regular patrons had certainly been requesting it.

9. No charges having been filed and no arrests made, it would appear that the writer or the attached news story had been misinformed.

Fall means out doors in the South. What could be better than a ride—hunting squirrels after school—or a wiener roast? Off for a ride on the levee or some wooded trail are Susan Sperry, Ann Trousdale, Connie Wheeler, Dorothy Amman, Maida Strickland, and Kathy McSherry.

Autumn is Out-doors

With the squirrel season open, these young hunters spend their afternoons and weekends in the woods. From the left is King Stubbs, Jr. with Joe, who wants to go along, Steve Henry, George Riser and Tom Simonton.

Again this week we have a number of exciting new books for patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Written on the Water" by Vicki Baum is an exciting story of the international yachting set and its location is the western coast of Mexico and the islands of the Pacific. Don't miss this if you want a good adventure story of the present day. "The Warrior" is the title of the latest story by Frank G. Slaughter. It is the story of Osceola and the Seminole war of 1835. It is a story of intrigue, bloodshed and adventure. Slaughter has a large reading audience who will not be disappointed in this new book.

Everyone who read or saw the movie of "A Many Splendored Thing" by Han Suyin will want to read her new book called "And the Rain My Drink". The setting of this story is in Malaya. It is a story of modern times in an Oriental setting. Don't miss it. "Winter Quarters" by Alfred Duggan is a novel about a soldier of the Roman Empire. It is a story of a soldier who served in Caesar's army and presents a colorful picture of that time. Another historical novel which will be extremely popular is "The Spanish Bridegroom" by Jean Plaidy. It is the story of Phillip of Spain who married Mary Tudor of England. If you have not read any of Miss Plaidy's earlier novels, you can be assured that she is one of the best writers of historical novels. If you have read the others, you will be eager to get this one.

"Peyton Place" by Grace Metalious is an extraordinary new novel that lifts the lid off a small New England town. It is a penetrating study of human nature in a small town and is one that will cause a great deal of comment. Two new mystery stories of the week are "Birdwatchers Quarry" by Manning Coles and "Marked Down for Murder" by Spencer Dean. Both of these make exciting reading.

In the field of non - fiction there are also books which will appeal to many readers. Biography is probably the most popular type of nonfiction and there are three new biographies this week. "Alfred the Great" by Eleanor Shipley Duckett presents a very fine picture of this great king and the period in which he lived. "Queen of the Golden Age" is the story of the fabulous Grace Wilson Vanderbilt, written by her son, Cornelious Vanderbilt, Jr. It is the true story of an unusual woman, the opulent era she dominated and the historic Vanderbilt feud. "The Heart Has Its Reasons" is the memoirs of the duchess of Windsor. For the first time one of the principals in the greatest love story of our day, gives a picture of her life and the many events which have affected it. This is a book which will appeal to men and women who like a story of adventure and love.

"Bears in My Kitchen" by Margaret Merrill is the funny, warmhearted story of a city girl who married a U. S. Ranger. It is a story of our great west and is written with humor and charm. It will appeal very much to young women.

Practical books which help people with the problems of their own lives are always popular in a library. We have several new ones this week. "A Small Business of Your Own" by Thomas P. Murphy tells how to select, finance and start a business successfully. It contains a great deal of information of value to people who are planning to go into business for themselves. "Labor Law" by Carl Rachlin is a book which tells the basic facts of laws relating to labor. It should be of great interest to many people. "The Douglass Sunday school lessons are always eagerly welcomed by the reading public. We are happy to state that the ones for 1957 are now available.

A very useful book for young people is "Makings of Meetings" by Flora E. Breck. This is a book which tells young people how to conduct worship services in their church groups. An indispensable guide for young married is "The Bride's Reference Book," compiled by the editors of bride's magazine. It tells how to keep house, how to entertain and many other things that a young bride should know.

If you need information to help you solve any problem of if you are looking for reading material for pleasure, why not think first of one of the branches of the Ouachita Parish Public library. You will find the staff willing and eager to serve you.

The bidding:
South, 1 no trump; West, Pass; North, 3 no trump; East, Pass.
South, Pass; West, Pass.
Opening lead: Four of hearts.

There's a great deal of sales resistance to be found in most bridge players. Such ancient bromides as "always return your partner's suit" and "lead up to dummy's weakness" with which they have been brought up have left marks which are not easy to erase.

Against today's contract of three no trump West made the natural lead of the four of hearts. Dummy played low and declarer made a feeble attempt at deception by winning the trick with the ace.

From East's standpoint, if declarer's play were honest West's lead would have been from the king, jack, ten, in which case the proper opening lead would have been the jack and not the four. Therefore, when East was in with the king of clubs he realized that the heart suit had no future as a means of defeating the contract.

Should he lead diamonds to dummy's weakness? It would be the height of optimism to expect West to have sufficient diamond strength to defeat the contract when he evidenly had not enough in that suit to justify leading it.

East, therefore, concluded that the only hope to defeat the contract was for West to have the queen of spades and a high diamond. He, therefore, led to dummy's strenth, not to weakness, selecting for the lead the three of spades. West's queen forced out the king. Declarer could count three club tricks, three hearts, a spade, and a diamond, which is only eight tricks. He, therefore, was obliged to try the diamond finesse. When this lost to West's king the spade return enabled East to take three more tricks, defeating the contract.

The opportunity of this type of defense is not at all rare and a study of this combination of cards is recommended to the student.

Lawn Of Month Recognized

The Monroe Area Men's Garden Club has selected the yard of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hartman, 4007 South Grand Street for recognition as the Lawn of the Month for November. This attractive yard has as its center of attraction a rock garden constructed of rocks, petrified wood, coal, glass, stalagmites from Mammouth Cave and various other places which were collected during their extensive travels in the United States. This rock garden also has a fountain supplied by a re-circulating water system. It is made more attractive by lighting at night and the pool below it cotains water plants and gold fish.

It is of interest that Mr. and Mrs. Hartman take care of their lawn without additional help. The overall appearance and arrangement of the lawn shows considerable planning and forethought with excellent arrangement of planting beds and a smooth well kept St. Augustine sod. Another feature of this lawn is the ivy trained to grow on a wire fence which encloses a place for their two English Terrier's to play.

Bayou DeSiard Garden Club Has Meeting

The Bayou DeSiard Garden club met at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Rendezvous. Mrs. John McCarter, vice - president, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president. Following the business discussion, Mr. R. N. Davis gave an interesting talk on chrysanthemums.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. L. A. Branch, Mrs. J. C. Bryan, Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Mrs. E. J. Foster, Mrs. D. W. Ford, Mrs Crusman Gilette, Mrs. R. C. Holler, Mrs. J. H. Mrs Gillette and Mrs Bryan were hostesses.

Arrangements Of Fall Flowers Of Interest

The November meeting of the Madison Parish Garden Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Neal T. Holt with Mrs. H. J. Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland and Mrs. J. H. Devine as co-hostesses.

Of special interest were the arrangements of chrysanthemums and dahlias grown in the gardens of the hostesses.

Miss Clara Mize, as leader of the program, presented Miss Mary Moore Mitchell, who spoke on the life and work of botannical scientists from Linnaeus of the 1700s to Donald Culrose Peattie of the present day. The regular feature, garden hints for the current month, was given by Mrs. Dave Johnson.

Tiny yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles formed the centerpiece for the tea table.

YRG'S

"Parties are such fun and how we all like to have them!" The YRG's entertained with a supper party at the YWCA. The dining tables and YWCA Building were gayly decorated and added to the party spirit. The members and guests were: Joye McKelver, Dolph Ferrington, Iva Wright, George Mack Scott, Cecille Walker, Ann Armstrong, Barbara Stanley, Bennett Parker, Nell Wilson, Mary Joyce Walters, Wynona Ritchie, Peggy Womack, Terry Hager, Thad Busby, Bobby Joe Sanders, Helen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Delton Smith, Mrs. Hundley, Miss Sharp.

The club held its regular supper meeting on Monday night. Two special events were the highlights for the supper: one was the birthday cake and recognition of Nell Wilsons birthday. The other was the table decoration and placecards to announce Barbara Jo Stanley's approaching marriage to Acie Orr. Ann Armstrong gave the devotional based on the Scripture: Genesis 25:35-44 and a selection from the book, The Upper Room. The meeting was closed with the benediction.

The next meeting of the Y-VES' will be held on December 5 at the YWCA. Each member and special guests have been contacted to bring their ideas for "sharing" at this meeting. Anyone interested in the meeting is cordially invited to attend the meeting on December 5, Wednesday, at 9:30 a.m. at the YWCA.

The meeting on Wednesday, November 21, has been cancelled.

The meeting was opened with the Y-Teen song, after which Billie Sue Ballard read the devotional: A selection from the devotionals for Young People: "Power." Sharon Boyd, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Betty Johnson read: "The Parable of the Builders." Patty Rogers read: "Being Popular". Beverly Crenshaw read a poem: "Sincerely Yours". Miss Sharp announced that the Y-Teen rally would be on Saturday December 1 and the Recognition Ceremonial will be on Sunday, December 2. The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto.

On Monday afternoon the Shady Grove Y-Teens met at Shady Grove school. Dorothy Conville, president, presided at the meeting. Barbara Jean Worley read the devotional. Ann Walthall and Elizabeth McNease gave the program on "Popularity."

Mrs. I. T. Landhy met with the Senior and Junior Y-Teen clubs of Y-Teens on Wednesday afternoon at the YWCA to complete the plans for the Y-Teen Holiday party to be held the last part of December. The theme for the party will be "Winter Wonderland." Ida Lee Hamilton gave a very inspiring devotional using the verse from Philippians: "Never be anxious, but always make your requests known unto God in prayer and supplication with thanksgiving" and the thought: "The power of sincere prayer is unlimited."

On Thursday the 8th Grade club of West Monroe Y-Teens was organized at the West Monroe High school. The following were elected as officers: president, Barbara Awls; vice president, Pat May; secretary, Barbara May; treasurer, Pudgie Painich; council representatives, Rita Lolley and Patsy Knighten, and reporter, Judy Hicks The following girls will serve as a "social committee": Ann Irving, Judith Hammonds, Kay Harris, Diane Heard, Linda Brown, Jenean Gilstrap, Barbara May, and Judith Cathey.

All these various activities, clubs and projects are made possible through the community's support of the United Giver's Fund.

The bidding:

South, 1 no trump; West, Pass; North, 3 no trump; East, Pass.

South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: Four of hearts.

There's a great deal of sales resistance to be found in most bridge players. Such ancient bromides as "always return your partner's suit" and "lead up to dummy's weakness" with which they have been brought up have left marks which are not easy to erase.

Against today's contract of three no trump West made the natural lead of the four of hearts. Dummy played low and declarer made a feeble attempt at deception by winning the trick with the ace.

From East's standpoint, if declarer's play were honest West's lead would have been from the king, jack, ten, in which case the proper opening lead would have been the jack and not the four. Therefore, when East was in with the king of clubs he realized that the heart suit had no future as a means of defeating the contract.

Should he lead diamonds to dummy's weakness? It would be the height of optimism to expect West to have sufficient diamond strength to defeat the contract when he evidenly had not enough in that suit to justify leading it.

East, therefore, concluded that the only hope to defeat the contract was for West to have the queen of spades and a high diamond. He, therefore, led to dummy's strenth, not to weakness, selecting for the lead the three of spades. West's queen forced out the king. Declarer could count three club tricks, three hearts, a spade, and a diamond, which is only eight tricks. He, therefore, was obliged to try the diamond finesse. When this lost to West's king the spade return enabled East to take three more tricks, defeating the contract.

The opportunity of this type of defense is not at all rare and a study of this combination of cards is recommended to the student.

Lawn Of Month Recognized

The Monroe Area Men's Garden Club has selected the yard of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hartman, 4007 South Grand Street for recognition as the Lawn of the Month for November. This attractive yard has as its center of attraction a rock garden constructed of rocks, petrified wood, coal, glass, stalagmites from Mammouth Cave and various other places which were collected during their extensive travels in the United States. This rock garden also has a fountain supplied by a re-circulating water system. It is made more attractive by lighting at night and the pool below it cotains water plants and gold fish.

It is of interest that Mr. and Mrs. Hartman take care of their lawn without additional help. The overall appearance and arrangement of the lawn shows considerable planning and forethought with excellent arrangement of planting beds and a smooth well kept St. Augustine sod. Another feature of this lawn is the ivy trained to grow on a wire fence which encloses a place for their two English Terrier's to play.

Bayou DeSiard Garden Club Has Meeting

The Bayou DeSiard Garden club met at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Rendezvous. Mrs. John McCarter, vice - president, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president. Following the business discussion, Mr. R. N. Davis gave an interesting talk on chrysanthemums.

Mr. Davis displayed several varieties of the flower giving instructions and tips on the planting and care of each. He gave the history of the chrysanthemum dating back to the first one brought to America.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. L. A. Branch, Mrs. J. C. Bryan, Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Mrs. E. J. Foster, Mrs. D. W. Ford, Mrs Crusman Gilette, Mrs. R. C. Holler, Mrs. J. H. Huffman, Mrs. J. D. Kelly, Mrs John McCarter, Mrs. Barney Pate, Mrs. Jack Rushing, Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mrs. F. T. Smith, Jr., Mrs. T. R. Shackelford, Mrs. H W. Tolson. Mrs Gillette and Mrs Bryan were hostesses.

Arrangements Of Fall Flowers Of Interest

The November meeting of the Madison Parish Garden Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Neal T. Holt with Mrs. H. J. Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland and Mrs. J. H. Devine as co-hostesses.

Of special interest were the arrangements of chrysanthemums and dahlias grown in the gardens of the hostesses.

Miss Clara Mize, as leader of the program, presented Miss Mary Moore Mitchell, who spoke on the life and work of botannical scientists from Linnaeus of the 1700s to Donald Culrose Peattie of the present day. The regular feature, garden hints for the current month, was given by Mrs. Dave Johnson.

Tiny yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles formed the centerpiece for the tea table.

MR. AN MRS. BLAKE ALBRITTON

Albritton-McMurrian Vows Pledged In Home Ceremony

In a beautiful ceremony at 6 o'clock Friday evening, Miss Virginia McMurrian and Mr. Blake Albritton were wed in the home of the bride in Farmerville with Reverend L. B. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating.

The bride's mother is Mrs. Ruby McMurrian and the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs. E. J. Albritton, Sr., all of Farmerville.

Floor standards of white chrysanthemums and two seven branched wrought iron candelabras burning white tapers formed a background for the improvised altar. An arrangement of giant white mums and greenery on the mantle completed the setting.

The bride's neice and nephew, little Miss Sandra Kay Crouch and Michael Smith, lighted the candles.

Miss Myrna Hall, the bride's only attendant, wore a waltz-length gown of pink taffeta and tulle and carried a cascade bouquet of chartreuse fujii mums.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. H. A. Cruce of Wisner. Mr. E. J. Albritton, Jr. served his brother as best man.

The bride was wearing a balgerina - length gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The molded bodice, fashioned with high neckline and scalloped tulle and lace yoke, was embroidered in sequins. The long sleeves of lace came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of lace and tulle fell from her waist over multiple layers of tulle and crinolines. To further enhance the skirt, delicate appliques of lace adorned the forthy tulle.

Her tiered fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a tiny lace hat covered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her bouquet was a purple throated white orchid surrounded with feathered carnations, stephanotis, seed pearls and lace leaves. Matching white satin slippers completed her ensemble.

The bride's mother wore for the occasion a slender dinner sheath of cognac, peau de soie taffeta and lace. The brief sleeves and high neckline were of nylon chiffon, and the slim skirt of lace was smartly designed with large taffeta bows to add back interest. A small matching jeweled hat and a corsage of chartreuse fujii mums at her waist completed her costume

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with an imported cut work table cloth and ornamented with a tiered wedding cake. At the other end was the punch bowl with Miss Joanne Caskey pouring. Cutting the cake was Miss Ann Nyegaard. An epergne filled with pink carnations provided the central decor.

When the young couple left on their wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride was wearing a charcoal grey suit trimmed with black velvet, a white hat, and black accessories. The orchid from her bouquet composed her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Albritton will make their home in Monroe where Mr. Albritton is an instructor at the Shady Grove Junior High School.

Out - of - town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crouch of Bossier City, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Albritton of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cruce of Wisner and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tarver of Sicily Island.

A TIE FROM IKE

WEST PATERSON, N.J. (UP)—Passaic County Detective Joseph Muccio admired the tie that fellow on television was wearing and told his wife he would like to have one. Muccio, a Republican leader here, and his wife were watching President Eisenhower in a pre-election address at the time. Mrs. Muccio, unknown to her husband, wrote to the President. Friday Muccio received from Mr. Eisenhower a letter and the tie, a four-in-hand decorated with tiny elephants.

Girl Scout News

"I promise to do my best to love God and my country and to help other people every day, especially those at home." So goes the Brownie Scout promise, being earnestly taken by many new Brownies in the Twin Cities. The day of the investiture when a girl really becomes a Scout, when she has fulfiled all membership requirements, including attendance at four meetings to learn what Scouting is about, is a big occasion. In a traditional ceremony she is given her Brownie pin and her card denoting membership in the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A.

Three new troops of Brownies at Lexington school have just had investitures. First to get started was Troop 33, Mrs. Frank Halpin and Mrs. W. R. Curley as leaders. Registered on the troop committee are Mrs. Kent Breard, Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Jr., Mrs. Robert Clay, and Mrs. Charles Ullman. The following girls are members of the troop: Susan Allen, Susan Boyd, Sally Breard, Wanda Burrows, Sheila Kay Cantrell, Pamela Lynn Clay, Helen Curley, Peggy Sue Gates, Maureen Halpin, Carol Madden, Mary Lucille Myatt, Wanda Phillips, Tanya Lynn Sessum, Barbara Ann Smith, Catherine Vaughan, Carol Lynn Ullman.

Troop 33 took part in the work and play day at Pine Wood, even having a cookout and proving that the youngest Brownies can cook out doors. Last week they made original designs and put them on kitchen towels with tube paint as gifts for mother.

Another newly invested group is troop 32, Mrs. C. F. Walker and Mrs. D. M. Brant as leaders. Mrs. J. C Nolan, Mrs Kenneth Inabnet, and Mrs W. C. Spight on the troop committee. The following girls are members of the troop: Marsha Louise Boaz, Jane Brant, Linda Gail Coates, Ruth Ann Cowder, Sandra Jeanne Davis, Denise Duroan, Susan Futch, Caroline Inabnet, Beverly Gayle Nolan, Kathryn Ann Shaver, Mary Sue Spight, Karen Elizabeth Walker, Janie Wilbert, and Sherry Wood. This group also enjoyed the play day and work day at camp, washing the windows as their share of camp improvement.

Troop 21 is the third troop of third - graders at Lexington, Mrs. J. R. Hood and Mrs. Byron Grigsby as leaders. Serving on the troop commitee are Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst, Mrs. J. E. Wood and Mrs. Fred Parrish. The following girls are members of the troop: Sherry Dickenhorst, Judy Grigsby, Janet Hood, Candace Lloyd, Linda Mantrozoa, Paula Palmer, Mina Parrish, Carol Ann Sugar, Irma White, Dottie Whitfield, and Judith Conrad.

Donna Kay DeCelle tells us that Troop 1, a first year intermediate under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. Mosely and Mrs. John L. Tolar has divided into two patrols, with Ann Spurgeon and Sue Sheppard as leaders, Mary Louise Tolar and Jan Price as assistants. Diane Hailey was elected treasurer and Mary Murphy scribe. A Scout troop is a girl - size democracy where a leader helps the girls carry out the business of the troop and make their own decisions. Sounds as if Troop 1 is putting this into practice.

A happy holiday to all the youngsters this week!

MR. AN MRS. BLAKE ALBRITTON

Albritton-McMurrian Vows Pledged In Home Ceremony

In a beautiful ceremony at 6 o'clock Friday evening, Miss Virginia McMurrian and Mr. Blake Albritton were wed in the home of the bride in Farmerville with Reverend L. B. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating.

The bride's mother is Mrs. Ruby McMurrian and the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs. E. J. Albritton, Sr., all of Farmerville.

Floor standards of white chrysanthemums and two seven branched wrought iron candelabras burning white tapers formed a background for the improvised altar. An arrangement of giant white mums and greenery on the mantle completed the setting.

The bride's neice and nephew, little Miss Sandra Kay Crouch and Michael Smith, lighted the candles.

Miss Myrna Hall, the bride's only attendant, wore a waltz-length gown of pink taffeta and tulle and carried a cascade bouquet of chartreuse fujii mums.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. H. A. Cruce of Wisner. Mr. E. J. Albritton, Jr. served his brother as best man.

The bride was wearing a balgerina - length gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The molded bodice, fashioned with high neckline and scalloped tulle and lace yoke, was embroidered in sequins. The long sleeves of lace came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of lace and tulle fell from her waist over multiple layers of tulle and crinolines. To further enhance the skirt, delicate appliques of lace adorned the forthy tulle.

Her tiered fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a tiny lace hat covered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her bouquet was a purple throated white orchid surrounded with feathered carnations, stephanotis, seed pearls and lace leaves. Matching white satin slippers completed her ensemble.

The bride's mother wore for the occasion a slender dinner sheath of cognac, peau de soie taffeta and lace. The brief sleeves and high neckline were of nylon chiffon, and the slim skirt of lace was smartly designed with large taffeta bows to add back interest. A small matching jeweled hat and a corsage of chartreuse fujii mums at her waist completed her costume

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with an imported cut work table cloth and ornamented with a tiered wedding cake. At the other end was the punch bowl with Miss Joanne Caskey pouring. Cutting the cake was Miss Ann Nyegaard. An epergne filled with pink carnations provided the central decor.

When the young couple left on their wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride was wearing a charcoal grey suit trimmed with black velvet, a white hat, and black accessories. The orchid from her bouquet composed her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Albritton will make their home in Monroe where Mr. Albritton is an instructor at the Shady Grove Junior High School.

Out - of - town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crouch of Bossier City, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Albritton of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cruce of Wisner and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tarver of Sicily Island.

A TIE FROM IKE

WEST PATERSON, N.J. (UP)—Passaic County Detective Joseph Muccio admired the tie that fellow on television was wearing and told his wife he would like to have one. Muccio, a Republican leader here, and his wife were watching President Eisenhower in a pre-election address at the time. Mrs. Muccio, unknown to her husband, wrote to the President. Friday Muccio received from Mr. Eisenhower a letter and the tie, a four-in-hand decorated with tiny elephants.

Girl Scout News

"I promise to do my best to love God and my country and to help other people every day, especially those at home." So goes the Brownie Scout promise, being earnestly taken by many new Brownies in the Twin Cities. The day of the investiture when a girl really becomes a Scout, when she has fulfilled all membership requirements, including attendance at four meetings to learn what Scouting is about, is a big occasion. In a traditional ceremony she is given her Brownie pin and her card denoting membership in the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A.

Three new troops of Brownies at Lexington school have just had investitures. First to get started was Troop 33, Mrs. Frank Halpin and Mrs. W. R. Curley as leaders. Registered on the troop committee are Mrs. Kent Breard, Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Jr., Mrs. Robert Clay, and Mrs. Charles Ullman. The following girls are members of the troop: Susan Allen, Susan Boyd, Sally Breard, Wanda Burrows, Sheila Kay Cantrell, Pamela Lynn Clay, Helen Curley, Peggy Sue Gates, Maureen Halpin, Carol Madden, Mary Lucille Myatt, Wanda Phillips, Tanya Lynn Sessum, Barbara Ann Smith, Catherine Vaughan, Carol Lynn Ullman.

Troop 33 took part in the work and play day at Pine Wood, even having a cookout and proving that the youngest Brownies can cook out doors. Last week they made original designs and put them on kitchen towels with tube paint as gifts for mother.

Another newly invested group is troop 32, Mrs. C. F. Walker and Mrs. D. M. Brant as leaders. Mrs. J. C. Nolan, Mrs Kenneth Inabnet, and Mrs W. C. Spight on the troop committee. The following girls are members of the troop: Marsha Louise Boaz, Jane Brant, Linda Gail Coates, Ruth Ann Cowder, Sandra Jeanne Davis, Denise Duroan, Susan Futch, Caroline Inabnet, Beverly Gayle Nolan, Kathryn Ann Shaver, Mary Sue Spight, Karen Elizabeth Walker, Janie Wilbert, and Sherry Wood. This group also enjoyed the play day and work day at camp, washing the windows as their share of camp improvement.

Troop 21 is the third troop of third - graders at Lexington, Mrs. J. R. Hood and Mrs. Byron Grigsby as leaders. Serving on the troop commitee are Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst, Mrs. J. E. Wood and Mrs. Fred Parrish. The following girls are members of the troop: Sherry Dickenhorst, Judy Grigsby, Janet Hood, Candace Lloyd, Linda Mantrozoa, Paula Palmer, Mina Parrish, Carol Ann Sugar, Irma White, Dottie Whitfield, and Judith Conrad.

Donna Kay DeCelle tells us that Troop 1, a first year intermediate troop is a girl - size democracy where a leader helps the girls carry out the business of the troop and make their own decisions. Sounds as if Troop 1 is putting this into practice.

A happy holiday to all the youngsters this week!

Don't serve a meat loaf could after it is 24 hours old!

Best Method For Roasting Turkey

Thanksgiving is a day especially designated by our government to give thanks for the many blessings and favors we have enjoyed during the year. We are thankful just as our Pilgrim Fathers who established this holiday were, but in our rush and hurry, let's not forget to give thanks to Him who has granted us these favors.

Thanksgiving is also a day for social festivities, particularly family reunions. The family reunion calls for food and the turkey continues to hold first place on the Thanksgiving dinner table. But the turkey which we shall prepare for this year's festivity has been improved through scientific breeding and feeding. It has been grown quickly requiring only six to eight months. It is tender and requires a different method of cooking. The method of roasting as given in "Poultry Cooking' USDA Farmers Bulletin N. 1888 is as follows: Put seasoning or stuffing in the body cavity, finish with a large piece of bread crust. Also, stuff the loose skin at the neck. Fold the neck skin to back and fasten. Do not stuff too tightly as stuffing will swell when heated. Tuck the legs under band of skin and tie in place. The turkey can be roasted without stuffing but seasoning must be placed in body cavity — salt, pepper, onion, celery, etc. Bring wing tip to back and fasten. Grease the skin with melted, unsalted fat. This makes basting unnecessary. Do not put salt on outside of bird as salt may cause skin to blister and break, thus allowing juices to escape. Place bird with breast down on a rack in a shallow pan — uncovered. Turn during roasting so that other side of bird rests on the rack and finish cooking. For a turkey weighing 8-14 pounds cook 3-4 hours at 325 degrees F. A bird weighing 14 to 18 pounds will require 4 to 4½ hours at 300 degrees F. To test if bird has baked long enough, press the thickest part of the drum stick with your protected fingers—when the meat feels soft the turkey is done. Never prick bird with a fork.

The dripping left in the pan makes a nice brown gravy. Boil giblets and neck. Use the broth, too in the dressing — use giblets in gravy or dressing as desired. If you use this method of roasting, your holiday turkey, you will have for Thanksgiving a lovely browned bird with the best ever tast.

Thanksgiving Ham

If a smoked ham is the chosen meat for your Thanksgiving dinner here is the way to bake it. It, too is baked with dry heat. Place ham fat side upon a rack in an uncovered shallow baking pan. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees—8-12 pound ham, 20 minutes per pound or 3¼ hours; 12-14 lb., 18 minutes per pound or 3½ hours. As with baking a turkey, no water or cover is used.

Farm and City Week

President Eisenhower has designated November 18-22 as National Farm - City Week. These two groups whose way of thinking and way of life were rather widely different have come closer together and these groups will during this week take a look at their goals and achievements. The farm and city differences have been largely eliminated by education transportation and communications. Farm and city people speak alike, dress alike, live in the same kind of houses, send their children to the same kinds of schools and have the same social and recreational interests. Both have come to have a better understanding of their interdependence. Farmers provide food and fibers — business and industry depend on farmers for raw products and for a market for finished products. They are interdependent and actually have no competing interests.

We couldn't have our abundant American life today if we did not have a highly productive agriculture. If a high percentage of our people were required to produce the necessary food, there wouldn't be enough workers left over to make the television sets and the automobiles. By the same token, we couldn't have an efficient agriculture if we didn't have efficient industry to produce the tractors and the gasoline and the milking machines and the electric power and the weed killers and many other things that farmers need. Farm needs city; city needs farm. Neither can live without the other.

DOES HE LOVE YOU? HERE'S HOW TO TELL

By DOROTHY DIX

He loves me, he loves me not! Even when daisies aren't around to tell, the question is uppermost in feminine minds. "How can I tell if he loves me?" is the essence of many, many letters I receive.

Well, my dears, there simply is no infallible test; men, they say, are gay deceivers ever. But let's look at a few guiding facts.

Can you tell by his romantic love-making? No, a thousand times no. Adeptness at pretty speeches, ardent wooing proves only that he's polished the act to perfection. In fact, you are probably just another experiment to see how a certain line works. Generally, the more sincere a boy is, the more awkward his love-making.

Nor is jealousy a sign of love ,thought it's a heart-breaking fact that many girls confuse the emotions. Love is being interested in another person; jealousy is concerned only with self.

It is love when he begins to think first of his girl. When her comfort and desires come first, he's on the way to the jeweler's to buy that ring. If he's in love, he looks to the future. Money goes in the bank, instead of for doodads for the jalopy. He takes a job after school, or studies at night to improve his present position. He reforms his personal habits. If he has bad ones, out they go. If he has undesirable friends, they go into the discard, too.

And finally, one positive proof that he loves you—he asks you to marry him! Never, but never, trust a declaration of love that's unaccompanied by a proposal. A man who loves is willing to take on responsibility. He's not out to shirk it. A man's in love when he shows readiness to assume her support and charge accounts.

Words are cheap, and none come with less value than "I love you" spoken in insincerity. Man or boy ,the male who utters them, but continues to eye other ladies and spend his money on liquor, fails to keep dates or refuses to go to work is passing out cheap talk.

Please pay attention to this most important footnote: No words of love are more meaningless than those that precede the old, old line: "If you loved me, you'd give in." The foolish girl who believes that fairy tale is in for nothing but bitter disillusion. Don't let it get you!

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Or write for her free leaflet D-2, "Divorces—Separations." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Thanksgiving Theme Of Guest Speaker Tuesday

Mrs. Dewitt Henry will be guest speaker when the Women of Covenant Presbyterian Church have their general meeting Tuesday, November 20th at 2:30 p.m. She will bring them a message on "Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Henry has many outstanding accomplishments. She is a prominent church leader, both in St. Paul's Methodist Church and in the United Council of Church Women. She has also been an ardent leader in the League of Women Voters since it's inception.

In 1950, Mrs. Henry was named "Woman of the Year" for her work in civic, church and educational activities. The Women of Covenant Church are looking forward to hearing this outstanding speaker.

SEIGLE ASSEMBLY MEETINGS

The Seigle Assembly of God Church will initiate a revival today. The evangelist is to be the Rev. C. R. Davis.

He extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend all services.

Church Groups To Assemble For Thanksgiving

The Ministerial Alliance of the Twin Cities has arranged its community Thanksgiving day program for all churches interested in the two towns at Brown auditorium Thursday at 10 a.m.

The speaker of the day will be the Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor of the First Baptist church, in West Monroe, who is a speaker of note and as Baptist leader throughout the south.

Similar community Thanksgiving services are being held elsewhere in the Twin Cities for churches that are not affiliated with the Alliance.

We have received a program from the Rayville Methodist church where the Rev. W. D. Boddie will speak, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. on "Gratitude the Mature Emotion."

The Methodists and Baptists of Epps will have a joint Thanksgiving service at the Baptist church Thursday at 7 a.m.

The Rev. J. B. McCann, pastor of the Epps Methodist church, will bring the Thanksgiving message.

Bible Words for Today

HEBREWS 10:25 — "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another". (King James Version)

Many a pastor has gone home from a service in which he preached to more empty pews than he should have had to, and turned to this Bible verse for a measure of consolation.

It is significant to note that scarcely fifty years after the death of our Lord and the beginning of the Christian Church, the unknown writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews (it used to be attributed to St. Paul) was finding it necessary to implore church-members not to forget the assembling of themselves together. This, he said, was getting to be a habit (manner) of some.

Take the preceding verse and this one together, and the reason he urges for faithful church attendance is not so much what it will do to the individual but what his presence in the congregation will do to others: "exhorting" ('putting heart into') one another".

GEO. And BILLIE DAVIS

Famous Mission Leaders Are To Give Talk Here

Rev. and Mrs. George H. Davis, missionaries under appointment to the Central American countries, will be speaking at the First Assembly of God Church of West Monroe Sunday.

For the past two years, Mr. Davis has been pastor of the Bettendorf (Iowa) Assembly of God. Prior to that he was a national Sunday school representative of the Assemblies of God. In this capacity he traveled over 250,000 miles, speaking at conventions, training schools and seminars.

Mr. Davis' wife, Billie Davis, has gained fame through her story "I Was A Hobo Kid," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and the Readers' Digest. A movie of Mrs. Davis, entitled "A Desk for Billie," is currently being shown throughout the United States. The picture, filmed for the National Education Association, is being shown at teachers' conventions, P.-T. A. meetings, and high school assemblies. It has appeared widely on television, too.

Mrs. Davis' story will be featured in November 1956 on the telecast, Cavalcade Theater. She will be speaking at the state teachers' convention in New Orleans the week following her visit here.

The pastor, Rev. Phil Johnson, says the public is invited to hear these well - known speakers. Rev. Davis will speak in the morning service; Mrs. Davis will speak at the 7:30 p. m. meeting. The church is located at 715 Cypress in West Monroe.

Final Call Goes Forth To Raise Baptist Budget

"Jesus gave all, what will you give" is an expression which is running through the minds of members of First Baptist Church today as they gather at the regular Sunday school hour to make their pledge to the 1957 budget.

"The tithe is holy unto the Lord, according to the scriptures, and will you give less" is another question given serious consideration during the days of preparation for this all - important day in the life of this downtown church.

As has been stated, much time, thought and prayer has characterized this preparation period, and with confidence of victory, a record attendance is expected to hear the message by the pastor, and to file by the Ark of the Covenant with their pledges.

Following the regular preaching service, a turkey dinner will be served the workers in the banquet hall of the church, after which, they will go afield to contact persons unable to attend the morning services.

The night service is expected to be one of thanksgiving for the blessings received during the day. The pastor, Dr. James T. Horton, and the canvass director, A. B. Clarkson, are joined by the workers and other members in their expressions of full confidence that God's blessings will be showered down on this occasion.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Regarding the accidental death of your team mate, Dawson Trotman, I would like to know why God did not protect him so that he might have died a normal death. What might many people think when God does not protect a man who is in the service of the Lord? M M.

ANSWER: The missionary, David Livingston once said, "Until my work for God is finished, I am immortal." Dawson Trotman could have said the same thing. He would shout it down from heaven if he could. He lived a full and useful life and died as he lived, in the service for others. He had devoted years to winning men from eternal loss, and it is not strange that he died while seeking to save the life of another. We mortals cannot tell when our work is done. Only God knows when it is. Neither does God raise up some protective barrier around His own so that they are exempt from life's emergencies. If God's provision were as obvious as you suggest in your letter, men would serve Him for that alone. As it is, we live by faith and accept every happening in life as a part of God's plan for us, though we cannot always completely understand them. Philip's translation of Romans 8:28 says that "In everything, God works for good for them that love Him." We can be assured that since God did not withhold His own Son in order to save us from sin, neither will He withhold any good or necessary thing.

Science Church Plans Service For Thanksgiving

A Thanksgiving Day Service will be held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the church edifice, North Second and Auburn, on Thanksgiving Day morning at 11:00 o'clock. The service will include the reading, by the First Reader, of the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by the president of the United States.

The lesson-sermon, whose subject is "Thanksgiving" and which has been specially prepared, has for the Golden Text: "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving." (Ps. 69:30). Among the Scriptural verses is included, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17). Among the citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy is: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more" (page 3). A solo and hymns from the Christian Science Hymnal will comprise the music.

After the lesson - sermon has been concluded an opportunity will be given to those in the congregation who wish to express gratitude for blessings received during the past year.

Two NSC Coeds Will Attend 4-H Club Congress

NATCHITOCHES, Nov. 17 (Special) — Two Northwestern State College coeds have been awarded all - expense -paid trips to Chicago, Ill., to attend the 1956 National 4-H Club Congress, to be held Nov. 23 through Dec. 1. Sylvia Ward of Shreveport and Janie Krouse, Minden, both freshman home economics majors, won the trips on their achievement records in the 4-H program.

Miss Ward, first place winner in the Louisiana achievement contest, will repesent the state at the congress. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ward of Shreveport.

Honors that helped her win first place in the contest were active work in sheep, diary, food preparation, food preservation, clothing, home improvement, child care, leadership, handicraft, entomology, safety and health improvement projects. She has had exhibits in parish and state fairs and in spring livestock shows.

Other oustanding honors won by Miss Ward include trips to American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, to Missouri on leadership and livestock records, eight championships, 1955 trophy presented by Cedar Grove Kiwanis Club of Shreveport for the most first place ribbons in the Caddo Parish Fair, the 1955 Champion Swine Showmanship Plaque, and the Reserve Championship Plaque.

Miss Krouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Krouse of Minden, was named the state gardening winner at the 4-H short course in Baton Rouge.

At the National Congress eight $300 scholarships will be given to the most outstanding boys and girls in the achievement contest. The first two scholarships will be presented to the winning boy and girl by President Eisenhower.

Sales Tax Is Top Source Of State Revenue

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (Special) — The sales tax was the largest single revenue producer for Louisiana in the fiscal year ending last June 30, the Public Affairs Research Council (PAR) reported today.

Examining revenue collections for the last fiscal year, PAR said in its monthly News Analysis that "Louisiana is less dependent on a single tax than other states."

The sales tax produced 22 per cent of Louisiana's tax revenue for 1956, barely moving ahead of the severance tax as the major source of state revenue. In 24 other states, the sales tax was also the chief source of state income,rising to 55 per cent in the case of Washington.

Louisiana's severance tax yield was second only to Texas and represented a fifth of all severance taxes collected in the nation.

Thanksgiving Theme Of Guest Speaker Tuesday

Mrs. Dewitt Henry will be guest speaker when the Women of Covenant Presbyterian Church have their general meeting Tuesday, November 20th at 2:30 p.m. She will bring them a message on "Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Henry has many outstanding accomplishments. She is a prominent church leader, both in St. Paul's Methodist Church and in the United Council of Church Women. She has also been an ardent leader in the League of Women Voters since it's inception.

In 1950, Mrs. Henry was named "Woman of the Year" for her work in civic, church and educational activities. The Women of Covenant Church are looking forward to hearing this outstanding speaker.

SEIGLE ASSEMBLY MEETINGS

The Seigle Assembly of God Church will initiate a revival today. The evangelist is to be the Rev. C. R. Davis.

He extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend all services.

Church Groups To Assemble For Thanksgiving

The Ministerial Alliance of the Twin Cities has arranged its community Thanksgiving day program for all churches interested in the two towns at Brown auditorium Thursday at 10 a.m.

The speaker of the day will be the Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor of the First Baptist church, in West Monroe, who is a speaker of note and as Baptist leader throughout the south.

Similar community Thanksgiving services are being held elsewhere in the Twin Cities for churches that are not affiliated with the Alliance.

We have received a program from the Rayville Methodist church where the Rev. W. D. Boddie will speak, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. on "Gratitude the Mature Emotion."

The Methodists and Baptists of Epps will have a joint Thanksgiving service at the Baptist church Thursday at 7 a.m.

The Rev. J. B. McCann, pastor of the Epps Methodist church, will bring the Thanksgiving message.

Bible Words for Today

HEBREWS 10:25 — "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another". (King James Version)

Many a pastor has gone home from a service in which he preached to more empty pews than he should have had to, and turned to this Bible verse for a measure of consolation.

It is significant to note that scarcely fifty years after the death of our Lord and the beginning of the Christian Church, the unknown writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews (it used to be attributed to St. Paul) was finding it necessary to implore church-members not to forget the assembling of themselves together. This, he said, was getting to be a habit (manner) of some.

Take the preceding verse and this one together, and the reason he urges for faithful church attendance is not so much what it will do to the individual but what his presence in the congregation will do to others: "exhorting" ("putting heart into") one another".

GEO. And BILLIE DAVIS

Famous Mission Leaders Are To Give Talk Here

Rev. and Mrs. George H. Davis, missionaries under appointment to the Central American countries, will be speaking at the First Assembly of God Church of West Monroe Sunday.

For the past two years, Mr. Davis has been pastor of the Bettendorf (Iowa) Assembly of God. Prior to that he was a national Sunday school representative of the Assemblies of God. In this capacity he traveled over 250,000 miles, speaking at conventions, training schools and seminars.

Mr. Davis' wife, Billie Davis, has gained fame through her story "I Was A Hobo Kid," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and the Readers' Digest. A movie of Mrs. Davis, entitled "A Desk for Billie," is currently being shown throughout the United States. The picture, filmed for the National Education Association, is being shown at teachers' conventions, P.-T. A. meetings, and high school assemblies. It has appeared widely on television, too.

Mrs. Davis' story will be featured in November 1956 on the telecast, Cavalcade Theater. She will be speaking at the state teachers' convention in New Orleans the week following her visit here.

The pastor, Rev. Phil Johnson, says the public is invited to hear these well - known speakers. Rev. Davis will speak in the morning service; Mrs. Davis will speak at the 7:30 p.m. meeting. The church is located at 715 Cypress in West Monroe.

Final Call Goes Forth To Raise Baptist Budget

"Jesus gave all, what will you give" is an expression which is running through the minds of members of First Baptist Church today as they gather at the regular Sunday school hour to make their pledge to the 1957 budget.

"The tithe is holy unto the Lord, according to the scriptures, and will you give less" is another question given serious consideration during the days of preparation for this all - important day in the life of this downtown church.

As has been stated, much time, thought and prayer has characterized this preparation period, and with confidence of victory, a record attendance is expected to hear the message by the pastor, and to file by the Ark of the Covenant with their pledges.

Following the regular preaching service, a turkey dinner will be served the workers in the banquet hall of the church, after which, they will go afield to contact persons unable to attend the morning services.

The night service is expected to be one of thanksgiving for the blessings received during the day. The pastor, Dr. James T. Horton, and the canvass director, A. B. Clarkson, are joined by the workers and other members in their expressions of full confidence that God's blessings will be showered down on this occasion.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Regarding the accidental death of your team mate, Dawson Trotman, I would like to know why God did not protect him so that he might have died a normal death. What might many people think when God does not protect a man who is in the service of the Lord? M M.

ANSWER: The missionary, David Livingston once said, "Until my work for God is finished, I am immortal." Dawson Trotman could have said the same thing. He would shout it down from heaven if he could. He lived a full and useful life and died as he lived, in the service for others. He had devoted years to winning men from eternal loss, and it is not strange that he died while seeking to save the life of another. We mortals cannot tell when our work is done. Only God knows when it is. Neither does God raise up some protective barrier around His own so that they are exempt from life's emergencies. If God's provision were as obvious as you suggest in your letter, men would serve Him for that alone. As it is, we live by faith and accept every happening in life as a part of God's plan for us, though we cannot always completely understand them. Philip's translation of Romans 8:28 says that "In everything, God works for good for them that love Him." We can be assured that since God did not withhold His own Son in order to save us from sin, neither will He withhold any good or necessary thing.

Science Church Plans Service For Thanksgiving

A Thanksgiving Day Service will be held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the church edifice, North Second and Auburn, on Thanksgiving Day morning at 11:00 o'clock. The service will include the reading, by the First Reader, of the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by the president of the United States.

The lesson-sermon, whose subject is "Thanksgiving" and which has been specially prepared, has for the Golden Text: "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving." (Ps. 69:30). Among the Scriptural verses is included, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17). Among the citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy is: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more" (page 3). A solo and hymns from the Christian Science Hymnal will comprise the music.

After the lesson - sermon has been concluded an opportunity will be given to those in the congregation who wish to express gratitude for blessings received during the past year.

Sales Tax Is Top Source Of State Revenue

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 17 (Special) — The sales tax was the largest single revenue producer for Louisiana in the fiscal year ending last June 30, the Public Affairs Research Council (PAR) reported today.

Examining revenue collections for the last fiscal year, PAR said in its monthly News Analysis that "Louisiana is less dependent on a single tax than other states."

The sales tax produced 22 per cent of Louisiana's tax revenue for 1956, barely moving ahead of the severance tax as the major source of state revenue. In 24 other states, the sales tax was also the chief source of state income, rising to 55 per cent in the case of Washington.

Louisiana's severance tax yield was second only to Texas and represented a fifth of all severance taxes collected in the nation.

Past And Present

By DORIS TYNES

Isn't it thrilling to know that our area is about to have it's much - needed museum! What a sense of pride everyone must feel who has in any way been responsible for the establishment of this memorial to those who have gone before us. I do not speak of the officers of the Ouachita Genealogical and Historical society alone, for without the willing contributions of our citizens and businessmen, there could have been no beginning . . . no museum. Everyone who has contributed in any way (whether by contributions of relics or cases or funds, or by cleaning and scrubbing cases and helping to arrange items for display, by accepting phone calls from donors or actually collecting relics by following up those calls,) can feel justly proud of their efforts and rightfully feel that the museum is a result of their interest and hard work.

Every so often an opportunity so rare comes along that we refer to it as the chance of a lifetime! And when such an opportunity does present itself we waste no time in taking advantage of it. Well, let me ask you, just how often do we come face to face with the opportunity of establishing an institution such as our museum.

It has been suggested that in order to give proper recognition to these early donors that an honorary list be prepared, giving the names of all who have contributed in any capacity during the first year and labeling them as the founders of "our" museum! We think this is a good idea, and invite all who would like to have their names included on this list to make their contributions in the near future. For this is more than the chance of a lifetime! One can contribute any time to a museum already established, but we repeat, how often can we be listed as one of the founders of such an institution. This is our opportunity to be pioneers, if you please, in a field too long overlooked!

Donations may still be made by calling 3-2481 or 2-6476, or by writing Museum, Box 257, Monroe, La., and we welcome you as a "fellow founder".

New donations are still coming in, but we will give those people proper recognition in the column next week when your reporter, Marie Kent, will be writing the news, she being much better at descriptions than yours truly.

As for now, I'd like to mention a few items that we are still looking for. So far we have no fireplace equipment whatsoever donated or loaned. The kinds of cases that we now have are exceptionally nice for the arrangement of glassware, and though we have a nice start on a display of this type, we do need additional pieces to have an effective and eyecatching array. Glass decanters, and perfume bottles would be nice additions to the pieces we already have. The few picture we have thus far capture the interest immediately, and are easiest displayed, so if anyone has pictures of historic interest we would be happy to place them beside the ones of Monroe's first fire department and some early school pictures which Mrs. Ruby Benoit Bird donated. And surely someone has an old coffeemill they can lend!

It is interesting to recall how, a few week ago, we were being swamped with relics and had no cases to put them in. Then some friends and merchants came through with donations of cases or the funds to purchase cases (and we even had one case loaned) . . . and overnight we had more space for displaying our historical collection that we had relics to display! Now the situation has become reversed again. Our cases are all just about filled and the need has arisen for additional ones. Seems like an endless circle, but one which indicates progress. So we're looking for interested parties who would like to donate funds for the purchase of additional cases. Some have already been donated in memory of departed loved ones, others by local firms. In each case, proper credit will be given the donor by placing a printed card inside the display case.

Books of a genealogical and historical nature are needed for our research and reading room. Our new president, Mrs. Abbie Leckie, has visions of this room being used as a meeting place for those of us who wish to spread out our own genealogical records and work together to our hearts' content.

Whatever the type of material you may have, we welcome it to our collection, whether as a gift or a temporary loan. And may you be blessed for your kind assistance!

THE HOME SHIFT—

Tropical Plants For Homes, Patios

Be sure to drive by Marion Fisher's, 1303 North Third Street and see the Chinese tallow trees in their fall attire. It's strange that the shades are more of a mahogany color, wih less red than usual. Guess they're just like us women —get tired of the same color every year. Marion says the trees are seven years old and are bearing a heavy crop of berries for the first time.

Notice, also, the shape of these trees. After the leaves fall the limbs and trunks are graceful. Sometime we like an open growing tree, especially if there's a lovely view beyond. Lucille Trousdale decided on the Chinese tallow for her back garden, for just that reason, so the bayou could be seen through the branches.

Plants

Professor Ira S. Nelson gave an illustrated lecture to the Monroe Garden Club Monday. Thought you would like to hear a few of the high points of his lecture. The subject was "Tropical Plants for Home and Patio."

The professor said to establish a few medium size plants in the patio to set the basic pattern. Two of our well known plants he mentioned were holly and crepe myrtle. A patio should have enclosure. This can be achieved by plants or building materials, such as fences, walls, etc. These should have vines or plants over or against them. Fig vine is a nice clinging vine for a fence as well as grape. The latter gives an interesting bare vine tracery when the foliage is gone in the winter. Espaliered fruit trees are attractive on fences or walls, too, the lecturer stated. Vines also make interesting ground covers as do ferns. In the fern family he mentioned leather leaf but said any of this large family does well in patios, because there's usually plenty of shade.

To give a tropical atmosphere to this outdoor living room Mr. Nelson gave three classes of plants, namely: (1) bamboo, especially the dwarf ones. This small type stays in clumps, better, and has long lacy spikes and foliage. (2) Banana plants and relatives because of the long stems and big leaves. He recommended the pineapple and orchid groups; and stated that some orchids are easy to grow. The Genus Epidendrum is hardy as well as Oncidium. We have many vines that can be used in hanging baskets to help create the tropical effect. One the professor recommended was the variegated St. Augustine grass. Use it as a vine and it will trail to the ground. Philodendron also is suitable for hanging baskets.

Professor Nelson said that few patios are large enough for pools, but just a very small area of water, or just a trickle will give psychological effect of coolness. Aquatic plants also give a cool feeling.

Perennials, lilies, tree roses and geraniums in pots can be moved in and out of the patio when at their height of beauty. In this way there's no crowding for root system. By the way — the professor said we plant our amaryllis too shallow. The top of the bulb should just break the top of the ground. Also — he says geraniums need a sandy soil with not too much organic matter.

The lecturer showed pictures of beautiful knarled old trees in South America and said many people in America buy ill shaped trees to get this effect. He recommended the rain lily family for patios, for edging and for planting in six inch pots. Palms too, Mr. Nelson said, give a tropical effect seen in the distance. Only a few grow in this area though, so consult your nurseryman.

Food News

No more peeling, slicing, sniffing and weeping. Yes, there's an easier way to cook with onions. There's a new instant minced onion. It will be sold in a tightly covered jar, it doesn't cake or pack and keeps well. All you'll do is add water to the minced onion and within a few minutes you have fresh onion.

Some of our delicius recipes take much too long to prepare if Mom has to do all the preparation. Many of these dishes will be found on the market, frozen, all ready to carry home. Some of these are: Lobster Newberg, Welsh rarebit, escalloped chicken and noodles, spinach souffle, artichoke hearts, and creamed onions; also, a large assortment of hors d'oeuvrs and desserts, too, you'll be finding in the stores soon.

Plenty of pork, you'll find in your markets. The Egyptians were raising hogs for food as far back as 3400 B. C. The early American colonists brought pigs with them from the old country. In a few years, wild hogs swarmed the woods feeding on acorns, nuts and roots.

The pork cut purchased by the modern American housewife is a far cry from the meat produced from those wild pigs, or even from the pork marketed as recently as 15 or 20 years ago. The pork now is tailor - made to please the discriminating tastes of you Mrs. Modern American Housewife. You expressed preference for the leaner cuts of pork and that is what you're getting — tastier pork cuts with more meat and less fat.

Pork combines well with eggs and other plentiful foods. Some suggestions for extending pork are: creamed dishes and casserole combinations such as: ham with rice, noodles or macaroni — with lima beans, scalloped potatoes or sweet potatoes. Fresh pork with sauerkraut, rice and tomatoes, or with cornbread dressing.

Fresh pork or ham combines well with rice, potato or bread crumbs for croquettes; for stuffing peppers or tomatoes; for hash or meat pies. Ham bone, ham trimmings, ham fat can be used for flavoring stews, baked beans, blackeyed peas, rice, potatoes, cabbage and many casserole dishes.

Wax Work

You can dip flowers in melted wax. The wax you use is found in food stores in packages. Melt and cool the wax slightly. Dip the short stem flower in the wax, give it a turn then shake. Next, dip the end of the stem in this same wax. The color in the flowers will last for a month, but the flowers will last several years. Camellias and susanqua blooms and chrysanthemums are in the gardens now, and all three take wax easily. You'll lose a few from petal fall, but get lots of lovely blossoms, too.

When you make or buy your large candles, fasten small corsages made of the waxed blooms to each. They are spectacular. Arrangements will last so much longer if you wax the blossoms first. Use only very short stem blooms and wire them to get the desired length.

What's New?

Women who have complained about stockings that don't fit well will be pleased to know there now are custom size stockings which should solve your problems. Now nylons are being fitted to a greater variety of leg shapes. The new nylons are being knitted to 17 different size specifications for correct fit from toe to hem. Each size, for example, is knitted in three different proportions — short or petite, average or medium, longer or fuller.

Have you wondered what to do about shiny coat collars? They usually can be dulled by sponging with a cloth wrung out of hot vinegar. Then press the collars on the wrong side while they're still damp.

Announcements

Your Open House programs for next week are as follows: Monday, Glenda Willet from Jackson parish will make draperies; Tuesday, Velma Ikerd from LaSalle parish will show you necklines suitable for different types; Wednesday, Mr. John Wright from Louisiana Tech will make Christmas arrangements; Thursday, is Thanksgiving; you'll see football games instead of Open House Happy Thanksgiving to you. Friday, is marketing and food preparation day. See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

Fall Garden Club Meeting Held In Vidalia

An outstanding event in the fall garden club calendar was the annual meeting of the Fifth District Garden Clubs of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation in Vidalia this week. Over 100 members attended the interesting meeting. Mrs. N. P. Martone, state president conducetd a question and answer forum with Mrs. Rupert Scott, Wisner. Reports of all chairman and presidents were read. It is stimulating and interesting to learn of the varied and well planned programs from each club, all of them aiming toward state and national objectives for better and more beautiful homes and communities. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming term. At the conclusion of the meeting a caravan of cars proceeded to the Carriage House at Stanton Hall in Natchez, where a most delicious luncheon was served. Three Natchez homes were on tour in the afternoon. Our thanks to the hostess clubs Vidalia and Ferriday for a wonderful day.

Our local clubs provided the colorful display of dried arrangements for our show this week. We have heard many enthusiastic reports of Dottie Craighead's Thanksgiving table arrangements which she showed on television Wednesday. Dottie showed three different types of arrangements. If you missed seeing them be sure to ask your friends to describe them. Mrs. Van Clark of the Sun and Sand Garden Club exhibited two lovely compositions in the center. The first was a trianulgar design placed on a sand colored marble base. The design was built around an interesting curved piece of driftwood. The color scheme was brown, gray and yellow. Dried brown dock formed the triangular pattern. A branch of artificial sassafras flowers placed in front of the dock provided transition for the yellow straw flowers and calendulas which followed the lines. Note these lovely artificial flowers looked almost real and they are a great boon to us in our homes, but we never use painted or artificial materials in a flower show unless the schedule so states.

Mrs. Clark's second composition was displayed against a chartreuse background Her container was a low free - form container of soft brown lined with gray green. The pattern was triangular with strong vertical lines of dark brown dock and light airy sea oats. Bittersweet berries enhanced the line and continued down to the focal point of teazel which was the same soft brown color as the container. The colors here were well related and very pleasing.

Mrs. M. W. Montgomery of the Fleur De Lis Study Club created a most colorful composition in colors of brown, tan, yellow and orange. Her container was one of those "originals," a deep bowl, yet free form in shape. Call the center and I can tell you where to find them. While they look like wood they are pottery and the soft natural shade blends with almost any plant material.

Mrs. Montgomery designed a mass design using pampas grass plumes for the tallest placements followed by brown dock and sea oats. On the left was a cluster of magnolia leaves shading from light tan to dark brown with wood roses at the base. Yellow yarrow was placed in the center and colorful straw flowers shading from yellow into the orange and bronze tones completed the mass design. Most attractive and would be suitable against any wall background except pink.

Dr. Katherine Foster, Welcome Garden Club created a most interesting composition using fresh and dry plant material. An aquamarine pillow vase set on a black Chinese base held the line mass design in subtle colors of gray - green and brown. The lines were formed with eucalyptus with glycerinezed magnolia leaves in brown strengthening the line and adding depth. Three clusters of hen - and - chickens were placed low in the design with a cluster of large acorns (strung like a cluster of grapes) coming over the front of the container. This we displayed against a rosy pink background. Because of the subtle colors it would look well against many wall backgrounds. The variety of eucalyptus so beloved of flower arrangers is cinerea now available at your local nursery.

Harvest Festival Royalty Crowned At Transylvania

TRANSYLVANIA, Nov. 17 (Special) — A crowd of approximately 600 people jammed the auditorium of the Transylvania school to participate in the annual "Harvest Festival" and witness the crowning of the king and queen for the current school year.

Little Miss Diane Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray, was crowned queen, and Gary Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vining, shared honors with her as king. The two youngsters will reign as monarchs of the school during the entire 1956-57 school year.

O. L. Patrick, principal, stated that the event was the most successful ever experienced at the school. A number of skits were presented for the entertainment of the parents and guests, each one written, directed and acted by the pupils of the school.

This annual activity is planned to encourage student participation and give the children experience in the various fields of creative expression.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, for several reasons. If he is the dependent type, he needs bolstering up; if she lets him down in the mouth, he might lose his job, and she may have to earn the living. If she doesn't swell his head a bit, he will go around the house with a hangdog look, and nothing is worse to live with. However, it would help a lot to give a wife a few orchids occasionally. When people say they eat like a bird, is it true?

Yes — No —

No. Young birds, especially, need astonishing quantities of food, according to National Geographic Society. During their fastest growth, they eat more than their own weight daily. Researchers found that stomachs of a flicker, quail, and a night-hawk contained respectively 3,000 ants, 500 chinch bugs, and 500 mosquitos, plus weed seeds. To rival this, a growing youth would have to stow away two or three lambs or a whole calf each day. The average adult of 150 pounds east only 1,531 pounds of foodstuffs a year.

Agency Declares Hoxsey Cancer Medicines Menace

WASHINGTON (UP) — The federal Food and Drug Administration said Friday there is a continuing menace from Hoxsey cancer medicines despite a new federal court verdict against them. It said it will seek an injunction to halt further interstate shipments.

The agency said a federal court jury's decision in Pittsburgh, Pa., that Hoxsey pills are worthless for internal cancer means only that 500,000 pills seized at the Hoxsey Clinic at Portage, Pa., will be destroyed.

Declaring it will seek an injunction against further interstate shipments of the pills, the Food and Drug Administration said it will use "every legal meanswithin our power to protect consumers from being victimized by this worthless treatment."

Try Rosettes In Southern Gardens

Those little rosettes of fat green leaves called by various names like "Hen and Chickens" are the jewels of the garden and the house. It is rather surprising that we do not see more of them in the South. There are thirty and forty different named kinds listed in some catalogues of the North and the Northwest, these days. Perhaps gardeners do not realize that there are so many hardy kinds that can be grown out of doors without any protection in winter.

There is nothing more intriguing than a collection of sempervivums, their other name, in pots or grown in crevices in a rock wall. After the leaves are down in the Fall, the evergreen patches of large and small rosettes, touched with red or bronze or covered with "cobwebs" will catch your eye. Of course, they actually bloom in warm weather, but it is the tight green or colored rosettes in bunches close together that are so attractive.

Sempervivums can be grown in pots with less trouble than it takes to tell it. All they want is sunshine and air and perfect drainage. In Eigland where it is so wet, people grow these little succulents in beaten up coal ashes with some leaf mold carefully mixed in. Here in the South where there is so much sun, all you need to do is to stick the small rosettes in cracks in a dry wall or pot them in ordinary soil with extra good drainage in the botton of the pot and some stone chips on top to keep excess moisture from touching the plants or from staying in contact with them. Only very very occasionally will you need to give them any water. If you go away and leave them sitting around for weeks and months, drying up will not actually kill them. They will go backward in three days if they are left out of the light, and they must have some direct sunlight every day the sun shines. Dwellers in dark apartments need not try to grow sempervivums. Even the tender ones in the plant stores often look anemic for lack of light.

Besides their name, Hen and Chickens, sempervivums are sometimes called "House Leek." This is because one kind is planted on the housetops in European countries. Tradition has it that, if they are growing there, the gods will not strike the house with lightening. In Belgium, however, the tradition is that they have been left on the housetops by the lightening! The Latin name, Sempervivum, means live forever, and the French common name for the plants, Joubarbe, from the Latin, Jovis barba, means the beard of Jupiter. All kinds of properties are attributed to the plants, and they have been intriguing men for hundreds of years.

Collections of sempervivums can easily be grown in pots or in "sink gardens", as they do in England. They are the lazyman's pot plant superb. Connoiseurs take their collections with them from one part of the world to the other with the greatest of ease because they travel with no discomfort!

Tropical Plants For Homes, Patios

Be sure to drive by Marion Fisher's, 1303 North Third Street and see the Chinese tallow trees in their fall attire. It's strange that the shades are more of a mahogany color, wih less red than usual. Guess they're just like us women —get tired of the same color every year. Marion says the trees are seven years old and are bearing a heavy crop of berries for the first time.

Notice, also, the shape of these trees. After the leaves fall the limbs and trunks are graceful. Sometime we like an open growing tree, especially if there's a lovely view beyond. Lucille Trousdale decided on the Chinese tallow for her back garden, for just that reason, so the bayou could be seen through the branches.

Plants

Professor Ira S. Nelson gave an illustrated lecture to the Monroe Garden Club Monday. Thought you would like to hear a few of the high points of his lecture. The subject was "Tropical Plants for Home and Patio."

The professor said to establish a few medium size plants in the patio to set the basic pattern. Two of our well known plants he mentioned were holly and crepe myrtle. A patio should have enclosure. This can be achieved by plants or building materials, such as fences, walls, etc. These should have vines or plants over or against them. Fig vine is a nice clinging vine for a fence as well as grape. The latter gives an interesting bare vine tracery when the foliage is gone in the winter. Espaliered fruit trees are attractive on fences or walls, too, the lecturer stated. Vines also make interesting ground covers as do ferns. In the fern family he mentioned leather leaf but said any of this large family does well in patios, because there's usually plenty of shade.

To give a tropical atmosphere to this outdoor living room Mr. Nelson gave three classes of plants, namely: (1) bamboo, especially the dwarf ones. This small type stays in clumps, better, and has long lacy spikes and foliage. (2) Banana plants and relatives because of the long stems and big leaves. He recommended the pineapple and orchid groups; and stated that some orchids are easy to grow. The Genus Epidendrum is hardy as well as Oncidium. We have many vines that can be used in hanging baskets to help create the tropical effect. One the professor recommended was the variegated St. Augustine grass. Use it as a vine and it will trail to the ground. Philodendron also is suitable for hanging baskets.

Professor Nelson said that few patios are large enough for pools, but just a very small area of water, or just a trickle will give psychological effect of coolness. Aquatic plants also give a cool feeling.

Perennials, lilies, tree roses and geraniums in pots can be moved in and out of the patio when at their height of beauty. In this way there's no crowding for root system. By the way — the professor said we plant our amaryllis too shallow. The top of the bulb should just break the top of the ground. Also — he says geraniums need a sandy soil with not too much organic matter.

The lecturer showed pictures of beautiful knarled old trees in South America and said many people in America buy ill shaped trees to get this effect. He recommended the rain lily family for patios, for edging and for planting in six inch pots. Palms too, Mr. Nelson said, give a tropical effect seen in the distance. Only a few grow in this area though, so consult your nurseryman.

Food News

No more peeling, slicing, sniffing and weeping. Yes, there's an easier way to cook with onions. There's a new instant minced onion. It will be sold in a tightly covered jar, it doesn't cake or pack and keeps well. All you'll do is add water to the minced onion and within a few minutes you have fresh onion.

Some of our delicius recipes take much too long to prepare if Mom has to do all the preparation. Many of these dishes will be found on the market, frozen, all ready to carry home. Some of these are: Lobster Newberg, Welsh rarebit, escalloped chicken and noodles, spinach souffle, artichoke hearts, and creamed onions; also, a large assortment of hors d'oeuvrs and desserts, too, you'll be finding in the stores soon.

Plenty of pork, you'll find in your markets. The Egyptians were raising hogs for food as far back as 3400 B. C. The early American colonists brought pigs with them from the old country. In a few years, wild hogs swarmed the woods feeding on acorns, nuts and roots.

The pork cut purchased by the modern American housewife is a far cry from the meat produced from those wild pigs, or even from the pork marketed as recently as 15 or 20 years ago. The pork now is tailor - made to please the discriminating tastes of you Mrs. Modern American Housewife. You expressed preference for the leaner cuts of pork and that is what you're getting — tastier pork cuts with more meat and less fat.

Pork combines well with eggs and other plentiful foods. Some suggestions for extending pork are: creamed dishes and casserole combinations such as: ham with rice, noodles or macaroni — with lima beans, scalloped potatoes or sweet potatoes. Fresh pork with sauerkraut, rice and tomatoes, or with cornbread dressing.

Fresh pork or ham combines well with rice, potato or bread crumbs for croquettes; for stuffing peppers or tomatoes; for hash or meat pies. Ham bone, ham trimmings, ham fat can be used for flavoring stews, baked beans, blackeyed peas, rice, potatoes, cabbage and many casserole dishes.

Wax Work

You can dip flowers in melted wax. The wax you use is found in food stores in packages. Melt and cool the wax slightly. Dip the short stem flower in the wax, give it a turn then shake. Next, dip the end of the stem in this same wax. The color in the flowers will last for a month, but the flowers will last several years. Camellias and susanqua blooms and chrysanthemums are in the gardens now, and all three take wax easily. You'll lose a few from petal fall, but get lots of lovely blossoms, too.

When you make or buy your large candles, fasten small corsages made of the waxed blooms to each. They are spectacular. Arrangements will last so much longer if you wax the blossoms first. Use only very short stem blooms and wire them to get the desired length.

What's New?

Women who have complained about stockings that don't fit well will be pleased to know there now are custom size stockings which should solve your problems. Now nylons are being fitted to a greater variety of leg shapes. The new nylons are being knitted to 17 different size specifications for correct fit from toe to hem. Each size, for example, is knitted in three different proportions — short or petite, average or medium, longer or fuller.

Have you wondered what to do about shiny coat collars? They usually can be dulled by sponging with a cloth wrung out of hot vinegar. Then press the collars on the wrong side while they're still damp.

Announcements

Fall Garden Club Meeting Held In Vidalia

An outstanding event in the fall garden club calendar was the annual meeting of the Fifth District Garden Clubs of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation in Vidalia this week. Over 100 members attended the interesting meeting. Mrs. N. P. Martone, state president conducetd a question and answer forum with Mrs. Rupert Scott, Wisner. Reports of all chairman and presidents were read. It is stimulating and interesting to learn of the varied and well planned programs from each club, all of them aiming toward state and national objectives for better and more beautiful homes and communities. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming term. At the conclusion of the meeting a caravan of cars proceeded to the Carriage House at Stanton Hall in Natchez, where a most delicious luncheon was served. Three Natchez homes were on tour in the afternoon. Our thanks to the hostess clubs Vidalia and Ferriday for a wonderful day.

Our local clubs provided the colorful display of dried arrangements for our show this week. We have heard many enthusiastic reports of Dottie Craighead's Thanksgiving table arrangements which she showed on television Wednesday. Dottie showed three different types of arrangements. If you missed seeing them be sure to ask your friends to describe them. Mrs. Van Clark of the Sun and Sand Garden Club exhibited two lovely compositions in the center. The first was a trianulgar design placed on a sand colored marble base. The design was built around an interesting curved piece of driftwood. The color scheme was brown, gray and yellow. Dried brown dock formed the triangular pattern. A branch of artificial sassafras flowers placed in front of the dock provided transition for the yellow straw flowers and calendulas which followed the lines. Note these lovely artificial flowers looked almost real and they are a great boon to us in our homes, but we never use painted or artificial materials in a flower show unless the schedule so states.

Mrs. Clark's second composition was displayed against a chartreuse background. Her container was a low free - form container of soft brown lined with gray green. The pattern was triangular with strong vertical lines of dark brown dock and light airy sea oats. Bittersweet berries enhanced the line and continued down to the focal point of teazel which was the same soft brown color as the container. The colors here were well related and very pleasing.

Mrs. M. W. Montgomery of the Fleur De Lis Study Club created a most colorful composition in colors of brown, tan, yellow and orange. Her container was one of those "originals," a deep bowl, yet free form in shape. Call the center and I can tell you where to find them. While they look like wood they are pottery and the soft natural shade blends with almost any plant material.

Mrs. Montgomery designed a mass design using pampas grass plumes for the tallest placements followed by brown dock and sea oats. On the left was a cluster of magnolia leaves shading from light tan to dark brown with wood roses at the base. Yellow yarrow was placed in the center and colorful straw flowers shading from yellow into the orange and bronze tones completed the mass design. Most attractive and would be suitable against any wall background except pink.

Dr. Katherine Foster, Welcome Garden Club created a most interesting composition using fresh and dry plant material. An aquamarine pillow vase set on a black Chinese base held the line mass design in subtle colors of gray - green and brown. The lines were formed with eucalyptus with glycerinezed magnolia leaves in brown strengthening the line and adding depth. Three clusters of hen - and - chickens were placed low in the design with a cluster of large acorns (strung like a cluster of grapes) coming over the front of the container. This we displayed against a rosy pink background. Because of the subtle colors it would look well against many wall backgrounds. The variety of eucalyptus so beloved of flower arrangers is cinerea now available at your local nursery.

Harvest Festival Royalty Crowned At Transylvania

TRANSYLVANIA, Nov. 17 (Special) — A crowd of approximately 600 people jammed the auditorium of the Transylvania school to participate in the annual "Harvest Festival" and witness the crowning of the king and queen for the current school year.

Little Miss Diane Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray, was crowned queen, and Gary Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vining, shared honors with her as king. The two youngsters will reign as monarchs of the school during the entire 1956-57 school year.

O. L. Patrick, principal, stated that the event was the most successful ever experienced at the school. A number of skits were presented for the entertainment of the parents and guests, each one written, directed and acted by the pupils of the school.

This annual activity is planned to encourage student participation and give the children experience in the various fields of creative expression.

Tradition has it that, if they are growing there, the gods will not strike the house with lightening. In Belgium, however, the tradition is that they have been left on the housetops by the lightening! The Latin name, Sempervivum, means live forever, and the French common name for the plants, Joubarbe, from the Latin, Jovis barba, means the beard of Jupiter. All kinds of properties are attributed to the plants, and they have been intriguing men for hundreds of years.

Collections of sempervivums can easily be grown in pots or in "sink gardens", as they do in England. They are the lazyman's pot plant superb. Connoisseurs take their collections with them from one part of the world to the other with the greatest of ease because they travel with no discomfort!

sweet berries enhanced the line and continued down to the focal point of teazel which was the same soft brown color as the container. The colors here were well related and very pleasing.

Mrs. M. W. Montgomery of the Fleur De Lis Study Club created a most colorful composition in colors of brown, tan, yellow and orange. Her container was one of those "originals," a deep bowl, yet free form in shape. Call the center and I can tell you where to find them. While they look like wood they are pottery and the soft natural shade blends with almost any plant material.

Mrs. Montgomery designed a mass design using pampas grass plumes for the tallest placements followed by brown dock and sea oats. On the left was a cluster of magnolia leaves shading from light tan to dark brown with wood roses at the base. Yellow yarrow was placed in the center and colorful straw flowers shading from yellow into the orange and bronze tones completed the mass design. Most attractive and would be suitable against any wall background except pink.

Dr. Katherine Foster, Welcome Garden Club created a most interesting composition using fresh and dry plant material. An aquamarine pillow vase set on a black Chinese base held the line mass design in subtle colors of gray - green and brown. The lines were formed with eucalyptus with glycerinezed magnolia leaves in brown strengthening the line and adding depth. Three clusters of hen - and - chickens were placed low in the design with a cluster of large acorns (strung like a cluster of grapes) coming over the front of the container. This we displayed against a rosy pink background. Because of the subtle colors it would look well against many wall backgrounds. The variety of eucalyptus so beloved of flower arrangers is cinerea now available at your local nursery.

Harvest Festival Royalty Crowned At Transylvania

TRANSYLVANIA, Nov. 17 (Special) — A crowd of approximately 600 people jammed the auditorium of the Transylvania school to participate in the annual "Harvest Festival" and witness the crowning of the king and queen for the current school year.

Little Miss Diane Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray, was crowned queen, and Gary Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vining, shared honors with her as king. The two youngsters will reign as monarchs of the school during the entire 1956-57 school year.

O. L. Patrick, principal, stated that the event was the most successful ever experienced at the school. A number of skits were presented for the entertainment of the parents and guests, each one written, directed and acted by the pupils of the school.

This annual activity is planned to encourage student participation and give the children experience in the various fields of creative expression.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. SHOULD A WIFE MAKE HER HUSBAND FEEL IMPORTANT? YES ☐ NO ☐ 11-17

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, for several reasons. If he is the dependent type, he needs bolstering up; if she lets him down in the mouth, he might lose his job, and she may have to earn the living. If she doesn't swell his head a bit, he will go around the house with a hangdog look, and nothing is worse to live with. However, it would help a lot to give a wife a few orchids occasionally. Our booklet, "Facing the Facts of Married Life," will tell you how to make your husband (or wife) feel important and needed. Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Adoption agencies try to match the child and prospective parents.
True — False —

This includes many factors. They may hold up placement of a brown-eyed child until they find brown-eyed parents. Another factor is education of prospective parents. Many agencies insist on keeping babies in foster homes from six months to two years to test the infants thoroughly for physical and mental defects. Their job is to find homes for children not children for homes. A new book, "How To Adopt a Child," by Ernest and Frances Cady, lists agencies in every state and gives general help. Try your library or bookstore.

Persuasion — what is it? The secret is given you in simple step-by-step procedure — follow it, and bring yourself all the things you want to be and have. Booklet nonprofit. Send 20 cents (coin only) and stamped, full addressed envelope to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

When people say they eat like a bird, is it true?
Yes — No —

No. Young birds, especially, need astonishing quantities of food, according to National Geographic Society. During their fastest growth, they eat more than their own weight daily. Researchers found that stomachs of a flicker, quail, and a night-hawk contained respectively 3,000 ants, 500 chinch bugs, and 500 mosquitos, plus weed seeds. To rival this, a growing youth would have to stow away two or three lambs or a whole calf each day. The average adult of 150 pounds east only 1,531 pounds of foodstuffs a year.

Agency Declares Hoxsey Cancer Medicines Menace

WASHINGTON (UP) — The federal Food and Drug Administration said Friday there is a continuing menace from Hoxsey cancer medicines despite a new federal court verdict against them. It said it will seek an injunction to halt further interstate shipments.

The agency said a federal court jury's decision in Pittsburgh, Pa., that Hoxsey pills are worthless for internal cancer means only that 500,000 pills seized at the Hoxsey Clinic at Portage, Pa., will be destroyed.

Declaring it will seek an injunction against further interstate shipments of the pills, the Food and Drug Administration said it will use "every legal meanswithin our power to protect consumers from being victimized by this worthless treatment."

STAMPS

As he was about to evacuate the Philippines in 1942, Gen. Douglas MacArthur vowed to the people of the islands: "I shall return."

On Oct. 20, 1944 MacArthur kept his promise and landed on Leyte.

To commemorate this occasion,

the Philippines has issued a special 5 cents stamp depicting the monument to MacArthur's World War II liberation forces on Leyte, reports the Philippine director of posts.

Five commemorative stamps have been selected by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield for issuance in 1957. These stamps will honor the 200th anniversary of Alexander Hamilton's birth; the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Coast and Geodetic Survey; 50th anniversary of Oklahoma's admission to the union; the school teachers of America plus another in the wildlife series.

Dates, places of first day sale and other details, including designs, will be announced later.

Syria reports that the remainder of the stamps issued to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the United Nations will be over-printed to honor the 11th anniversary.

Jamaica has issued a new definitive set of 16 values. Some of the designs feature: palms, sugar, pineapple, bananas, mahoe, breadfruit, ackee, Doctor Bird, Blue Mountain Peak, Royal Botanic Gardens, rafting on the Rio Grande, and Fort Charles. Four of the adhesives depict the Jamaican coat of arms.

The "Collectors of Religion on Stamp Society" voted the 1955 adhesive by Saar depicting "praying hands" as the most outstanding religious design of the year. The design was taken from Albert Durer's painting which now hangs in the Albertini Library in Vienna.

Eight new stamps have been issued by New Hebrides, reports the New York Stamp Co. This set commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Condominium's existence. The 5 cents and 10 cents values show a sailing vessel superimposed over a map of New Hebrides and symbolizing the discovery of the territory in 1606. The 20 c and 50 c feature the French and British symbols — Britannia and La Marianne.

A duplicate set is being issued by France since the group of islands in the south Pacific (just north of New Caledonia) is under joint administration of Britain and France.

Record Review

Ted Lewis is a type of entertainer that comes only once in a generation, an individual who seems to thrive on being the exception to the rule.

Ted never could sing, yet his vocalizing of "When My Baby Smiles at Me" has been his trademark for more than a quarter of a century. He definitely is not in the same blackstick company with Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw, but his clarinet breaks reflect his individuality.

But more than 30 years after Ted made his big splash, his records are still in demand and some of the old scratchy ones bring fabulous prices in the market from the "first edition" crowd.

Because Ted Lewis has survived the decades, Decca has put some of his notable numbers on an LP which is marketed under the title, "Is Everbody Happy?" which was Ted's $64 question in the old days. Apparently everybody was, when Lewis was spreading joy.

The numbers include "Jealous," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "My Blue Heaven" and nine other standards which Lewis handles very neatly with his orchestra.

Elvis editorial—There are many people, including teen - agers, who are sick of the press agentry attached to Presley's meteoric rise. And there are just as many who are voracious readers of all Presley propaganda. In fairness to Elvis, he is one of those good men, who as the song goes, is hard to find.

Presley was an obscure hillbilly singer who rocked and rolled to riches, but if he suffers a setback he can return to his old style and like Ted Lewis make everybody happy.

His latest RCA-Victor LP, "Elvis," is a potboiler to the anti-Presley group and a great event for his fans. Nevertheless, it contains several good numbers, the best appearing to be the oldie, "When My Blue Moon Turns to Gold Again."

Selected Singles — "Petticoats of Portugal" by Florian Zabach (Mercury), "I Have But One Heart" by Bob Anderson (Bally), "Could You" by Nelson Riddle (Capitol.)

Staff, Students Help To Observe Education Week

RUSTON, Nov. 17 (Special) — In observance of National Education Week several instructors and students in the School of Education of Louisiana Tech presented various activities the past few days.

Beginning the week, Dean C. T. Woodard spoke at Jonesboro Monday afternoon to the principals of Jackson parish on "The Importance of Reading in High School."

To members of the education staff, Dean Woodard and Dr. J. A. Cawthon, were guests at a student and parent assembly at the Linville High school. Dr. Cawthon spoke on "Character, Service, Leadership, Scholarship, as Part of the American Educational Heritage."

The A. E. Phillips school contributed its part in observance of the special week with an original Chinese play titled "Ching Ling." Miss Katherine Butler's fifth grade class, with the assistance of student teachers, wrote the script and designed and made the costumes. The play was presented Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock to the other pupils of the school and guests.

The event of Thursday was a program led by Theresa Boyd, president of the G. W. Bond chapter of Future Teachers of America, at high school critique. Miss Boyd and other members of the committee, Billie Jean Vise, Helen Vining and Mary Ann Whitman, presented material about National Education Week and helps for the Future Teachers who will present the week next year in their respective schools.

Friday morning Dean Woodard, Dr. W. J. Bordelon, Dr. J. A. Cawthon, and Dr. Elenora A. Cawthon went to Spearsville to speak. The school buses picked up the parents of Spearsville students and brought them to the school for a parent assembly.

Jack L. Smith Named To Head March Of Dimes

Jack L. Smith, has been appointed Ouachita parish 1957 March of Dimes campaign director. Announcement of the appointment was made Saturday in Monroe, by Dr. A. J. Ochsner, state chairman of the January drive for polio-fighting funds.

"The Salk vaccine has dramatically cut the incidence of polio during the past year," Smith said, "but there are today about 80,000 children and adults who urgently need a helping hand in their long, difficult struggle with polio."

"Doing all we can to give them the care they need," he added, "is just as important a part of the March of Dimes victory over polio as the Salk vaccine. That is why we have chosen as our 1957 March of Dimes slogan, "Let's Finish The Job."

In answer to a query about the separate appeal for funds, Smith answered:

"The very nature of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis prevents this organization from participating in a United Fund appeal." Smith chose what he considered one of the more important reasons for a separate drive, pointing out, "You cannot anticipate polio care expenses locally or nationally. In federated fund raising, a local committee would decide how much money to assign to polio. But a local committee cannot anticipate the number of polio cases or the amount of money that will be needed to care for these patients. A low polio incidence one year would mean a low allocation the next year, when polio might strike hard, as was the case in Louisiana this year." To show the unpredictability of polio, Smith stated, "The Ouachita parish chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent $15,177.50 on 30 polio cases during 1954, whereas 47 polio cases cost $32,-182.18 during 1955."

Smith announced that a March of Dimes campaign headquarters will be opened in Monroe in the near future, with representatives in other communities in the parish.

Smith, the father of two sons, resides with his wife, the former Alice Perry, at 2019 Valencia in Monroe.

Southerners To Face Troubles, Passman States

The odds are now stacked more heavily than ever before against southern and other members of Congress holding similar views in their efforts toward safeguarding the rights of the states and their people, Louisiana Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman believes, his office in Monroe told the Morning World late Saturday.

But with the January 3 opening of the first session of the 85th Congress now less than a month and a half away, he has renewed his pledge of fully supporting the rights of the states to handle their own internal affairs in all basic matters.

His office said that Congressman Passman has "unqualifiedly" recommitted himself to vigorously oppose in the U. S. House of Representatives proposals for federal aid to schools, because of the dangers of federal controls he said are inherent in such programs. He was declared also to continue 'firmly opposed" to legislation of the so - called "civil rights" and "fair employment practices" types as has been the case during his 10 years of service in Congress.

He was represented by his office as declaring that federal school-aid programs definitely are not "pie in the sky" proposals. "Wherever the money goes, so goes the central government's encroachment upon the operation of our school systems," he has emphasized. The education of our children should never be taken away from the home and the community and the state, where it belongs, and turned over to the huge central government in Washington," he has reiterated.

Congressman Passman has asserted, his office here reported, that the south will have to maintain "close unity" in the fights which are "certain" to arise on these matters. He has said that support will also be necessary from Congressmen from other regions who also subscribe to the belief that no men or group of men can be entrusted with unlimited power, while rejecting the idea of federal encroachment upon the rights of the states and the people.

Meantime, Congressman Passman was said to have urged, quoting from the concluding paragraph of the Congressional Southern Manifesto," of which he was a signer last March 12: ". . . We appeal to the people not to be provoked by . . . agitators and troublemakers invading our states and to scrupulously refrain from disorder and lawless acts."

Gossip in Gotham:

Mary Martin's son, Larry Hagman, has been awarded a 20th Century-Fox screen test as a result of his ingratiating performance as a cop in William Saroyan's comedy "Once Around the Block at the Cherry Lane Theatre. . . Elizabeth Taylor's close chums think they know why the beautiful Liz is talking about wanting to "retire" after she marries Mike Todd. She'd like to retire from her current contract entanglements, they believe, so she could form an independent film firm under her adored Mike's guidance.

There's irony in the plan to rerun the film of a James Dean drama on the Robert Montgomery TV stanza. When Dean originally did the show, he was so difficult during rehearsals that one big power on the program was heard to remark: "We'll never hire that boy again. He's a good actor, but not worth all the trouble he caused." . . . It's been denied on this side of the Atlantic, but London's theatrical set is buzzing with the rumor that Julie Andrews of "My Fair Lady" is secretly married to British Tony Walton.

Joseph S. Robinson, attorney for Alfred Krupp, is en route to Germany hoping to round up documentary evidence showing that the munitions magnate's wife, Vera (now seeking a Las Vegas divorce on grounds of non-support) actually received several million dollars in money, jewelry and other properties during their short marriage. Mrs. Krupp has been accused as a "love thief" in the divorce suit of a Mrs. Louis Manchon of Las Vegas; both court cases threaten to become grist for the sensation mills if the participants lose their tempers.

One of the major recording firms has a headache that won't go away. Its account books show that more than $100,000 was paid out in "advance" loans to artists who have since left the label. The screen's most romantic method actors are causing flutters with their appearances in the local bistros: Paul Newman's frequent hangout is Johnnie Johnson's Charcoal Room, and Birdland has become Marlon Brando's private post office. When he dropped in the other night he found a dozen letters addressed to him in care of the musical spot, ensconced himself at a table and jotted a few replies while the band played on.

Theatres and TV networks throughout the nation are being warned that they will be "infringing" on 20th Century-Fox's rights if they book a German film starring Lilli Palmer and titled "Anastasia." (20th has its own "Anastasia," with Ingrid Bergman.) But how come? You can't copyright a title, can you?

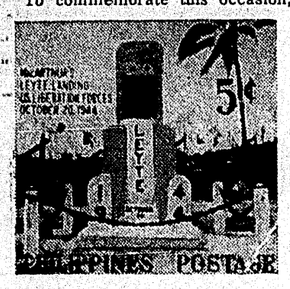
STAMPS

As he was about to evacuate the Philippines in 1942, Gen. Douglas MacArthur vowed to the people of the islands: "I shall return."

On Oct. 20, 1944 MacArthur kept his promise and landed on Leyte.

To commemorate this occasion,



the Philippines has issued a special 5 cents stamp depicting the monument to MacArthur's World War II liberation forces on Leyte, reports the Philippine director of posts.

Five commemorative stamps have been selected by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield for issuance in 1957. These stamps will honor the 200th anniversary of Alexander Hamilton's birth; the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Coast and Geodetic Survey; 50th anniversary of Oklahoma's admission to the union; the school teachers of America plus another in the wildlife series.

Dates, places of first day sale and other details, including designs, will be announced later.

Syria reports that the remainder of the stamps issued to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the United Nations will be over-printed to honor the 11th anniversary.

Jamaica has issued a new definitive set of 16 values. Some of the designs feature: palms, sugar, pineapple, bananas, mahoe, breadfruit, ackee, Doctor Bird, Blue Mountain Peak, Royal Botanic Gardens, rafting on the Rio Grande, and Fort Charles. Four of the adhesives depict the Jamaican coat of arms.

The "Collectors of Religion on Stamp Society" voted the 1955 adhesive by Saar depicting "praying hands" as the most outstanding religious design of the year. The design was taken from Albert Durer's painting which now hangs in the Albertini Library in Vienna.

Eight new stamps have been issued by New Hebrides, reports the New York Stamp Co. This set commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Condominium's existence. The 5 cents and 10 cents values show a sailing vessel superimposed over a map of New Hebrides and symbolizing the discovery of the territory in 1606. The 20 c and 50 c feature the French and British symbols — Britannia and La Marianne.

A duplicate set is being issued by France since the group of islands in the south Pacific (just north of New Caledonia) is under joint administration of Britain and France.

Record Review

Ted Lewis is a type of entertainer that comes only once in a generation, an individual who seems to thrive on being the exception to the rule.

Ted never could sing, yet his vocalizing of "When My Baby Smiles at Me" has been his trademark for more than a quarter of a century. He definitely is not in the same blackstick company with Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw, but his clarinet breaks reflect his individuality.

But more than 30 years after Ted made his big splash, his records are still in demand and some of the old scratchy ones bring fabulous prices in the market from the "first edition" crowd.

Because Ted Lewis has survived the decades, Decca has put some of his notable numbers on an LP which is marketed under the title, "Is Everbody Happy?" which was Ted's $64 question in the old days. Apparently everybody was, when Lewis was spreading joy.

The numbers include "Jealous," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "My Blue Heaven" and nine other standards which Lewis handles very neatly with his orchestra.

Elvys editorial—There are many people, including teen - agers, who are sick of the press agentry attached to Presley's meteoric rise. And there are just as many who are voracious readers of all Presley propaganda. In fairness to Elvis, he is one of those good men, who as the song goes, is hard to find.

Presley was an obscure hillbilly singer who rocked and rolled to riches, but if he suffers a setback he can return to his old style and like Ted Lewis make everybody happy.

His latest RCA-Victor LP, "Elvis," is a potboiler to the anti-Presley group and a great event for his fans. Nevertheless, it contains several good numbers, the best appearing to be the oldie, "When My Blue Moon Turns to Gold Again."

Selected Singles — "Petticoats of Portugal" by Florian Zabach (Mercury), "I Have But One Heart" by Bob Anderson (Bally), "Could You" by Nelson Riddle (Capitol.)

Jack L. Smith Named To Head March Of Dimes

Jack L. Smith, has been appointed Ouachita parish 1957 March of Dimes campaign director. Announcement of the appointment was made Saturday in Monroe, by Dr. A. J. Ochsner, state chairman of the January drive for polio-fighting funds.

"The Salk vaccine has dramatically cut the incidence of polio during the past year," Smith said, "but there are today about 80,000 children and adults who urgently need a helping hand in their long, difficult struggle with polio."

"Doing all we can to give them the care they need," he added, "is just as important a part of the March of Dimes victory over polio as the Salk vaccine. That is why we have chosen as our 1957 March of Dimes slogan, "Let's Finish The Job."

In answer to a query about the separate appeal for funds, Smith answered:

"The very nature of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis prevents this organization from participating in a United Fund appeal." Smith chose what he considered one of the more important reasons for a separate drive, pointing out, "You cannot anticipate polio care expenses locally or nationally. In federated fund raising, a local committee would decide how much money to assign to polio. But a local committee cannot anticipate the number of polio cases or the amount of money that will be needed to care for these patients. A low polio incidence one year would mean a low allocation the next year, when polio might strike hard, as was the case in Louisiana this year." To show the unpredictability of polio, Smith stated, "The Ouachita parish chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent $15,177.50 on 30 polio cases during 1954, whereas 47 polio cases cost $32,-182.18 during 1955."

Smith announced that a March of Dimes campaign headquarters will be opened in Monroe in the near future, with representatives in other communities in the parish.

Smith, the father of two sons, resides with his wife, the former Alice Perry, at 2019 Valencia in Monroe.

LETTER REDDENS FACES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department announced in a newsletter to its diplomats around the world it is considering granting an extra allowance to compensate them for the rising cost of loving. Friday the department hurriedly corrected "loving" to "living."

Southerners To Face Troubles, Passman States

The odds are now stacked more heavily than ever before against southern and other members of Congress holding similar views in their efforts toward safeguarding the rights of the states and their people, Louisiana Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman believes, his office in Monroe told the Morning World late Saturday.

But with the January 3 opening of the first session of the 85th Congress now less than a month and a half away, he has renewed his pledge of fully supporting the rights of the states to handle their own internal affairs in all basic matters.

His office said that Congressman Passman has "unqualifiedly" recommitted himself to vigorously oppose in the U. S. House of Representatives proposals for federal aid to schools, because of the dangers of federal controls he said are inherent in such programs. He was declared also to continue "firmly opposed" to legislation of the so - called "civil rights" and "fair employment practices" types as has been the case during his 10 years of service in Congress.

He was represented by his office as declaring that federal school-aid programs definitely are not "pie in the sky" proposals. "Wherever the money goes, so goes the central government's encroachment upon the operation of our school systems," he has emphasized. The education of our children should never be taken away from the home and the community and the state, where it belongs, and turned over to the huge central government in Washington," he has reiterated.

Congressman Passman has asserted, his office here reported, that the south will have to maintain "close unity" in the fights which are "certain" to arise on these matters. He has said that support will also be necessary from Congressmen from other regions who also subscribe to the belief that no men or group of men can be entrusted with unlimited power, while rejecting the idea of federal encroachment upon the rights of the states and the people.

Meantime, Congressman Passman was said to have urged, quoting from the concluding paragraph of the Congressional Southern Manifesto," of which he was a signer last March 12: ". . . We appeal to the people not to be provoked by . . . agitators and troublemakers invading our states and to scrupulously refrain from disorder and lawless acts."

There's irony in the plan to rerun the film of a James Dean drama on the Robert Montgomery TV stanza. When Dean originally did the show, he was so difficult during rehearsals that one big power on the program was heard to remark: "We'll never hire that boy again. Elvis Presley Star Of 'Love Me Tender'

"Love Me Tender," a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production, co-starring Richard Egan and Debra Paget and introducing Elvis Presley, the singing sensation of the country today, in his first screen role will have its local premiere on Tuesday at the Paramount Theatre. In the picture, which has been eagerly awaited by the millions of Presley teenage fans throughout the country, the young guitar - strumming singer plays a dramatic role, although it calls for his singing four songs in the course of the story.

In "Love Me Tender," which deals with the escapades of four brothers during the last days of the Civil War, Egan plays the role of Lt. Vance Reno, the oldest brother and leader of a Confederate cavalry troop. Presley has the part of the kid brother, Clint, whose age forces him to remain at home on the farm. A highly dramatic conflict between the two brothers develops when Vance learns that Clint, upon getting a false report of his brother's death, had married his girl while he was away. Debra Paget has the role of Cathy, whose love is sought by the brothers. This tight, suspenseful story was written for the screen by Robert Buckner from an original by Maurice Geraghty.

Producer David Weisbart and Director Robert Webb combined the elements of this turbulent theme with action that befits a riproaring western film and the drama of a poignant love story to give it a high quotient of romantic appeal.

One of the highlights of this production is a picnic scene in which young Presley entertains by playing his guitar and singing songs. His numbers in this and other scenes in the picture include the title song, "Love Me Tender," "Poor Boy," "We're Gonna Move" and "Let Me." Each of the songs fits perfectly into the unfolding of the story line. Those who have seen advance showings of "Love Me Tender" have not only endorsed these four songs but also the natural acting ability displayed by Elvis Presley.

Robert Middleton, William Campbell and Neville Brand head the stellar supporting cast for "Love Me Tender," which includes Mildred Dunnock, Bruce Bennett, Ken Clark, James Drury and Barry Coe.

VOCAL MAGIC. Elvis Presley gives out with that rare "beat" that has made him a national singing sensation in Twentieth Century-Fox's romantic drama of post-Civil War days in Texas. Essentially a folk-song artist, Presley's renditions are "in the groove" for his role which marks his film debut in "Love Me Tender." Richard Egan and Debra Paget are the co-stars in the David Weisbart production in CinemaScope which opens Tuesday at the Paramount Theatre. The film was directed by Robert Webb.

Cooper, McGuire Star In 'Friendly Persuasion'

"Friendly Persuasion," William Wyler's motion picture that has been acclaimed by critics and preview audiences as a masterpiece to be ranked with the classics, opens Wednesday at the Jim theatre with Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main starred.

Seldom has a motion picture reached the screen with such favorable advance criticism and such universal predictions of artistic and boxoffice success. Even while "Friendly Persuasion" was still before the color cameras for Allied Artists, the word was out around Hollywood that it would be one of the great picture of the past few years.

Reactions at a series of special previews held in major cities throughout the country substantiated this advance report — as the preview cards overwhelmingly voted the film "Excellent" in all respects.

Wyler, two-time winner of the Academy Award and one of Hollywood's most distinguished filmmakers, has said that "Friendly Persuasion" is "my best picture in 10 years."

The picture, which is a masterful blend of high comedy, breathtaking action and intense drama, tells the story of a gay, happy Quaker family in 1862 that finds its happiness and security threatened with the Civil War.

Much interest in the picture centers around Anthony Perkins, the brilliant young New York stage actor, who makes his major screen debut as the older son of Cooper and Miss McGuire. Son of the late stage and screen star, Osgood Perkins, he became a star in his own right even before the picture was released, because, on the strength of his performance, Paramount signed him to a term contract and handed him the title role in "Fear Strikes Out."

To complete the large supporting cast, Wyler hand-selected some of the foremost actors of Hollywood, the Broadway stage and television.

Richard Eyer, 11 years of age and undoubtedly Hollywood's outstanding child actor, is cast as the young son of Cooper and Miss McGuire, Robert Middleton has one of his finest roles as Cooper's best friend and spirited rival in the weekly horse race to Sunday church meeting.

Also from the New York theatre are Phyllis Love and Mark Richman, who play the young lovers. Miss Love took a leave of absence from "Bus Stop" to appear in the Wyler production, filmed in De Luxe Color, and Richman started work just after completing a nationwide tour with Eva Marie Saint in "The Rainmaker."

Others in the featured cast include Walter Catlett, Richard Hale, Joel Fluellen, Theodore Newton, John Smith, Mary Carr and an exciting new personality, Samantha, the crankiest goose in America.

Another outstanding feature of "Friendly Persuasion" are the five melodies written for the picture by the noted composer - conductor Dimitri Tiomkin, music director on the film, and lyricist Paul Francis Webster. These numbers are "Friendly Persuasion," "Marry Me, Marry Me," "Mocking Bird in a Willow Tree," "Indiana Holiday" and "Coax Me a Little."

Cooper sings for the first time on the screen when he joins with Catlett and Middleton to warble "Mocking Bird in a Willow Tree," and in another sequence he sings "Marry Me, Marry Me" with the three Amazon-type daughters of Marjorie Main.

One of the highlights of the picture comes at the opening when Pat Boone, America's current singing rage and one of the top recording artists in the country, sings the title song.

"Friendly Persuasion" is based on the collected works of the same title by the noted novelist, Jessamyn West. Her book was a best-seller.

One of the most handsome features of the picture is the photography, which is credited to Ellsworth Fredricks. Robert Wyler served as associate producer.

BOOKS

Frances Longfellow

Mrs. Longfellow: Selected letters and journals of Fanny Appleton Longfellow (1817-1861). Edited by Edward Wagenknecht. Longmans, Green.

Daughter of a millionaire who was a founder of the city of Lowell, Mass., Frances Appleton was born on Boston's Beacon Street.

It was a small country then, and Appletons were important in it. When they went to Washington, they visited the White House —where Andrew Jackson was courteous, polite but not polished, and where sharp-eyed, 15-year-old Fanny spotted a broom left in the drawing room. When she went to Europe, she sat for her portrait to Isabey, in Paris, and a lovely romantic face it is. She saw Taglioni dance, heard Grisi in "Norma;" and in 1836 in Switzerland, when she was 19, she met the poet whose first wife had died a year before.

He was too frank about her, it seems, in his "Hyperion," but they were reconciled and married in 1843.

There is drama as she tells of deaths in the family, for instance, her mother's; of the murder of Parkman by Harvard's only murdering professor; of the oncoming Civil War. There are warmth and passion in her confessions of faith, and in the words of love she addresses to her husband. There are, too, slighter but fascinating details about domestic matters. Most moving of all, though, are those stark, awful pages by Harvard President Felton telling of the tragedy of her violent death.

She and Longfellow were sweet and noble characters, but as these pages prove, she had more force and color.

RICHARD EGAN DEBRA PAGET and introducing ELVIS PRESLEY in LOVE ME TENDER

REG. ADM.

Elvis Presley Star Of 'Love Me Tender'

"Love Me Tender," a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production, co-starring Richard Egan and Debra Paget and introducing Elvis Presley, the singing sensation of the country today, in his first screen role will have its local premiere on Tuesday at the Paramount Theatre. In the picture, which has been eagerly awaited by the millions of Presley teenage fans throughout the country, the young guitar - strumming singer plays a dramatic role, although it calls for his singing four songs in the course of the story.

In "Love Me Tender," which deals with the escapades of four brothers during the last days of the Civil War, Egan plays the role of Lt. Vance Reno, the oldest brother and leader of a Confederate cavalry troop. Presley has the part of the kid brother, Clint, whose age forces him to remain at home on the farm. A highly dramatic conflict between the two brothers develops when Vance learns that Clint, upon getting a false report of his brother's death, had married his girl while he was away. Debra Paget has the role of Cathy, whose love is sought by the brothers. This tight, suspenseful story was written for the screen by Robert Buckner from an original by Maurice Geraghty.

Producer David Weisbart and Director Robert Webb combined the elements of this turbulent theme with action that befits a rip-roaring western film and the drama of a poignant love story to give it a high quotient of romantic appeal.

One of the highlights of this production is a picnic scene in which young Presley entertains by playing his guitar and singing songs. His numbers in this and other scenes in the picture include the title song, "Love Me Tender," "Poor Boy," "We're Gonna Move" and "Let Me." Each of the songs fits perfectly into the unfolding of the story line. Those who have seen advance showings of "Love Me Tender" have not only endorsed these four songs but also the natural acting ability displayed by Elvis Presley.

Robert Middleton, William Campbell and Neville Brand head the stellar supporting cast for "Love Me Tender," which includes Mildred Dunnock, Bruce Bennett, Ken Clark, James Drury and Barry Coe.

VOCAL MAGIC. Elvis Presley gives out with that rare "beat" that has made him a national singing sensation in Twentieth Century-Fox's romantic drama of post-Civil War days in Texas. Essentially a folk-song artist, Presley's renditions are "in the groove" for his role which marks his film debut in "Love Me Tender." Richard Egan and Debra Paget are the co-stars in the David Weisbart production in CinemaScope which opens Tuesday at the Paramount Theatre. The film was directed by Robert Webb.

Cooper, McGuire Star In 'Friendly Persuasion'

"Friendly Persuasion," William Wyler's motion picture that has been acclaimed by critics and preview audiences as a masterpiece to be ranked with the classics, opens Wednesday at the Jim theatre with Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main starred.

Seldom has a motion picture reached the screen with such favorable advance criticism and such universal predictions of artistic and boxoffice success. Even while "Friendly Persuasion" was still before the color cameras for Allied Artists, the word was out around Hollywood that it would be one of the great picture of the past few years.

Reactions at a series of special previews held in major cities throughout the country substantiated this advance report — as the preview cards overwhelmingly voted the film "Excellent" in all respects.

Wyler, two-time winner of the Academy Award and one of Hollywood's most distinguished filmmakers, has said that "Friendly Persuasion" is "my best picture in 10 years."

The picture, which is a masterful blend of high comedy, breathtaking action and intense drama, tells the story of a gay, happy Quaker family in 1862 that finds its happiness and security threatened with the Civil War.

Much interest in the picture centers around Anthony Perkins, the brilliant young New York stage actor, who makes his major screen debut as the older son of Cooper and Miss McGuire. Son of the late stage and screen star, Osgood Perkins, he became a star in his own right even before the picture was released, because, on the strength of his performance, Paramount signed him to a term contract and handed him the title role in "Fear Strikes Out."

To complete the large supporting cast, Wyled hand-selected some of the foremost actors of Hollywood, the Broadway stage and television.

Richard Eyer, 11 years of age and undoubtedly Hollywood's outstanding child actor, is cast as the young son of Cooper and Miss McGuire, Robert Middleton has one of his finest roles as Cooper's best friend and spirited rival in the weekly horse race to Sunday church meeting.

Also from the New York theatre are Phyllis Love and Mark Richman, who play the young lovers. Miss Love took a leave of absence from "Bus Stop" to appear in the Wyler production, filmed in De Luxe Color, and Richman started work just after completing a nationwide tour with Eva Marie Saint in "The Rainmaker."

Others in the featured cast include Walter Catlett, Richard Hale, Joel Fluellen, Theodore Newton, John Smith, Mary Carr and an exciting new personality, Samantha, the crankiest goose in America.

Another outstanding feature of "Friendly Persuasion" are the five melodies written for the picture by the noted composer - conductor Dimitri Tiomkin, music director on the film, and lyricist Paul Francis Webster. These numbers are "Friendly Persuasion," "Marry Me, Marry Me," "Mocking Bird in a Willow Tree," "Indiana Holiday" and "Coax Me a Little."

Cooper sings for the first time on the screen when he joins with Catlett and Middleton to warble "Mocking Bird in a Willow Tree," and in another sequence he sings "Marry Me, Marry Me" with the three Amazon-type daughters of Marjorie Main.

One of the highlights of the picture comes at the opening when Pat Boone, America's current singing rage and one of the top recording artists in the country, sings the title song.

"Friendly Persuasion" is based on the collected works of the same title by the noted novelist, Jessamyn West. Her book was a best-seller.

One of the most handsome features of the picture is the photography, which is credited to Ellsworth Fredricks. Robert Wyler served as associate producer.

Frances Longfellow

Mrs. Longfellow: Selected letters and journals of Fanny Appleton Longfellow (1817-1861). Edited by Edward Wagenknecht. Longmans, Green.

Daughter of a millionaire who was a founder of the city of Lowell, Mass., Frances Appleton was born on Boston's Beacon Street.

It was a small country then, and Appletons were important in it. When they went to Washington, they visited the White House —where Andrew Jackson was courteous, polite but not polished, and where sharp-eyed, 15-year-old Fanny spotted a broom left in the drawing room. When she went to Europe, she sat for her portrait to Isabey, in Paris, and a lovely romantic face it is. She saw Taglioni dance, heard Grisi in "Norma;" and in 1836 in Switzerland, when she was 19, she met the poet whose first wife had died a year before.

He was too frank about her, it seems, in his "Hyperion," but they were reconciled and married in 1843.

There is drama as she tells of deaths in the family, for instance, her mother's; of the murder of Parkman by Harvard's only murdering professor; of the oncoming Civil War. There are warmth and passion in her confessions of faith, and in the words of love she addresses to her husband. There are, too, slighter but fascinating details about domestic matters. Most moving of all, though, are those stark, awful pages by Harvard President Felton telling of the tragedy of her violent death.

She and Longfellow were sweet and noble characters, but as these pages prove, she had more force and color.

Demand Heavy For Cookbooks On La. Shrimp

By KAY RAY

WASHINGTON, Nov 17 (Special) — The fish and wildlife service threw up its hands today and hoped that orders for shrimp cookbooks will stop coming — for a while at least.

A service spokesman said the department is gratified at the overwhelming demand for its collection of prized Louisiana recipes. However, there is a catch — the book hasn't been printed yet and probably won't be off the presses until January.

Preliminary showings of the film, "Shrimp Tips from New Orleans" — in which the cookbook is mentioned — to department of interior personnel started a flood of requests for the book. The Government Printing Office, which will print and sell the color cookbooks for a mere pittance, 15 cents each, hadn't heard of them at that time.

The film, along with another called, "Outboard Fisherman U. S. A.," will be available for general distribution at just about the same time that the cookbook is ready. The fish and wildlife service, astounded at the volume of the premature requests for the cookbook wants to take no chances on being really swamped with requests before they can be handled.

Both films were selected for showing at international film festivals at Edinburgh, Scotland, and Venice, Italy, during the past summer. "Outboard Fisherman U. S. A." won honors in both places.

A department film in circulation for some time is called, "Shrimp. Please." The film is said to detail "activities in another colorful fishery — the blessing of the shrimp, the taking of shrimp, its processing and finally some interesting table scenes."

More than 140 libraries are now distributing fish and wildlife service documentary films on commercial fishery subjects to more than a million viewers a year, according to Acting Director Arnie J. Suomela of the bureau of commercial fisheries. In addition, the films are shown annually to a vast television audience.

The films are produced by the service, in many cases under the sponsorship of and financed by the fishing industry. Peelers Inc., makers of machines for the grading and peeling of shrimp are the sponsors for "Shrimp Tips from New Orleans."

Former Red Held German Girl In Miss. With Kin

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Miss Johanna Conrad, 20-year-old German, was with two uncles here today after a flight to freedom.

Miss Conrad recently was freed from a Russian prison camp, where her father remains.

Fritz and Franz Schluetter, the aunt and uncle, met her at the airport yesterday after the 31-hour flight from Frankfurt, where she and her mother arrived a few weeks earlier from their home in East Germany.

The woman told reporters Russian police arrested her and her parents last February. She did not know the charge. She and her mother were released after a month in jail and they immediately planned to flee.

Her relatives plan to send her later to visit an aunt, Mrs. Hedwig Schluetter, in Detroit.

Nice for tea: cooked shrimp put through a food chopper or minced on a board with a knife, then mixed with mayonnaise and curry powder and used as a sandwich filling.

Demand Heavy For Cookbooks On La. Shrimp

By KAY RAY

WASHINGTON, Nov 17 (Special) — The fish and wildlife service threw up its hands today and hoped that orders for shrimp cookbooks will stop coming — for a while at least.

A service spokesman said the department is gratified at the overwhelming demand for its collection of prized Louisiana recipes. However, there is a catch — the book hasn't been printed yet and probably won't be off the presses until January.

Preliminary showings of the film, "Shrimp Tips from New Orleans" — in which the cookbook is mentioned — to department of interior personnel started a flood of requests for the book. The Government Printing Office, which will print and sell the color cookbooks for a mere pittance, 15 cents each, hadn't heard of them at that time.

The film, along with another called "Outboard Fisherman U. S. A.," will be available for general distribution at just about the same time that the cookbook is ready. The fish and wildlife service, astounded at the volume of the premature requests for the cookbook wants to take no chances on being really swamped with requests before they can be handled.

Both films were selected for showing at international film festivals at Edinburgh, Scotland, and Venice, Italy, during the past summer. "Outboard Fisherman U. S. A." won honors in both places.

A department film in circulation for some time is called, "Shrimp Please." The film is said to detail "activities in another colorful fishery — the blessing of the shrimp, the taking of shrimp, its processing and finally some interesting table scenes."

More than 140 libraries are now distributing fish and wildlife service documentary films on commercial fishery subjects to more than a million viewers a year, according to Acting Director Arnie J. Suomela of the bureau of commercial fisheries. In addition, the films are shown annually to a vast television audience.

The films are produced by the service, in many cases under the sponsorship of and financed by the fishing industry. Peeler Inc., makers of machines for the grading and peeling of shrimp are the sponsors for "Shrimp Tips from New Orleans."

Former Red Held German Girl In Miss. With Kin

JACKSON, Miss. (AP — Miss Johanna Conrad, 29-year-old German, was with two uncles here today after a flight to freedom.

Miss Conrad recently was freed from a Russian prison camp, where her father remains.

Fritz and Franz Schluetter, the aunt and uncle, met her at the airport yesterday after the 31-hour flight from Frankfurt, where she and her mother arrived a few weeks earlier from their home in East Germany.

The woman told reporters Russian police arrested her and her parents last February. She did not know the charge. She and her mother were released after a month in jail and they immediately planned to flee.

Her relatives plan to send her later to visit an aunt, Mrs. Hedwig Schluetter, in Detroit.

Nice for tea: cooked shrimp put through a food chopper or minced on a board with a knife, then mixed with mayonnaise and curry powder and used as a sandwich filling.
